U. S. SPURNS AUSTRIAN PARLEY

AUSTRIAN REPLY TO U. S. NOTE DOES NOT SATISFY; BREAK WITH VIENNA NEAR

Proposal to "Exchange Opinions" Does Not Meet With Favor in Washington, But Official Comment and Action Awaits Arrival of Official Text—Will Decline to Enter Into Discussion of Facts in Case of Torpedoed Liner.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Austria's reply to Secretary Lansing's note on the Ancona is regarded, on the basis of the unofficial reports received today from London and Amsterdam, as wholly unsatisfactory, unacceptable and disappointing to the United States.

Diplomatic relations between the two countries may safely be described as standing at the breaking point.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing are reserving comment until they have the official translation and text at hand, but it is stated authoritatively that the United States will enter into no exchange of opinions as the Vienna foreign office is represented as suggesting and absolutely will decline to discuss the facts of the torpedoing and shelling of the Ancona by an Austrian submarine.

No Official Word.

No official word had reached the state department today that the Austrian reply had been delivered to American Ambassador Penfield, but the news dispatches containing excerpts were taken in official quarters as sufficient evidence that the rejoinder is on its way to Washington. From such part of the unofficial text as is contained in the news dispatches officials considered the reply vague in many respects, but they were not prepared to decide whether that was caused by the translation.

Will Be Refused.

The suggestion for an exchange of opinions, the virtual request for a bill of particulars of the American complaint against the action of the submarine commander and the proposal for a discussion of the facts were clearly set forth, however, in the unofficial text and officials of the state department, who have knowledge of its policy in the crisis, unhesitatingly declared that all would be refused.

It was made clear that the United States does not propose to enter into a diplomatic discussion, which would have possibilities of being prolonged almost indefinitely.

Outline is Disappointing.

The outline of the reply was disappointing because some American officials had been led to believe by predictions from Germanic quarters that it would be favorable, or at least would propose something which the United States could accept. As Secretary Lansing based the representations in his note upon the official statement of the Austrian admiralty itself, American officials are at a loss to understand where there is much room for discussion or dispute of facts.

News from Vienna recently that the submarine which sunk the Ancona was missing led some officials to believe that a new element had been introduced

SCHOOLS STAGE RED CROSS SEAL RACE
Total is Exactly 50,000
Ahead of This Date
Last Year.

A right strenuous little battle for first place is on among the public schools in the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals, the Clay school jumping into the lead Thursday with a total of 3,500. The Jefferson and several other schools are tripping along not far behind.

Seal sales up to Thursday amounted to a total of 246,342. This is exactly 50,000 more seals than had been sold up till this time last year. The total now is less than 25,000 less than last year's, and the grand total is going to run away ahead, if present indications may be counted upon.

WORK WILL START ON NEW TEMPLE MARCH 1.
Jewish Congregation Has Until That Date to Quit Present Home.

The congregation of the Achduth Veshalom temple at Wayne and Harrison streets, whose property was recently sold to Wolf & Dessauer, will not vacate until March 1, 1916. In the meantime temporary quarters are being sought which will be occupied until such time as the congregation's magnificent new temple to be erected at Wayne street and Fairfield avenue is completed.

A meeting of the congregation was held a few days ago to discuss the question of temporary quarters and also take up matters pertaining to the new structure to be erected. Work on the new temple, which will have a frontage of seventy-five feet and cost approximately $80,000, will begin March 1.

While no announcement has been made by Wolf & Dessauer, it is generally understood that the property at Wayne and Harrison streets was purchased with the view of erecting a modern business block within the near future.

PLAN TO DECORATE HAS BEEN ABANDONED

Because of the time being too limited the plan to decorate Calhoun street for the holidays from the Nickel Plate road tracks to the Pennsylvania sub-way has been abandoned. However, several of the more enthusiastic merchants on the scheme have signified their intentions of decorating, anyway.

The scheme was originated by Fred D. C. Wahrenburg, who was assisted by P. C. Liggett and Will Erisig in promoting it. The plan was to decorate both sides of the street with evergreen, which was to have been swung from the ornamental lights, producing a most beautiful effect. To call on each individual merchant and then put up the decorations the time was too short and rather than make a shew of it the plan was abandoned.

RAIL BANDITS ROB MAIL CAR

Hold Up Train in Arkansas But Do Not Molest Passengers.

WRECK EXPRESS CAR IN CRACKING SAFE
Force Mail Clerks to Open Door by Threat to Kill Engineer.

Mena, Ark., Dec. 16.—South-bound passenger train on the Kansas City Southern railroad was held up between Eagleton and Acorn, small stations near here early today by three robbers. They blew open the safe in the express car. The loot according to railroad officials consisted of four registered packages of small value. The passengers were not molested.

The scene of the hold-up is in the rugged mountain country of Arkansas. As the train approached a sharp turn in the road Engineer C. E. Covert saw a man standing on the track swinging a lantern.

As Covert brought his train to a stop the robbers covered him with revolvers and ordered him to uncouple the express and mail cars. Covert was then forced to run the detached part of his train two miles to a secluded part of the country.

The express car was wrecked by a heavy charge of explosive which the robbers applied to the safe. The bandits did not stop to pick up anything, but turned quickly to the mail car. At the first sign of trouble the mail clerks had locked the doors.

"Open up or we will kill your engineer," shouted one of the robbers as he pounded on the door but there was no reply. Then one of the bandits placed a revolver to Covert's head.

"Tell 'em to open up or you're a goner," the robber said. The clerks opened the door and the bandits sprang into the mail car and selected four packages from the registered pouch. Four rifles, carried for the protection of the clerks were picked up by the robbers as they fled.

JOHNSON IS HOPEFUL OF BASEBALL PEACE
Says Plan Differs Much from Those Discussed in Public.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—President Johnson, of the American league, who left today with the committee of the American league for the New York meeting which may bring peace to the warring baseball clubs, had a hopeful view of the situation as he boarded the train.

"The peace plan under consideration is practical," he said, "and it differs considerably from plans which have been discussed in public. I cannot discuss the specific terms."

Among reports which floated around headquarters before the departure of the peace messengers was an assertion that two of the American league teams would change hands as part of the peace plan. It was almost authoritatively announced that Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federals, would become the owner of the Chicago Nationals and that he would have as partner a man new to baseball and that the club would move to North Side ball park, the home of the Federal league.

The license plate is much handsomer than those of the past year. It has black lettering on a background of gray, which

NO NEW ATTACHES BEFORE WAR ENDS

Washington, Dec. 16.—In the light of reliable information received here today it is regarded as doubtful whether the successors of Captains Boy-Ed and von Pappen, withdrawn German naval and military attaches, will be appointed by Emperor William until the end of the war.

Count von Bernstorff, the American ambassador, is understood to believe that should successors be appointed they would immediately be subjected to the subject's criticism, perhaps, of the general situation. At any event successors would not be named until the withdrawn attaches reached Germany.

TURKS CLAIM GAIN AGAINST BRITISH
Entente Allies Now Have 200,000 Troops Massed at Saloniki.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Reports have reached Rome that extensive preparations have been made for a Turco-German campaign against the Suez canal and Egypt. Only 50 miles of the railway from Damascus to Sinal peninsula are to be rebuilt and all measures have been made to insure water. It is said that 300,000 Turkish troops already have been concentrated for the operations.

Turkish gains against the British at Gut-el-Amara on the Tigris are reported by the Constantinople government. It is claimed that Turkish artillery fire sank a British monitor on the river.

According to London advices from Saloniki the Anglo-French forces there now total 200,000 men.

It is reported in Paris that the stock of gold held by the bank of France has reached the record figure of $1,000,000,000.

According to a dispatch from Berlin the Bulgarian official report of Dec. 15 states that the Bulgarian troops "temporarily" stopped at the Greek border their pursuit of the allied forces.

The Austrians apparently are not slackening in their pursuit of those parts of the Serbian army that retired to Montenegro and of the Montenegrin forces co-operating with them. Berlin reports that Austro-Hungarian troops have penetrated as far as the vicinity of Bijelopolje, on the Lim river, about 20 miles west of the Serbian border and some forty miles northwest of Ipek.

Reports from Athens state that a Serbian division consisting 18,000 Austrian prisoners has arrived at Tirana and Elbasan in Albania.

Germans are to be appointed to two places in the Turkish administration according to a news agency dispatch from Athens, the places named being under secretariats of state in the finance and police departments.

Sofia, Dec. 16.—A neutral zone extending two kilometers on each side of the frontier has been agreed upon between Greece and Bulgaria, according to an official announcement made here today. The official announcement says: "Bulgarian armies, by the capture of Monastir and Resna, having approached the Greek frontiers, the Bulgarian government wishing to avoid any possibility of accidents between advanced posts and Greek frontier guards, proposed to the Greek government that a neutral zone be formed by the retreat of the troops on each side two kilometers from the frontier."

"Greece replied, accepting, and the war minister ordered the Greek authorities to co-operate with Bulgarian soldiers for the formation of the neutral zone."

THINK GERMANS WILL HALT.

Paris, Dec. 16.—The Havas correspondent at Athens quotes the Journal of Embros as saying that the British military authorities regard it as likely that military operations will be suspended for some time at the Greek frontier, the Germans not having sufficient forces to pursue the entente allied troops. The German and Bulgarian forces which were at Monastir, the newspaper adds, have left in the direction of Givgeli.

James Daffon and Cam Harrison Forgot to Get Their Licenses.

On complaint of Jacob Havel, of Rome City, deputy game warden, filed in the court of Justice of the Peace Henry J. Grabner, James Daffon and Cam Harrison were arrested Thursday by Constable Hughes charged with hunting without licenses. The two men were caught hunting by the deputy game warden Wednesday west of Lake Everett and when he approached them Daffon ran at full speed and succeeded in making his escape. He was apprehended Thursday, however, and with Harrison, who surrendered voluntarily, will be given a hearing in Justice Grabner's court.

WILLING WORKERS WANT CHRISTMAS TREE

The Willing Workers' Aid society, a non-sectarian and non-salaried charitable organization maintaining headquarters at 2006 Fairfield avenue, will give a Christmas treat to needy poor children on Christmas afternoon. The Willing Workers therefore appeal to one of their numerous friends for the donation of a tree not to exceed nine feet in height. Contributions of candy, fruit, etc., also will be appreciated.

OLDS RETIRES FROM CONTEST

Ft. Wayne Man Quits Race for Republican Senatorial Nomination.

URGES FRIENDS TO SUPPORT NEW

Under New Primary Law, He Says, Too Much Time is Required.

Urging his friends to support Colonel Harry S. New, of Indianapolis, Judge Walter Olds on Thursday announced his withdrawal from the race for the republican senatorial nomination.

For some time Judge Olds has had under serious consideration the action announced Thursday inasmuch as under the new primary law much time and money would be required and he did not feel that he would be justified in abandoning his legal practice, as he would have had to do.

His Formal Announcement.

Judge Olds' announcement of his retirement from the race directed to the republicans of Indiana is as follows: "Some months ago I determined to become a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator. At the time, I thought I had a fairly wide acquaintance over Indiana, and since that time I have given my candidacy such publicity by correspondence and otherwise as I deemed consistent and proper as a candidate for the office, and have been assured of a large support from all parts of the state. There have been numerous republican meetings held over the state, which candidates were expected to attend, and requests for my presence at various points in the state which I found it impossible to accept without absolutely abandoning my business and neglecting the interests of my clients. I had expected to give my time for two or three months previous to the primary elections to visiting the different portions of the state and meeting the republicans, but it seems that because of the democratic primary law for the nomination of United States senator and other officers there is a demand upon each candidate to advertise, finance and perfect an organization as complete."

Attorney for Poor Will Defend Check Artist in Trial, Dec. 29.

In the circuit court, Thursday, Emrick & Emrick gave notice of the withdrawal of their appearance for Charles L. Warren, the check artist, poppy Midas and lady killer, and Herbert L. Somers, of Somers & Kennerk, Allen county attorneys for the poor, was appointed to defend him and thereupon entered his appearance for the prisoner. By agreement of Prosecutor H. H. Higemann and Attorney Somers the trial was postponed until December 29, when it will be heard by a jury. The trial had been set for Friday, the 17th inst. It is not believed that there will be a change of venue from the county, though there have been rumors that Warren did not want to trust his fate to an Allen county court and jury. George Redmond was arraigned in the circuit court, Thursday, on a charge of forgery, pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Judge Eggeman to a term of from two to fourteen years in the Indiana state prison and fined $10 and costs. Redmond had nothing to say except that his crime was due to drink, to which he admits he is periodically addicted. Redmond was arrested Tuesday night at the Wabash station by Patrolman Frank Chevion just as Redmond was about to board a train for St. Louis after having passed on the ticket agent a forged check for $25 and receiving change in cash. The check was issued on the Hamilton National bank, was signed with the name of "Fr. R. E. Kelly," and payable to George Redmond. Two other forged checks precisely similar have turned up since Redmond's arrest. He has been a convict in the Minnesota state prison for forgery. He gives his occupation as a chef and his age as 37 years.

Receiver for Food Company. The last of several suits recently filed against the Cream of Wheat company, a food manufacturing concern of this city, with $500,000 capital and a plant at New Haven, six miles east, was filed late Wednesday afternoon by Alatha G. Flinders, and in it he petitioned for a receiver. Henry Branning, Jr., chief deputy in Sheriff A. C. Gladieux's office, was appointed receiver and has qualified and taken charge of the company's affairs. Flinders' complaint says he is the owner of ten shares of stock in the corporation and he wants an accounting so that the corporation's assets may be determined. He sets forth that the company was at first capitalized for $10,000 and then increased to $500,000. Of the stock $25,000 was sold, $20,000 of which was paid in and there remains $5,000 outstanding. He alleges that on top of a mortgage of $4,500 held against the company there are debts of $3,000. The mortgage covers real estate and machinery valued at $3,000. There remain in Allen county but two of the original directors, the others having moved away or resigned. The company never has begun operations. Its new brick factory building in New Haven was badly damaged a few months ago by a severe windstorm. Its stock has been sold mainly to farmers of Adams township. Suits against the company for over $100,000 are already pending and others are threatened. William C. Ryan is attorney for Flinders. Judge Yaple, in the superior court Thursday, authorized Receiver Branning to incur indebtedness not to exceed $100 for the purpose of procuring insurance and buying coal.

Notes of the Courts. Ernest W. Cook has begun suit in the superior court against Spiro Christ, Atanas Christ and Thomas Christ for specific performance of contract and the recovery of $2,050. The suit is based on a contract for the purchase of real estate.

AGREE UPON A NEUTRAL ZONE

attention of the Athens and Saloniki correspondents of the British press. There are 200,000 entente troops at Saloniki, according to the Daily Mail, whose Saloniki correspondent says that the retreat of the entente allies was so brilliantly carried out that the large forces of Bulgarians were unable to overtake and defeat them. In fact, the Bulgarians were so deceived by the rapidity of the movements of the entente troop that they lost much time in bombarding certain positions near Strumitza, which the French forces had abandoned the preceding day. According to the correspondents of the Times and the Morning Post, the entente forces will halt on the line from Karassul, on the Vardar river, to Kilindir, (Greece), which they will try to hold until the Saloniki positions are fortified. This line already is fortified and there is a strong force made up mostly of cavalry to the north and northeast of Kilindir, on the Dorian railway. The correspondent of the Morning Post adds the interesting statement, on the authority of the Bulgarian minister at Athens, as quoted in a published interview, that Gievgeli and Dorian, southern Serbia, both of which are in the hands of the Teutonic allies, will be surrendered to Greece. He says nothing about Monastir, however.

In London the retirement of Field Marshal Sir John French from command of the British forces in France temporarily overshadows other war news. The new commander-in-chief, Sir Douglas Haig, who is almost the youngest general in the British army, enters upon his duties with a high reputation. He has seen more hard fighting than any other general in the British army.

PANICKY AT SALONIKI.

Berlin, Dec. 16.—"Panic conditions prevail in Saloniki," says an announcement issued today by the Overseas News agency. DISCOVERED!—T. R.'S NAME FOR WILSON

"Byzantine logothete," as Col. Roosevelt used it in reference to President Wilson, is a term of profound contempt, explained Prof. Basil Gildersleeve, retired professor of Greek at Johns Hopkins university and the foremost classical student in America.

"It is derived," he says, "from a Greek word, logothetes, meaning a scrivener, who draws up papers. It is the name of a subordinate who does the work of a secretary and holds purely a minor position."

"I think Roosevelt raked up this scathing term from some history he had probably read recently. It is by no means a commonly known word."

Mr. and Mrs. Hanna, of Auburn, are visiting their son, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Hanna.

The members of the Lutheran church will have a Christmas tree and entertainment at the church on Christmas eve.

Rev. Beatty conducted services Sunday morning at the Methodist Episcopal church and Rev. Stokes, of Fort Wayne, the evening services. Rev. Powell, the new minister, will preach next Sunday morning.

STRONG AND WELL AS EVER.

Fred Smith, 325 Main St., Green Bay, Wis., says: "I suffered a long time with a very weak back. Foley Kidney Pills completely relieved me of all soreness and pain and I now am strong and well as ever." Winter aggravates symptoms of kidney trouble; cold weather makes aching joints, sore muscles and irregular bladder action more unbearable. Foley Kidney Pills help the kidneys eliminate pain-causing poisons.—Dreier Drug Co.

ANTI-LIQUOR FORCES ACTIVE.

Civic League at Goshen Offers $50 Reward for Each Conviction.

Goshen, Ind., Dec. 16.—The Civic League of Goshen, composed of representatives from the various Bible classes of the ten churches in the city, has posted a reward of $50 for each conviction for a violation of the liquor laws here. League members declare that some Goshen druggists and others are flagrantly violating the statutes.

Cyril L. E. Wilson, a druggist, recently was found guilty of selling whisky in quart lots without requiring the buyer to sign the required application. Darr Robinson, clerk at the Wilson store, also is a defendant in two cases of alleged illegal sales. Everett Ball, who pleaded guilty to "bootlegging" is serving a sentence in the county jail.

Goshen has been without licensed saloons since July 31 as a result of "dry" winning a local option election.

How To Make the Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Kind Made Kind and You Save $2. Fully Guaranteed.

This home-made cough syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Its promptness, ease and certainty in conquering distressing coughs, chest and throat colds, is really remarkable. You can actually feel it take hold. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough—relieves even whooping cough quickly. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you—at a cost of only 50 cents—a full pint of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.50. Takes but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils.

WILL NOW COLONIZE "FORBIDDEN" COAST

Agreement With San Blas Indians Begins to Yield Fruit.

Panama, Dec. 15.—A start in the colonization of the San Blas, or "forbidden" coast of Panama has been made in conformity with recent agreements made between the San Blas Indians and the government of the republic. President Porras had granted a concession to James M. Hyatt, an American, of Colon, to establish a large farming colony on the shores of Mandinga Bay, about 50 miles east of Colon.

The contract grants Mr. Hyatt 30 hectares of land on which the new town is to be built. Immediately adjacent to the town site there are 5,000 hectares, or 12,500 acres, of good agricultural lands that will be sold to the colonists at very reasonable rates. This is to be sold in ten and twenty hectare tracts at prices fixed by the government. The town lots are to be sold under the same conditions.

The land is located on the western edge of the "forbidden coast" and lies along the shores of Mandinga Bay where the San Blas Indians are the most friendly to foreigners. The farm lands are in the valley of Navandi river and are said to be very rich and fertile.

This will be the first serious effort to open this coast to settlement by foreigners. It has been closed since the early Spanish conquest, the San Blas Indians having consistently resented the intrusion of all foreigners.

Fishermen on the Isthmus have completed the organization of the Canal Zone Tarpon club. It will have a clubhouse of its own not far removed from the spillway at Gatun, which is the site of the club members' sport.

Shortly after the spillway was completed it was found that many large tarpon come up the Chagres river from the sea to feed on the fresh water fish that come over the spillway from Lake Gatun. Since then this has provided excellent sport for the canal fishermen. One fish weighing more than 75 pounds has been taken with rod and line.

FROM PEAKS OF ANDES COME INGREDIENTS OF NEW MEDICINE TANLAC

As Men Labor in the Far Northland for Pure Products, So Do They Toil in the Mountains of South America

The accompanying illustration shows the transporting of ingredients that go into the compounding of Tanlac, the remarkable new medicine that reaches the seat of stomach, liver and kidney ailments and even catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes, which, if unchecked, often affect the vital organs themselves.

As men labor in the far northland, so do they toil on the heights of the Andes mountains of South America to obtain the roots, herbs, barks and flowers that are compounded in the Tanlac laboratories by Herr Joseph Trembach, the noted chemist, into the Premier Preparation of absolute purity.

Tanlac is made up wholly of vegetable ingredients, and therefore is free from any mineral taint. Down to the port of Buenos Aires, in the far south, and to Panama at the Isthmus, natives bring the Tanlac ingredients for shipment to the United States.

Caribs, the black-skinned sailormen of the Caribbean sea, whose guttural dialect has no alphabet paddle their canoes loaded with herbs gathered in the hills of Spanish Honduras, alongside the big freighters, and other black men with mule caravans, come down the long mountain trails with barks and flowers found high among the clouds.

Other men are laboring in other countries and under different conditions to bring to America the products of the Alps, Appennines, Pyrenees, Russian Asia, Jamaica, Persia, India, and other far away lands, the ingredients that go to make up the Master Medicine that is being taken by more than one million Americans, many of whom live in Fort Wayne.

DRAYMAN FINDS NEW ENERGY IN TANLAC

Clifford Clark, a well known drayman and freight hauler of this city, who lives on rural route No. 7, is one of the many Fort Wayne people who have endorsed Tanlac, the Master Medicine. Mr. Clark said:

"I have suffered with catarrh of the head and with stomach trouble for a long time. I had dull pains in the back of my head; my throat was sore, and I coughed severely. My head felt stuffy and I wheezed almost continually. I suffered from bloating, after eating, which, I was told, was caused from intestinal trouble."

"I have just finished my first bottle of Tanlac and feel like a different man. After the first few doses I began improving and now my head has cleared, the dull headaches have disappeared, and the bloating sensation has been relieved. The cough, also, is much better and I do not wheeze so much now."

"I have more life and energy than I have had for a long time, and I believe I got more actual good out of a bottle of Tanlac than I have from any medicine I have taken in ten years."

DECLARES HE FEELS BETTER EVERY WAY

J. B. Davis, well known employee of the Wildwood Lumber Co., who lives at 208 West Wayne street, this city, recently said regarding Tanlac, the Master Medicine:

"After suffering from catarrh of the head and nose and from stomach and bowel trouble for many years, Tanlac has given me relief at last. For a long time my nose was so dry that it pained me to breathe and I had to breathe through my mouth almost continually. There was a constant full feeling in my head and I frequently had headaches. I also suffered from nervousness and sleeplessness and had fever nearly every evening. My appetite was poor and after eating I often had pains in my stomach."

"Since taking Tanlac I feel better in every respect. The dryness in my nose has disappeared and my head is clear. I can breathe through my nostrils without pain, the headaches are a thing of the past and the stomach trouble has been relieved. I have a renewed appetite now, sleep, after eating, I am not troubled with pains in my stomach. In fact, Tanlac has strengthened me."

BAILEY TELLS TANLAC MERITS

Master Medicine is Successful Because It Brings Results.

BEST PEOPLE NOW USE PREPARATION

Predicts Demand Will Be Even Larger in Near Future.

"If I have been successful with Tanlac," says C. H. Bailey, "it is because the preparation contains real merit."

"Tanlac is the result of many years of arduous study by one of the foremost chemists in America, who watched its development from the beginning of the experimental stage to its present high state of efficiency."

"In cases of catarrhal affections of the mucous membrane, stomach, liver and kidney complaints, I believe there is nothing so far discovered that will equal the action of Tanlac."

"Every day, some one suggests something that may tend to better our conditions, whether it may appertain to our health, our business or our sociological state. It has, therefore, been my pleasure this time to offer to the world Tanlac."

"When I came to Fort Wayne I stated that the success of Tanlac would be as great in this city as it has been elsewhere. I offered Tanlac on its merits, knowing full well that it would prove satisfactory if properly tested."

"The success the preparation has achieved in Fort Wayne and vicinity is ample evidence that my confidence in Tanlac is well placed."

"A large percentage of your best people are now using the preparation, and they are daily testifying to its excellent worth as a medicine of exceptional value in instances of catarrh stomach, liver and kidney derangements, nervous debility and in cases where a superior tonic is required."

"It is true that the demand for Tanlac has been large, but no larger than I expected. Fort Wayne is only awakening to an appreciation of the full value of such a preparation. Tanlac's success in your city will be ever greater."

ENGINEER OF FIRE DEPARTMENT AIDED

E. B. Lepper, well known engineer of the Fort Wayne fire department, who is stationed at No. 4 engine house, and who lives at 1212 Maumee avenue, recently said regarding Tanlac:

"I am 57 years old and have been troubled for fifteen years with acid on my stomach. It seemed impossible, at times, for me to keep food on my stomach, and my sleep also was affected. Many nights I was unable to sleep. At times I thought I had found a relief but soon the trouble would reappear."

"Three days after I started taking Tanlac the acid formations disappeared from my stomach. I began improving the very first day and was surprised at the quick results. Tanlac not only has relieved me of the stomach trouble, but I sleep much better now."

"I cheerfully recommend Tanlac to anyone suffering from stomach trouble as I was, because I have tried the medicine and know its worth."

SAYS WIFE EXPECTS TO CONTINUE USE

P. F. Hulvey, a prominent farmer who lives on rural route No. 2, Sheldon, Ind., twelve miles from Fort Wayne, recently said regarding Tanlac, the Master Medicine:

"My wife has been sick for five years with rheumatism and her system has been in a run down condition. She had severe pains in her limbs and body and she lacked energy. She was very nervous and slept poorly. Night after night she laid awake expecting to be attacked by the severe rheumatic pains."

"We heard of Tanlac through the papers and thought the medicine that was helping so many other persons should help Mrs. Hulvey. She has taken less than one bottle now, but already she feels like a woman made over again. The rheumatic pains are nearly all gone, the nervousness is greatly relieved, and she sleeps soundly through the night now. Her appetite has also been improved and she is stronger and brighter in every way. She expects to continue the use of Tanlac, and I'm here for assistance."

PORTUGAL'S DETHRONED KING AND QUEEN LIVING IN ENGLAND.

"King" Don Manuel, whose adoration of Gaby Deslys cost him his Portuguese crown, is seldom seen about London since the war began. "Queen" Augusta Victoria, too, is living a mysterious life, hidden away in her garden on the Thames. Being a Hohenzollern, her position in England is embarrassing to say the least. She is known as "Queen Peter Pan," the queen who cannot grow up. She is very delicate and given to almost constant weeping.

tailor-mades. She seldom wears white, for it draws attention to a complexion that is slightly sallow.

Among her tulle costume that have not been seen is an exquisite negligee made by a famous New York gown builder. It is of chiffon in orchid tints; the underslip is of deep orchid color embroidered in silver (Mrs. Galt is very fond of silver embroidery; I have seen her in at least three gowns embroidered in silver thread). A long loose coat of lighter orchid edged with silver fringe falls over the deeper tinted slip which is cut low and sleeveless. The one individual touch, and you may be sure that on all Mrs. Galt's gowns you will get at least one, is a belt made of crushed chiffon velvet of robin's egg blue.

"Dr. Wilson," at his Request
"What will the 'in-laws' call the president?" asked a curious woman the other day. "I know they will not want to call him 'President Wilson,' for that will sound too formal, and I can't possibly think of even Mrs. Galt calling him 'Woody' to his face."

I was glad to tell her just what the family would call the president, for one of the "in-laws," who, by the way, is a very pretty woman, said at a dinner given at the white house the other night:
"Mr. President, what shall we call you when you are in the bosom of our family?"
The president smiled and said:
"Well, they called me Dr. Wilson at Princeton, and it is a title which rather pleases me."

Mrs. Roosevelt always called T. R. "The Colonel." Mrs. McKinley spoke of her husband to her friends as "The Major," and Mrs. Taft, while her husband was in the white house, always said "Judge Taft" in speaking of her husband, and in the future you can hear Mrs. Galt say "Dr. Wilson."

NEW LIQUOR RULE TAKEN FAVORABLY

Little Uproar in London Over Placing of Ban on Drink.

London, Dec. 6.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—It was not expected that the stringent law affecting the sale of alcoholic drinks would cause any excitement or disorder in the better sections of London, but in view of the previous protest meetings at the Smithfield market, and along the docks, the quietness with which the first day of the enforcement passed in Billingsgate and other rough quarters of the east end proved rather a surprise. Labor leaders had certainly taken a defiant attitude toward the board of control, but nothing occurred out of the normal.

Taking the whole of London, the reception of the rules has been favorable. When the public houses began the sale of alcoholic drinks at the noon hour the first day under the new regime, there was not observed any increase in drinking until the period closed at 2:30. Nor was there any attempt to crowd in an unusual number of drinks during the two hours the bars were open in the evening. The sale of temperance drinks during the prohibited hours was slight. In a few quarters, where men are employed on all-night work, certain houses have been allowed to open for a limited time in the early morning.

Among the curious results of regulation, the person to fails to lay in his private stock of whisky or other spirits before 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, will have to spend a dry week-end, as he must wait until Monday noon. Even in the private rooms of a hotel, one who treats a member of his own family to a drink is liable to a heavy fine. The hours during which alcohol may be consumed in clubs is the same as in the case of public bars. Restaurants are not allowed to extend credit for meals at which intoxicating drinks are sold, as the credit system is done away with entirely. The extreme penalty for a breach of these regulations is six months at hard labor and a $500 fine.

One of the most effective measures to promote temperance is the abolishment of credit at the bars. This struck severely the business of bars giving credit to workmen. In the old days, men used to gather in the bar and drink on credit, with the result they had little or nothing left out of their wages when paid. It is not the intention of the control board to bring about prohibition, but to promote temperance. This work is supplemented by the Home Counties Public House Trust, which lately took over the control of a well known saloon in a central district and plans to extend its influence. The place was remodelled so as to get away from the old idea of the drinking palace and to introduce the cafe system with tables, reading matter and friendly games. Alcoholic drinks are sold, but the management receives a bonus on all temperance drinks. Saloon men, in fact, are just now beginning to realize that the profits on temperance drinks exceed those on liquors. There is twice as much profit in a cup of tea that there is in a glass of ale. But heretofore the owners associated the sale of soft drinks with teetotalism and opposed their introduction.

Not at All Excited Over Marriage to President Next Saturday.

By Idah McGlone Gibson
Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—All Washington is again agog with gossip over the president's wedding next Saturday, and yet no one knows very much about it; in fact Mrs. Galt is quite as much a stranger to Washington people as is the wife of the new congressman.
The other night at the theater, the opera glasses were trained on her most of the evening, and her seeming unconsciousness showed that she had poise and a sense of humor.
She chatted with the president as if she were alone in her own drawing room, and yet any woman in her position must have known that she was the observed of all observers.
A newspaper woman who thinks she is on more than just the usual reportorial terms with Joe Tumulty, the president's secretary, went to him with her usual confidence in getting what she wanted, the other day, and said:
"I am after a picture of Mrs. Galt in her wedding dress."
Tumulty looked at her, and then his Irish mouth widened in a smile.
"I understand there ain't going to be no wedding dress pictures," he vouchsafed, "at least until after the wedding."
"I'll tell you, I certainly have to take off my hat to that lady; she is running her wedding to suit herself, and in her own way. The mere fact that she is marrying the president of the United States does not make it any less her own personal affair."
"I have not spoken to Mrs. Galt since the day her engagement was announced; that's just how much she thinks she is an express agent."
"Something odd, borrowed and blue?"
At her wedding Mrs. Galt will wear a thing of gold, velvet, set with turquoise. It is a rather gorgeous old affair that she has inherited from her mother, and something that she has worn on her wedding.

The white house bride will carry out the old superstition that insists "to be happy ever after" a bride must wear something old and something new, something borrowed and something blue.

I don't believe, however, that Mrs. Galt has many superstitions. She certainly has broken that one which says a bride should never wear any of her trousseau gowns until after the wedding. She has been wearing her new frocks as fast as they came from the dressmaker—and make no mistake, gentle woman, the coming first lady of the land is going to set the fashion for America's well dressed women. For this first time in the memory of woman, the wife of the president of the United States will be a woman who knows how to wear her clothes.

Her favorite colors are black, gray, mauve or orchid, although she has been seen in navy blue and nigger brown

CITY ICE PLANT IS MAKING GOOD

Weatherford, Ok., Makes and Sells Product at 15 Cents.

Oklahoma City, Dec. 16.—Fame has come to the little town of Weatherford, Okla., on account of its municipal ice plant and the success that has attended its operation. Inquiries from all over the United States come to Hugh J. Cooper, commissioner of public utilities of Weatherford, through whose efforts the ice plant was built.
Residents of Weatherford now have all the ice they want in summer, and at a remarkably low price. He said it had not been planned, originally, in Weatherford, but was built partly on account of circumstances that grew out of a lawsuit. Ten thousand dollars had been appropriated to build a city hall, but there was a difference of opinion as to where it should be located and a lawsuit resulted. While the case was pending Cooper got the $10,000 in such shape that it could be used to build an ice plant, and it was put to that purpose.
Cooper often had planned to use waste steam from the waterworks plant, and when the ice plant project was considered he put these plans into execution. The steam from the waterworks plant was run through pipes to the ice plant, cooled before it reached it, and became distilled water.

TO BE SURRENDERED ON FEDERAL CHARGE

Ora Nachbar, Armory Thief,
Uncle Samuel.

Ora Nachbar, the young Indiana guardsman who is under arrest for robberies committed at the armory of Company E, in this city, will be turned over to the federal authorities and he will have to answer in the United States court for his crime. His case was called in the city court Thursday morning on a charge of petit larceny and continued until Tuesday, by which time it is expected that federal procedures will have been instituted.

Nachbar stole a couple of bushels of blank and ball rifle cartridges from the armory, removed the charges from them and sold the brass shells for junk.

Army Deserter Turned Over.
Frederick Cox, arrested on the streets the other night and booked at police headquarters for drunkenness, was released from the city court Thursday morning and turned over to Deputy United States Marshal William H. Haggerty, of this city, to be surrendered to the United States military authorities as a deserter.

Brass Thief Sent to Jail.
Frank Briggs, who claims Boulder, Col., as his home and who had just floated into town, was fined $10 and costs and given thirty days in jail on his plea of guilty to a charge of petit larceny. He stole a quantity of railroad brass from the Nickel Plate roundhouse and sold it to a junker on Superior street. He implicated Frank Shafer in the sale of the loot, though exonerating him from any part in the theft. Briggs and Shafer were arrested by Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan. Shafer, who says he has been employed in a local garage since his arrival in the city seven weeks ago, protested his innocence and said

Other City Court Cases.

Joseph Coffee, who appears frequently, and Fred McNaughton were fined $5 and costs each for drunkenness and both went to jail for fifteen days. Ralph Milligan, another drunk, was turned loose.

On a charge of petit larceny Louis Huber was granted another continuance and was released on his own recognizance for appearance Friday.

John Zeigler, a vag, was permitted to go out to find work.

Art Bartells was arraigned on a charge of running a vehicle without the owner's permission, jitney owner named Frederick filing the affidavit. The offense alleged was committed Thanksgiving day. Frederick's car was being operated by Alvin Distel, who wanted to go to a foot ball game and got Bartells to drive for him during the afternoon. Bartells is said to have gone on a joyride to New Haven and damaged the machine. Frederick had Distel arrested Monday on a charge of embezzlement, but dismissed the case. Bartells was continued until Friday and released on his own recognizance.

ANOTHER CHECK TURNS UP.

Another forged check written and uttered by George Redmond, the ex-convict, who was arrested Tuesday night for passing a bad check at the Wabash ticket office, turned up at police headquarters Wednesday afternoon. It was brought in by George J. Philipp, proprietor of the church goods store, 1211 Calhoun street, at whose place it was tendered Tuesday afternoon. It was written for $22. While a boy employed in the place was absent to make inquiry about the check, Redmond disappeared.

DETECTIVE AT POSTOFFICE.

Chief of Police Charles Lenz has detailed one of the city detectives for duty in the postoffice during the holiday rush, when the opportunity for pickpockets, sneak thieves and purse snatchers is at its best. At this season heretofore robberies have been frequent in the lobby of the postoffice, women and foreigners forwarding money and mailing Christmas packages being the customary prey of thieves.

PRISONER RESISTS OFFICER IN COURT

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 16.—Twining his arms and legs about the railing before the bench of the St. Joseph circuit court, Nathan Greenfield, a fugitive from San Antonio, Tex., resisted the attempt of a deputy sheriff from the Lone star state to remove him from the jurisdiction of this county yesterday. Shouts of "Cut out this melodrama," and "Stay right where you are," by counsel for Greenfield encouraged the defendant while the deputy sheriff tugged and pried in his efforts to get Greenfield loose. After the deputy gave up the struggle local officers came to his assistance and Greenfield was removed from the court room. He is now being returned to Texas. The disturbance caused when Judge W. A. Funk turned the prisoner over to George M. Miller, the deputy sheriff from San Antonio. Judge Funk had just satisfied himself that the defendant was the man sought by the Texas authorities for selling mortgaged goods.

In appearance, as in all other respects, the Model 75 Touring Car is all that you would demand, or expect, in a much higher-priced car. The body is long and low, with the harmony in the blending of lines that marks the true streamline type. The front edge of the radiator is rounded; the hood slopes gradually into the beautifully curved cowl—even the back of the car is gracefully rounded out.

There are no projecting door hinges or handles; no obstructions on the running boards; nothing about the whole car to mar the clean smoothness of its lines. The fenders are long and sweeping in their curves, with gracefully rounded surfaces; the built-in windshield is a part of the car itself rather than a mere attachment. In every respect it is a car which you may be proud to own and drive.

NEW MOVE IN FIGHT ON TRACTION COMPANY

Card Signs Are Being Distributed in Downtown District.

While they have not as yet been generally distributed, card signs made their appearance Thursday with the following: "Fort Wayne With Might and Main, We Use Municipal Light." The cards were printed by the Federation of Labor and are to be used as another club in the fight that has been waged against the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company since the inauguration of the car men's strike, September 27.

Representatives of the Federation were busy Thursday distributing the cards among the business houses in the city where municipal lights are used. In a number of instances merchants desiring to remain neutral in the controversy and not wishing to jeopardize their business or to take any part whatsoever in the controversy, would not permit the signs to be put up.

The organization of a company and selling of stock for the proposed auto bus line to be operated in opposition to the street cars is progressing very satisfactorily, according to officials of the Federation of Labor back of the movement. A meeting of the executive board and financial committee of the Federation held a meeting Wednesday evening for the purpose of further discussing the proposition. A booster meeting will probably be held Friday evening at the Federation headquarters at which time officers will probably be elected and arrangements made for the purchase of the buses and starting of the line at the earliest possible date. Two more of the strikers returned to work Wednesday. They were C. B. Cone and John Murfield. Those who returned to work Monday were Elmer Payne, Anton Berner and Elmer L. Flowers.

UNDERGOES A NEW VOLCANIC OUTBREAK

Further Destruction Near Scene of Disaster Two Years Ago.

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 10.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Delayed reports have brought news of a fresh volcanic outbreak on the island of Ambim, in the New Hebrides group, a spot which experienced a most destructive volcanic eruption in December, 1913. Rev. A. T. Waters, a missionary stationed on the island of Oba, about 80 miles from Ambim, writes that on the first few days of October last, smoke and volcanic ash clouded the sky so thickly that the sun gave only a weird light like the moon, and it eventually became so dark that the people on Oba had to light lamps. Everything became gritty with ashes indoors, and out-of-doors they were so thick that the sea could not be seen from the mission house, which ordinarily afforded a fine view of the water.

There was for a time some panic among the natives of Oba who thought one of the mountains on their own island was in eruption, but the source of the trouble was later traced to Ambim, and it appeared as though the entire island was burning. The missionary's letter did not say that any one ventured to visit Ambim during the eruption, and the extent of the damage or loss of life, if any, is unknown.

The previous eruption at Ambim, in December, 1913, was reported to have cost the lives of 500 natives, and to have completely altered the face and coast line of the island. According to the natives of Oba the recent trouble appeared to have been still worse than the previous eruption.

Little is known as to the interior of Ambim, which has been visited but rarely by white men. No census has ever been taken, but among the coast settlements there are a number of mission stations, mainly Roman Catholic and Presbyterian, whose members had a narrow escape in the previous eruption. The New Hebrides islands have been controlled since 1906 by a joint commission of British and French officials under the supervision of two resident commissioners, one appointed by each nation.

W. C. Allen, Bosely, Mo., says: "I have raised a family of four children and used Foley's Honey and Tar with all of them. I find it the best cough and croup medicine I ever used. I used it for eight or ten years and can recommend it for croup." Dreier Drug Co.

STILL HOLDS THE FORT

Jacob Barra Remains Barricaded in His Home Near Brazil.

Brazil, Ind., Dec. 16.—No efforts were made by Sheriff William Garrigue, of Clay county, to take Jacob Barra, alleged to be insane, into custody yesterday. Mrs. Joseph Ragan, a neighbor, declared that unless some action was taken she would file suit against the sheriff on his bond or take the matter up with Governor Ralston.

Records at the county clerk's office show that Barra was never released from the Southeastern hospital for the Insane, but is still a ward of that institution. The last record shows that after he escaped in October, the superintendent advised the sheriff to permit him to remain until he showed signs of insanity.

Barra did not venture out of his barricaded house, but stood at the front window. He frequently rubbed the water off the glass so he could see outside. His brother went to see him Sunday but Barra warned him that if he attempted to take the gun away from him he would shoot to kill.

Dear Old Lefty Gilbert is "The Lion of the Hour."

(Doc White in Terre Haute Tribune.) "Lefty" Gilbert, Highlander chief, is now engaged in the "soft" occupation of jarring Muskegon, Mich., business men loose from their bank rolls. In other words, Gilbert has been hired by the Central league to complete the organization of a baseball company in Muskegon and to stick on the job until the matter has been entirely thrashed out.

The Highlander leader in a wire to the writer today, stated his belief that he would succeed in his latest venture and that he was certain that Muskegon would be a member of the Central league next season. "Find business men greatly interested in securing club and expect to organize stock company by Jan. 1," stated Gilbert in his message.

The Muskegon chamber of commerce is behind the move to secure a Central franchise and Gilbert yesterday was introduced at a meeting of the body and promptly became the "lion of the hour." He wasted no time, however, in getting busy and before any of the business men could get away had secured many promises to take stock in the baseball company. The sale of 500 season tickets at $15 per will also be in the capable hands of Rufus.

With the organization of the company and the granting of a Central franchise to Muskegon, a manager will be necessary and it is not beyond the bounds of reason to believe that Gilbert will be asked to accept the job.

"Lefty," however, is strong for Terre Haute, and if the local stock sale is successful will likely be found at the helm of the Highlander outfit in 1916.

STOVE LEAGUE STUFF.

In a game between the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns, Buck Weaver, of the Sox, started to steal second and reached the bag with the ball. As he slid, he raised a cloud of dust and Pratt, covering the bag, reached down and tagged him. "Y'r out!" yelled the umpire.

Bobby Wallace, playing short for the Browns, was about twenty feet behind second base to back up the play. As Hobby walked to the bench he dropped a ball in the pitcher's box. The ball had gone through to Wallace, but Pratt had made the bluff at tagging the runner and got away with it.

All kinds of schemes have been devised by coaches to get instructions to their players during games, and here's one that cops the prize.

In a game between the high school teams of Reading and Norristown, Pa., this season, the Norristown players, especially the captain, seemed unusually thirsty and were continually calling the water boy.

"Doc" Bunting, interested in the Reading team, noticed the water boy seemed to do a lot of talking to the captain each time he went onto the field. He moved around so he could get a good look at the boy.

"Oh, ho," says he, "it's you, is it?" Sure it was—"Boots" Shoffner, Norristown coach, disguised as a water boy.

SAY 2,000,000 PLAY GOLF.

Figures furnished by golf ball manufacturers lead to estimate that 2,000,000 persons are playing golf in the United States and Canada. Manufacturers say about 350,000 dozen balls were sold in the two countries this year. Allowing two balls for each player and adding a certain percentage of old ones, the estimators reach the total figures. The ball output this year was the largest in history.

KID LAVIGNE IS DOWN AND OUT

One Time Star is Penniless and Helpless in New York.

A benefit will be held in New York tomorrow for George "Kid" Lavigne. The man who was called the greatest lightweight ring "ever" produced is down and out. The man who was cheered by thousands in the United States and Europe only a score of years ago, is penniless. The man who made a fortune in the ring and celebrated his victories with wine parties needs money with which to buy the necessities of life.

Lavigne is 46. He was born at Bay City, Mich. His first job was loading salt on boats at Saginaw, Mich. It was at Saginaw, too, in 1899 at the age of 20, that he started one of the most spectacular ring careers in the history of the sport.

The "Kid" did not start with four or six-round bouts. In his first match he fought, seventy-seven rounds with George Siddons. It was a draw. In his second bout—a return match—he fought fifty-five rounds with Siddons; again a draw.

In his first two fights he went 132 rounds, as much as some present day boxers go in fifteen bouts.

For ten years the "Kid" was unbeaten. He fought from coast to coast in the United States and went to England, where he defended the lightweight championship by knocking out Dick Burge, taller and heavier.

Lavigne's first taste of defeat came in 1899, when he lost to "Mysterious Billy" Smith, of Australia, in fourteen rounds at San Francisco. Then he lost to Frank Erne, was knocked out by George McFadden, Jimmy Britt and Young Erne. His fighting career covered eighteen years. He quit when he was stopped by Young Erne in 1907.

Lavigne was a "good fellow" when he had it—that's why a benefit is being given for him.

RATTLING THE PAN

(Pulford in Toledo Blade.)

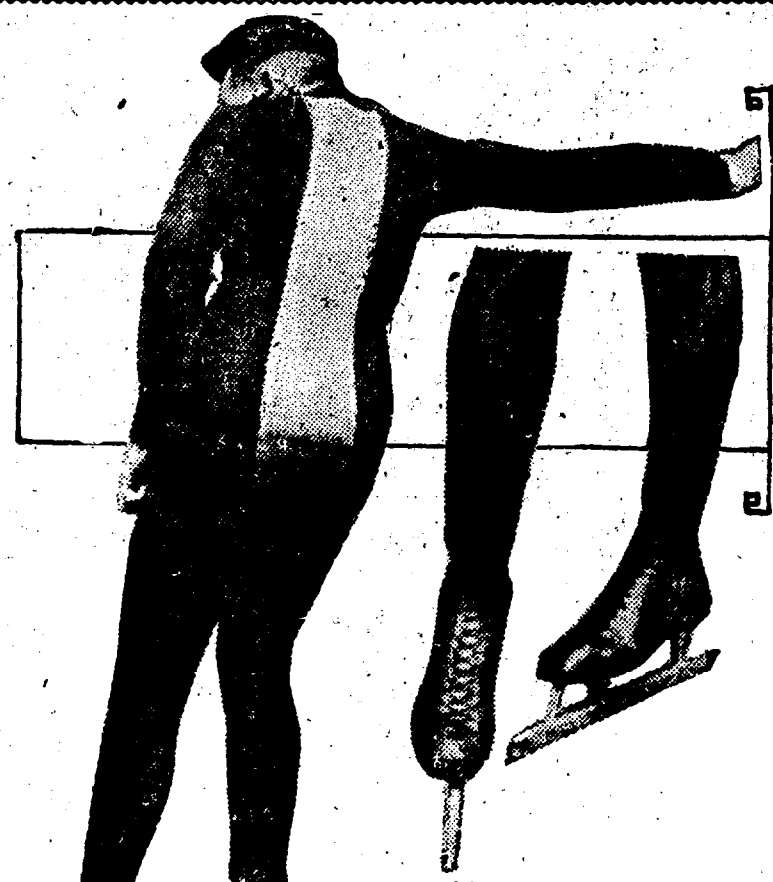

Some day, and in the not so very distant future, athletic clubs, universities and unattached athletes by the hundred, will far up on their hind legs and tell the Amateur Athletic union, the controlling body of amateur athletics in this country, to go to. Time was when the narrow confines of the A. A. U. permitted competing athletes looked upon as amateurs, may have been a good thing, but there also was a time when gateways were popular, and Napoleon was the first consul. However, times have changed. Everything seems to be moving ahead save the A. A. U., which remains in the rut it has occupied for ages. Doubtless many amateur athletes sin, but many are more sinned against than sinners. Whether the revolt against the tyrannical rule of the amateur body will be in the nature of a rival organization or just a general breaking away from the old wagon, is a question to be answered in the future.

ANOTHER "AD" FOR LOUIE.

Our own Louie Heilbroner, wise man of baseball, and keeper of the royal parchments, again breaks into the spotlight when Sidney Smith cartoons him with half a dozen other baseball strong men at the top of the Chicago Tribune sport page Thursday morning. But for the benefit of friend Louie it must be said that Sidney is no flatterer.

PRACTICE TO STOP AND MAKE TURNS ON SKATES, IS TIP OF CHAMPION.

Left, position of the skates to stop, and (right) to turn corners, posed especially for The Sentinel by Ben Oickly, U. S. amateur champion, for the seventh and last article of his series on how to skate. (By Ben Oickly, United States Amateur Skating Champion.)

I believe it is harder for skaters to learn how to stop than how to start. Also it is hard to learn how to turn corners. Both require a good bit of practice so don't be discouraged if you are not able to stop or turn right away. To stop, turn the body sideways, so the skates will scrape sideways across the ice. Brace your ankles well when you do this. The body will naturally lean backward a bit. Another way is to dig the heel of one skate into the ice and let it scrape along but experts have found the other way best.

In making turns, say to the left, keep crossing right skate in front and over the left. This requires a short, choppy stroke. In fact, it is hardly a stroke, but a step.

In conclusion, I don't see how anyone can afford not to skate. It is great exercise and the returns it brings in pleasure certainly make up for any time and trouble one has in learning. (End of Series.)

PEACE DOVE HOVERS OVER BALL MEETINGS

"Will Protect Players Who Jumped," Say Feds—Settlement Near.

New York, Dec. 15.—The future status of big league baseball will be decided at a peace conference of representatives of the National, American and Federal leagues here tomorrow if the expectations of the magnates who have framed the tentative agreement after three years of war are fulfilled. Members of the National league here in their annual meeting are waiting today for the arrival of the conference committee appointed by the American league to ratify the proposed terms of peace.

James Gilmore, president of the Federal league, and Harry F. Sinclair, owner of the Newark Federals, are ready to take part in the final conference to determine the future of baseball organizations representing an outlay estimated at more than $10,000,000.

When asked the terms of the settlement Mr. Gilmore said: "You could not expect me to say anything about that right now. There is only one thing upon which I know we will insist. Every ball player who came with us and thus brought themselves under the tan of organized baseball will be protected."

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Members of the peace committee of the American league named at the league's meeting here last night are to leave for New York city today to attend a conference there tomorrow with committees of the National and Federal leagues at which it is expected peace in the baseball world will be declared. Indications are that all details will be settled by Saturday night. The American league committee is composed of Charles A. Comiskey, of Chicago; B. S. Minor, of Washington; J. J. Lannin, of Boston, and B. B. Johnson, president of the league, who will act as chairman.

Although the peace proposal have been kept secret, it is said that Charles H. Weegman, president of the Chicago Federals, will come into control of the Chicago National league club.

TALLEST GRIDDER SIX FEET SEVEN.

Arkansas university claims to have the tallest football player in the country. His last name is Turner and if correct he is called "Babe." Turner measures 6 feet 7 inches in height and weighs 235 lbs. He is a tackle and is expected to play in the 1916 season.

NAP LAJOIE TO MANAGE INDIANS?

Cleveland, O., Dec. 16.—Nap Lajoie again has become a figure in local baseball, when it became known that a syndicate of Cleveland capitalists was in the field as purchaser of the Indians and had already approached Lajoie with the proposal that Larry handle the managerial reins, if the syndicate is successful in buying the club.

Wilson M. Shear, promoter, is engineering the deal. Who composes the syndicate Shear refuses to divulge, but has no hesitancy in admitting that his clients are ready to take over the Cleveland club.

Shear has already ascertained the price demanded by the Somers interests and that figure is satisfactory to the syndicate. It is understood Shear has arranged to confer with Ben Johnson later in the week, when the president of the American league returns here to straighten out the local baseball situation.

HOLDS LOWER COURT ERRED

Indianapolis, Dec. 16.—The judgment of the Johnson circuit court in favor of the Suckow company in a suit for damages for the death of Joseph Dear, an employee, was reversed by the appellate court. A heavy cupboard fell on Dear and crushed him. The appellate court held that a number of instructions given by the lower court were erroneous, and that the employers' liability law of 1911 eliminated the rule of assumption of risk and therefore placed the liability on the employer.

HENDRICKS FURNISHES FOOD FOR GOSSIP

Old Mrs. Rumor still hangs over the back fence chatting with the neighbors about Jack Hendricks. For several months Hendricks has been talked of for several major jobs, but nothing definite has developed. Here's the latest squib from the Indianapolis News:

"According to a dispatch from Cincinnati today, Joe Kelly, the Indians' crack center fielder, may wear a Red uniform next season, a deal being under way to buy the player. Before leaving for New York Manager Hendricks said several offers had been made for Kelly but that none of them were large enough. The New York dispatches of yesterday stated that Hendricks was being considered as a candidate to manage the Pittsburgh Pirates, and if he should leave here probably there will be a big scramble for the job of managing the Indians on the part of several. Hendricks left with the understanding with McGill that the Indian owner would release him from his contract should he hook up with a major league team."

IT'S RATHER UNUSUAL—

—for a woman to ask for a divorce because her husband is too ardent a lover. But Mrs. Ada Brown Ketchum is seeking a separation from her wealthy husband, a New York lawyer, because she says "his love was so cruel." In the court hearing Ketchum told of "a two hour soul kiss" his wife had given him, while she told the court that he kissed her so much he left her exhausted. The pictures show the Ketchums as they were photographed in the court room.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Mutt and Jeff in College" Twice on Saturday.

John Gorman, who plays the role of Mutt in the new comedy, "Mutt and Jeff in College," which is underlined as the next attraction at the Majestic theater, Saturday matinee and night, often has been asked how he came to make up so accurately. Mr. Gorman has been praised by critics all over the country because of his fidelity in both features, expression and action to the original types of cartoons created by Bud Fisher.

"It came after close and arduous study," said Mr. Gorman. "When Manager Gus Hill originally assigned me for the part I figured that my success would be due in no small measure to the way I made up. I had the height to start with, and my nose is large but not sufficiently large enough to comply with the proboscis popularized by Mr. Fisher. I finally mastered it, but could not make it stick on. One evening, while playing in a western town I had a hard skirmish with little Jeff and during a tussle my false nose was dislodged and fell to the floor. I did not notice it until a youngster in the gallery shouted with all the power of his young and robust lungs: 'Hey, look! Mutt has lost his nose!' Immediately the house was in an uproar. I took in the situation, picked up the false member and stuck it carelessly on the side of my cheek and went on with my part. This piece of business was such a tremendous hit that it was continued throughout the season."

AT THE TEMPLE.

AMATEUR NIGHT FRIDAY.

Temple Players to Hold Another Amusing Contest.

The splendid reception accorded the first two amateur contests has decided the Temple Players in favor of these amusing features and Friday night the third will be staged. In addition to several that figured in the first two some new talent is being developed, and Ashton Newton, whose special province it is to preside over these functions, promises some decided surprises.

Last night the Temple was the scene of a real-for-sure wedding when Fred P. Davis and Miss Flossie A. Phillips, both well known Fort Wayne people, were united in marriage on the stage after the regular performance. Miss Ethel Hamerick and Frank Gallagher, of the Temple Players, performed the duties of attendants to the bride and groom, and the house was literally packed to capacity by eager hundreds who wanted to see the knot tied. Justice of the Peace A. C. Niernman performed the ceremony. Ashton Newton was the master of ceremonies and presented the couple with a score of presents sent them by local merchants. Presents that ranged from a broom to a purse of gold, the latter the gift of the Temple Players management.

The Players this week are presenting the melodramatic story, "The Call of the Woods," a four-act drama with a punch in every scene.

AT KEITH PALACE

PRETTY COSTUMED ACT.

Five Musical Gormans Head Bill Opening Today at Palace.

The Five Musical Gormans, two brothers and three sisters of the clan of Gorman, are topping the new bill opening for three days at the New Palace this afternoon in a superb musical act. The feature is attractive not only because of the versatile abilities of the several artists but also because of the many costumes worn by the performers. The Jewell comedy trio of merry-makers have a bundle of nonsense to unroll for the enjoyment of the week-end customers at the New Palace. Verna Mercereau and her company of classical dancers are offering a dramatic pantomime one will enjoy. Yate and Wheeler in "Who's the Winner?" which are a team that will bring the laughs tumbling out of the most reluctant chuckler. Merle's cockatoo have been trained to perform an amazing assortment of tricks and to group themselves so as to form some strikingly beautiful stage pictures.

Charlie Chaplin Night. Friday evening will be Charlie Chaplin amateur night at the New Palace. Every youngster in Fort Wayne that imagines he can imitate the career comedian should deposit his name at the box office of the New Palace and enter the lists for one of the Christmas prizes which will be awarded to the winners. Of course the winner will not be confined to Charlie Chaplin, and already a number of young people have signified their intentions of entering into the competition.

AT THE EMPRESS

A very emphatic hit has been registered at the Empress theater by "The Road Agent," the current week's attraction at this popular playhouse. The drama is about the golden, glowing west, and it deals with the efforts of a girl detective to prove a man innocent of the crime of murder. Miss Helen Gleason plays the part of the girl detective while McLean Gates takes the part of the man who thinks he is a murderer. The play is a thrilling one from start to finish.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

"The Unknown" Pleases Jefferson Audiences Immensely.

The last showing of the Paramount-Lasky production, "The Unknown" is today. The story deals with the persecution of a son by his father. After many thrilling escapades the boy is recognized by his father, who withholds his identity and the boy is freed from further persecution. There is a clever love story that holds more than passing interest. Dorothy Davenport is the sweetheart and Lou Tellegen the lover with Theodore Roberts as the father. The story is adapted from the novel "The Red Mirage," and follows the book closely. It is lavishly staged and will surely please. Companion picture Pathe News. The price of admission is 10 cents and 5 cents. Tomorrow a Triangle offering W. S. Hart in "The Discipline." An Ince production and one of the realisms is a rain storm that far exceeds the one in the "Iron Strain." Mr. Hart has an enviable reputation as a character actor which he upholds in this production. Thelma Salter, the golden haired child that appears in this production is but seven years of age but she has grown up in pictures and is a real star.

AT THE LYRIC.

REMAINS TWO MORE DAYS.

"Damaged Goods" at Lyric Sets New Record for Fort Wayne.

a photoplay warranted a continuous weeks run in Fort Wayne, but the repeated requests from medical men as well as the general public have necessitated the continuation of "Damaged Goods" at the Lyric for Friday and Saturday, and the management has made arrangements with the picture owners whereby the films are to be held for these two additional days.

The indorsements of "Damaged Goods" by Drs. Calvin Rhany, Porter, J. Hawley, Lohman, Titus, Benning, Hoff and Blosser have caused the general public to appreciate the educational value of this film as well as its entertaining side.

"Damaged Goods" depicts the terrible consequences of vice and the physical ruin which follows abuse of the moral law, and is a stirring plea for pure life before marriage in order to make impossible the transmission of the hereditary taint to future generations. The physicians realizing that the only effective crusade against this modern problem lies in the lifting of the veil of secrecy and the education of the general public, are unanimous in urging the laity to attend this production.

AT THE GRAND

The special offering at the Grand today will be Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "Under Royal Patronage."

Moving picture fans like a manly lover and delight to see him play his part nobly and bravely, more especially when the lady of his choice is beautiful and devoted to him. In Esanay's two-act feature "Under Royal Patronage," it is only necessary to state in order to arouse unusual interest in these films, that Francis X. Bushman and Miss Beverly Bayne appear as the lovers.

HARVEY HALL WILL QUIT RAILROADING

Well Known Pennsy Man to Engage in Wholesale
Lumber Business.

Harvey Hall has tendered his resignation as assistant engineer of the Western division of the Pennsylvania to Supt. Otto Schroll and will hereafter devote his energies to work other than railroading.

Mr. Hall has made arrangements to engage with his brother in the manufacture and wholesale of lumber, with headquarters at Charleston, W. Va. Thomas Hall, the brother, has been conducting a business of that kind in Charleston some years and has established a good trade.

The retirement of Mr. Hall from Pennsylvania service marks the close of a railway career which was significantly successful as far as it was carried out, and which had a most promising future if continued, for he is a young man and has been engaged in railway work only thirteen years.

Mr. Hall is a Buckeye by birth, making his first appearance in the world in Mansfield in April, 1883. After graduating from the schools of that city, he attended and graduated from Denison university. Soon after the close of the university term, he went to Pittsburg to begin work in an humble way in the office of Chief Engineer Robert Trimble of the Pennsylvania. In October, 1902, in March, 1905, he was promoted to the engineering corps of the Eastern division, with headquarters at Pittsburg. A year later, in 1906, he was transferred in a similar capacity to the Erie and Ashtabula division, with headquarters at New Castle. He came to Fort Wayne in November, 1908, and for four years was a member of the engineering corps of the Western division. In November, 1912, Mr. Hall received appointment to the office of assistant engineer, which he now relinquishes to engage in business at Charleston.

It was while on the Erie and Ashtabula division that Mr. Hall performed his most important and difficult engineering feat—directing the construction work on the $2,000,000 ore and coal docks established there by the Pennsylvania. As soon as that work was completed he was called to Fort Wayne to take service in the maintenance-of-way department and during his connection with the Western division some of the greatest improvements of recent years to the property were made. These included the elevation of the tracks through the city, the building of the Baker street passenger station and the remodeling of the old passenger station into handsome offices, the building of the Piqua subway, the beginning and completion of the greater portion of an extensive parking and service track system at the local roundhouse, which involved the cutting down of a big hill, and the erection of a handsome new passenger station at Plymouth.

Mr. Hall is prominent in social and fraternal circles in the city, being a member of the Scottish Rite and of Mizpah temple, Mystic Shrine. He was married May 1, 1913, to Miss Florence M. Foster, daughter of Col. D. N. Foster, who is also socially prominent in Fort Wayne. The family has already commenced packing up for the move to Charleston and expects to ship their household effects early next week. Thomas Hall is here for a short visit and will be accompanied to Charleston by Harvey Hall Friday night.

CALLAHAN IS PROMOTED.

Well Known Railroad Man Appointed a Chief Dispatcher.

The Nickel Plate management has found it advisable to split the territory of its chief dispatcher at Fort Wayne and beginning today Chief Dispatcher George Robinson, whose jurisdiction extended from Chicago to Bellevue, will have charge of only the Chicago division, from this city to Chicago. James T. Callahan has assumed the duties of the office of chief dispatcher of the Fort Wayne division, from Fort Wayne to Bellevue. John Hughes, the night chief dispatcher, will continue in charge of both the Fort Wayne and the Chicago divisions. Mr. Callahan has been chief clerk in the office of Supt. W. F. Watterson, of the Fort Wayne division, for five or six months, succeeding J. H. P. Meyers, who moved to California. That position has fallen to Robert J. Bowman, who in turn has been succeeded by Otto Fuhrman. Mr. Bowman was relief agent for five years on the road, but for the past year has held a clerical position in Mr. Watterson's office. Mr. Fuhrman has been a clerk in the same office for several years. Mr. Callahan is so well known among Fort Wayne people that anything The Sentinel might say about his career would be superfluous. With the exception of a few years' residence at Conneaut, Mr. Callahan resided here many years and worked for the Nickel Plate, first as telegraph operator and then dispatcher.

DOING A BIG BUSINESS.

The Sherman-White Cold Storage company is enjoying the best business in its history, shipping five car loads of dressed poultry to the east each week, besides the other shipments. Manager J. Sterling, Jr., says the poultry to supply the Christmas trade has practically all gone east, but the movement in that direction will continue heavy until the middle of January. The Sherman-White company announces that it will give two silver cups, one valued at $75 and the other at $25, as prizes at the annual poultry show in Fort Wayne. "We are doing this," Mr. Sterling said, "to encourage the raising of better poultry."

S. F. AND H. M. BOWSER RETURN.

President S. F. Bowser and Second Vice President H. M. Bowser, of S. F. Bowser & Co., arrived home last night after spending five weeks on the Pacific coast, looking after business for the company and attending the Panama-Pacific exposition, where the company had a fine display of factory products. They visited the company's offices at Los Angeles, Denver, Salt Lake City, Omaha and elsewhere in the west and report business satisfactory at each.

ROBERT LEARMONTH IMPROVING.

Robert Learmonth, who has been in Hope hospital several weeks with a fractured hip, the result of a fall upon the curbing at the corner of Calhoun and Wayne streets, will soon be at his desk in the Pennsylvania superintendent's office again. The splints and weights were removed from his leg yesterday and he will soon be up and around.

WENT TO WESTERN GAS WORKS.

George U. Brake, a draftsman, who recently resigned a position in the Pennsylvania shops to take a similar one with the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump works, changed his plans at the last moment and took employment in the drafting department of the Western Gas Construction company this morning. The Sentinel mentioned the resignation of Mr. Brake two weeks ago.

EXTRA CARS FOR STUDENTS.

Saturday morning Nos. 5 and 6 on the Nickel Plate will have an extra coach each for Concordia college students who will go to their homes for the holidays. No. 5 is a westbound train and No. 6 is an eastbound.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

S. G. Parr, a G. R. & I. fireman, is off duty on account of sickness.

Walter Tierney, a clerk at the Pennsylvania round house, is sick and off duty.

Harry O. Deberaux has taken employment as a helper in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop.

R. A. Milligan and L. N. Henry have resigned as brakemen on the Nickel Plate to take up other work.

A. W. F. Meyers, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, is kept from his work by sickness in his family.

P. Tremple, hostler at the Pennsylvania round house, is off duty on account of the death of a relative.

Illness of some member of his family is keeping Nickel Plate Conductor W. O. Miller from his work on the road.

J. M. Zollars, H. Burlage and J. Junk are absent from the Pennsylvania planing mills today on account of sickness.

E. G. Klein, Pennsylvania pipefitter, is off duty looking after private business.

RABID DOG BITES FOUR

Investigation By States Proves Danger of Hydrophobia.

Columbus, Ind., Dec. 15.—Four persons here will probably take the Pasteur treatment for the prevention of hydrophobia. A strange hound appeared at the home of Charles Dickman and bit his eleven-year-old daughter, Louise. Dickman choked the dog to death with his bare hands. Harry S. Trutt, local sanitary officer, sent the head to Indianapolis for examination. Dr. Will Shimer, of the state board of health has sent word that many negro bodies were found in the dog's brain.

Dickman was bitten on one hand while choking the dog. Mrs. John Watson and Mrs. Charles Russell were also bitten. It is said several dogs and cows were attacked by the dog.

Gee, Doesn't Santa Look Fun! y! No Wonder; This Year He's a Jap

Rosy-Cheeked Old Gent,
Sacred by Cannon's Roar
in Europe, Has Jumped Half Way 'Round the Earth.

Don't be surprised if Santa looks a little queer this year—for this Christmas Santa Claus will be a Jap.

You can blame it on the war, too, for when the cannons began popping in Europe, the fat, rosy cheeked, red coated old gent jumped half way round the world—and landed kerplunk in Japan.

Yep, that's what all the toy dealers are saying. Hereafter, they declare, Santa and his thousands of toymakers will work in Japan instead of the toy factories in Germany. The Japs, you see, have won a great industrial victory over the land of the kaiser.

This year doll babies, mechanical and wooden toys and colored picture books will find their way into the stockings of young America with a little "Made in Japan" instead of "Made in Germany" labels on them.

The Japs began cutting in on the toy trade the moment the war started. Called "the greatest imitators in the world," they immediately began copying the latest German toys. Because they can do the work cheaper than anybody else on earth, they had no difficulty in plucking this fat business plum from the envious American toy manufacturers.

They overcame the world-wide shortage of coal tar dyes by resorting to vegetable dye of their own manufacture and they even adopted the German system of "farming" out the toys among hundreds of families, in piece work style.

The cheapness of making toys by this system permits the Japanese to make and sell all varieties of toys in this country at a big profit in spite of a 10 per cent. duty.

But you wouldn't know the toys had been made in Japan instead of Germany unless you looked at the label. There's nothing "Japanesey" about them.

Military toys predominate, perfect little models of machine guns and of big howitzers. Toy warships this year are all painted regular "battle ship gray"; even the airships and imitation war automobiles are painted the same color. The Japs are awfully clever as wood carvers and they have had no trouble in turning out all sorts of wooden toys this year that are, if anything, even better than the German product of former years.

And the dolls! They don't wear funny looking kimonos, not a bit of it. They are all decked out, both boy and girl dolls, in snappy "American style clothes." The Japs call it "High Collar" style.

The Japs are always affable with the result that wherever possible they have stuck an American flag on the toys that they are shipping to this country. They have even carried this form of flattery still further and on the bottoms of boxes that contain a toy set of ships of the U. S. navy they have printed "Unsinkable." But then as an afterthought, perhaps, they poked a little fun at Uncle Sam by adding the line—"Made of Wood."

ANTWERP NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Applegate, of Detroit, Mich., are rejoicing over the birth of a fine baby boy. Ray is an old Antwerp boy, the son of Mrs. Emily Applegate. The little fellow has been named Frank.

The Thimble club met at the home of Mrs. J. H. Adcock, Monday evening, 17 members being present. A pot luck supper and a general good time was featured.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Back-

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then as a "kidney-cleansing" and "bladder-debottling" agent.

"I like the cold,"
Says little ROSE
And I don't care
How hard it snows.

"Of course, you don't,"
Says BUD "because
You think 'twill bring
Old Santa Claus."

To the Boys and Girls—
Here is a suggestion: If you like ROSE and BUD (and we know you will like them), why don't you take the shears and cut out their pictures today and then, when tomorrow's paper comes, cut out their pictures again and keep on cutting them out each day until you have a nice collection of them?

But be sure to have mother buy some of the ROSE-BUD Soda Crackers at the grocery. They are the finest Crackers you ever ate. We call them "The Cracker for You That Splits in Two," because you can break them in two without making any crumbs. And when you do break them in two, you will find the name of ROSE on one half, and the name of BUD on the other half. Be sure to try it.

THE PERISCOPE BONNET

Beware, you flirts! The periscope bonnet 'll get you if you don't watch out. Never heard of it? Well, it's very new, but has already made its appearance in New York and Chicago. A tiny mirror is tucked at an attractive and innocent angle in the bonnet so it reflects the actions of pedestrians behind the wearer. Thus, if some male person trailing along behind the periscope begins straightening his coat and dusting off his shoes, these actions reflected in the mirror warns the pretty girl beneath that a masochist is near and, thus warned, she may elude him by darting into a side street or seeking the protection of a policeman.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

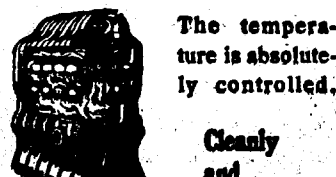

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburg Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Advertisement.

His references looked good, so I didn't investigate. He gave a $500 bond with a state bank at Brownlow. He directed me to send the medicine to Paintsville, Ky. We're at Paintsville.

"Things ran along until he owed me $700. I went to Paintsville, which doesn't amount to much, though it's a county seat. I inquired around, but couldn't find anybody who'd ever heard of the particular state bank of Brownlow. I hired a mule and started across the mountains.

MANY MOONSHINERS FOUND BY TOLEDOAN

Starts Out to Learn Why He Can't Collect from Kentuckians.

Things ran along until he owed me $700. I went to Paintsville, which doesn't amount to much, though it's a county seat. I inquired around, but couldn't find anybody who'd ever heard of the particular state bank of Brownlow. I hired a mule and started across the mountains.

"On the way I met a man who threw his mule team and wagon across the road and stopped me. "Stranger," says he, "have a drink." "I don't want a drink," says I. "Oh, yes yeh do," says he. "No, I don't," says I. "You all don't look none to healthy," says he; "you all better git right back where you come from."

"Back I went to Paintsville, where I hired the liveryman to go with me. We found that a deaf and dumb man, who drove a mule team, came after the goods. We learned that there was a bunch of moonshiners living in a lot of towns of one family. These had a community printing shop in which they turned out all kinds of references, bonds and the like. The scheme was for one to order enough goods for the lot and give a bogus reference. Letters would come back marked, "No such person."

"Cafloods of beer, beef and salt had disappeared in this way. Each of the families had a postoffice. Hint at Foul Crimes. "The people wouldn't tell us much about their business, but they surely did describe a bunch of murders and mysterious disappearances of revenue officers and other investigators.

"I found that they'd been emptying partly some of my bottles and filling them with squirrel whisky. This was the way they covered their moonshine operation. "How'd they get the postoffices? Each family would get the others to circulate petitions for appointments of representatives of the others. They were about as easy to kid as the proverbial needle."

Let your Christmas Money Club check create an immediate estate for you and your loved ones. You can do this by depositing it with the Lincoln Life as the first premium on a life policy at age 25. If you are younger, you can create a larger estate; if older, a smaller estate.

MANY HAVE DONE THIS

Last year many followed this plan and opened a separate Christmas Savings Fund to pay this year's premium. It's an ideal plan, because he who would succeed must save.

"If you would succeed, save. I consider the saving habit to be almost the greatest element in making for a young man's success. It gives him determination and steady purpose and soon introduces system and foresight into his life. These together, form the indispensable ground work of success." —Marshall Field.

WILL RAISE TRACKS TO GRADE OF BRIDGE

New York Central Agrees to Make Change on Harrison Street.

Officials of the New York Central lines have advised the board of works that the tracks of the Lake Shore railroad at Harrison street will be raised to conform to the grade of the north approach to the new Harrison street bridge. The work will be inaugurated at an early day and the tracks raised and the crossing plank so that there will be no difficulties in the way of traffic on Harrison street by the time the new bridge is opened to public use. The raising of the grade of the tracks will eliminate a condition that otherwise would be bad.

LIVING UP TO THEIR BOULEVARD. Property Owners on South Anthony Are Making Improvements.

The property owners on Anthony boulevard, which is now being improved from Pontiac street to Rudisill boulevard, are trying to live up to the dignity and beauty of their stately drive and have got their houses moved back to the designated building line. Many of them are making notable improvements upon their premises, painting, building porches and otherwise taking pains to embellish the prospect. The Moeller Construction company is now at work with a steam shovel and making rapid progress on the work of grading Rudisill boulevard from Bowser avenue to Pontiac street and Anthony boulevard from Rudisill to Pontiac. At an early day Rudisill will be opened and passable from Broadway to Anthony, a distance of three miles.

WOULD ENLARGE McCULLOCH PARK

The board of park commissioners is again importuned by property owners in the region of McCulloch park to acquire the tract of land lying east of that park and extending to the Wabash railway tracks and add it to the park. The property is owned by the Pettit estate, and consists of twenty-three lots, on two of which stand residences. The cost of the property would be about $16,000, according to estimates by the park board. Its acquisition would provide room in the park for tennis courts, a playground and other appointments not now possible in McCulloch park, owing to the fact that it is small and heavily wooded with fine old trees. The financial aspect of the proposed present embarrasment at this time because the park board is short of funds.

HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH IT.

After placards had made their appearance in several business houses, Thursday, bearing the legend, "Fort Wayne With Might and Main—We Use City Light," the city light and power offices were besieged with inquiries to know if the cards, distributed by the Federation of Labor, were being placed by that department. At the city light offices it was stated that that department had nothing whatever to do with the movement, had never been consulted about it and would take no steps in the matter one way or the other. It was also stated that if citizens of Fort Wayne wanted to promote the interests of the city light and power enterprise in that way it was their own affair and all business that came would be taken care of.

WILL DETERMINE DATE BEFORE END OF WEEK

The date for northern Indiana's celebration of the one hundredth birthday anniversary of the state to be held in Fort Wayne will be determined before the end of the week. General Chairman Edward C. Miller is desirous for the date to be set at the earliest possible moment so that the members of the various committees which he will soon name will have something to work on and will be able to plan the celebration more intelligently. It is not at all improbable that the celebration will be held some time in May or the fore part of June.

Announcement of the members of his cabinet and fifteen or twenty other committees will be made by Chairman Miller in a few days. There will be fifty vice presidents and 250 members of an advisory committee. Citizens in every walk in life will be represented and will have a part in the centennial celebration.

Meyers-Braun.

A very pretty wedding took place Thursday evening at the home of Justice of the Peace H. J. Grabner and Mrs. Grabner on Washington boulevard east, when their daughter Ella became the bride of Mr. Joseph Meyers. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father at 7 o'clock in the presence of about sixty guests, and was immediately followed by a wedding supper. The bride was dressed in a gown of tan crepe de meteor trimmed with val lace. She carried white chrysanthemums. The house was decorated very prettily with roses and chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers received many beautiful gifts from their many friends, both being very well known in this city. The bride and groom left late the same evening for a short wedding trip. The bride wore a plain blue tailored suit, with hat, shoes and gloves to match. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers will return in a few days and go to housekeeping in their own home in Taylor street.

REICHSTAG TO SIT LONGER.

London, Dec. 16.—There is every reason to believe that the German reichstag will have to sit much longer than was expected in order to deal with the pressing discontent among the masses, says the Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily News. "In order to appease these clamorings it will need to deal with no fewer than 130 resolutions all relating to the distribution of food, besides resolutions dealing with the social policy, which will require delicate handling, and demands of better pay for the soldiers and sailors and better provisions for the relief of war families."

SOLVING MURDER OF INDIAN HARD TASK

Sherlock Holmes Needed to Find Slayer of "Big Mouth Charley."

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 16.—"Big Mouth Charley," Pit River Indian and hated medicine man of his tribe, is dead. That much officials of Modoc county, in northern California, know. They have known it since last March.

What they still have to learn is just which particular Pit River Indian sent a bullet through "Big Mouth Charley's" lack and ended his earthly pilgrimage. Learning this is some job—a problem worthy of the talents of Mr. Sherlock Holmes.

"Big Mouth Charley"

The officials have gleaned this much information. Charley was hated for years by his tribal brethren. His attempts at cures had failed dismally; his "big medicine" proved useless. Indians died easily in spite of his incantations and weird ceremonies. So it came about that his tribesmen sought his death. They longed for him to die, but feared to kill him. He had a reputation of bearing a charmed life. He had at one time spat out a bullet shot through his jaw by an enemy, ran the legend. A formidable man to deal with.

A council was held to decide a method of disposing of "Big Mouth Charley." In the circle around the magic fire sat 21 Indians. The younger members of the council scorned the idea that a bullet would not do Charley up nicely. But the older chiefs were doubtful.

"No shoot him in head," they advised. "He spit bullet."

The parley lasted into morning hours. It was at last decided that a bullet should be sent into Charley's back.

A bag of beans—twenty red and one white—was placed by the magic fire. An old chief picked it up and started it around the circle. Each Indian drew out a bean and hastily concealed it.

One Indian at the council drew out the white bean—the symbol of death. It was his duty to do away with the hated medicine man.

He did his duty. One day last March Modoc county officials were notified that Charley's body had been found near the town of Alturas. A bullet wound showed in his back.

What the officials must learn is which Indian got the fatal bean. When they learn that, they say, they'll have the murderer of Charley. And they believe, after months of investigation, that they have the man.

A "pale face" grand jury has been summoned.

The Indians are silent. They did not even go to look at Charley's body.

SETTLEMENT BASIS IN SIGHT.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Basis for a settlement of the strike of the six hundred railroad employees of the Clearing switch yards of the Bell railroad, was declared to be in sight today through the efforts of G. W. W. Hanger, of the federal board of mediation and conciliation.

The men demanded that transportation to their work be furnished by the company.

REPUBLICANS DENY IT.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Republicans on the house ways and means committee, in a minority report today, deny that the emergency revenue law is necessary because of war conditions, and assert, instead, that the treasury deficit is due mainly to tariff reductions under the Underwood law.

Superintendent D. C. McComb is visiting the schools in Abbot township today. Wednesday he visited the schools in Cedar Creek township.

Westminster Gazette's Comment on Austrian Reply to United States.

London, Dec. 16.—The Westminster

Gazette says in regard to the Austrian reply to the American note: "Taking its cue from the German correspondence about the Lusitania, Vienna's purpose is clearly to temporize and involve the American government in a tedious exchange of documents until presently the American mind will have forgotten the incident.

"The real question is whether the United States is or is not tired of this kind of thing."

AIRMEN NOW DROPPING GAS BOMBS ON CITIES

Venice, Dec. 2.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The use of asphyxiating gas in the bombs dropped on Venice has added a new terror to aerial raids. These asphyxiating bombs have been used in the trenches, but not until the air raid of Nov. 18, was the deadly gas used in bombs dropped on cities, so far as is known.

The raid occurred near the arsenal, which is the chief point of attack for these raids. None of the bombs, however, fell inside the arsenal grounds. But outside there is an extensive quarter occupied by the poorer people with narrow streets and low houses. It was in this section that the bombs fell, spreading the effect of their fumes among the population. Only one death occurred, but a great number of the poor people suffered from the paralyzing effect of the gas.

The effect of the gas is described as singularly lasting upon the organs affected and on the vitality of the people stricken. Some of the patients remain in a semi-conscious state for four and five days, the face taking on a greenish pallor. The recovery is slow after this, the gases appearing to carry a poison to the whole system.

The appearance of the gas bombs has changed the feeling here about these air raids. At first crowds gathered and watched the hostile airships. Now, however, the widespread effect of a gas bomb has terrified the poorer people and they flee to places of refuge whenever the rumor circulates that the aircraft are coming.

ADAIR TO BE GIVEN ROYAL RECEPTION

Gubernatorial Candidate to Open His Campaign in
This City, Dec. 29.

When Representative John A. M. Adair, of the Eighth district, comes to Fort Wayne, December 29, to open his campaign for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, he will be given a royal reception. Mr. Adair is well known in Fort Wayne and announcement of his candidacy was received here with much rejoicing among democrats.

Representative Adair left Washington, Wednesday, for Indianapolis to begin his campaign and will make one of his first speeches in this city. He is a good speaker, has a pleasing personality and knows how to get votes. He also understands the political game and is regarded by his friends as splendidly qualified for the position he seeks.

Every candidate for the republican gubernatorial nomination has already been here, but doubtless if a straw vote was to be taken among the republicans of the city James P. Goodrich, of Winchester, would be in the lead by a good margin. He has built up a wonderful organization here, which is leaving no stone unturned in promoting his candidacy. The other candidates, however, are not without their friends, and as the campaign progresses, may show up stronger than appears on the surface at the present time.

Randolph county will play no small part in the gubernatorial race in both the democratic and republican parties. Mrs. Adair, wife of Representative Adair, was a Randolph county girl, and Lew Ellingham, who has been slated as Adair's manager, was for years editor of a Randolph county newspaper. Mrs. Ellingham is also a Randolph county girl. James P. Goodrich, candidate for the republican gubernatorial nomination, was born and reared in Randolph county, and is still a resident of that county. In the event of Adair's and Goodrich's nomination, both candidates for governor will be from the Eighth congressional district.

SLACK IS AGREED ON TO SUCCEED DAILEY

Indianapolis, Dec. 16.—According to a special dispatch from Washington, published in the Indianapolis Star this morning, L. Ert Slack, of Indianapolis, will succeed Frank C. Dailey, who announced his intention of resigning yesterday as United States district attorney. The dispatch states that Senators Kern and Shively have agreed on the appointment of Mr. Slack but that they will not make official announcement of his selection until Mr. Dailey's resignation is received.

Mr. Slack said that he had not sought the place and he declared that "it is too early for congratulations." Mr. Dailey said he will forward his resignation whenever Senators Kern and Shively are ready to receive it.

MARSHALL IS WILLING.

Washington, Dec. 16.—He is not a candidate for re-election, but he will accept the nomination if it is accorded him, Vice President Marshall said yesterday. Marshall called at the white house. Asked regarding rumors that he would give up political activities at the close of his term, Marshall said: "I cannot get out of politics because I never have been in."

WILL PRESENT FLAG FRIDAY AFTERNOON

R. and Spanish War Veterans to attend the program to be rendered in connection with the presentation of the national emblem.

Mrs. Hickman will present the gift to the school and A. L. Randall, member of the school board, will receive it. Col. D. N. Foster, Captain William Kelsey and Mrs. Stirk will be the speakers for the afternoon. The school children will render several musical selections.

The flag which is the gift to the school will be one of the largest in the city. Its dimensions are twelve by eighteen feet.

CONGRESSMEN NOW HEAR BOTH SIDES

Washington, Dec. 16.—Woman suffragists and anti-suffragists were heard today by congressional committee. A delegation from the congressional union for woman suffrage urged passage of the Susan B. Anthony federal suffrage amendment before the senate suffrage committee and later before the house judiciary committee as did the National Woman Suffrage association in session here. The National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage also appeared before the house committee. Nominations of officers was the principal business on today's program of the suffrage convention. Interest centered in the selection of a successor to Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the retiring president.

SIR DOUGLAS HAIG SUCCEEDS FRENCH

London, Dec. 16.—(12:15 a. m.)—Field Marshal Sir John French, who at his own request has been relieved of the command of the British forces in France and Flanders, has been succeeded by General Sir Douglas Haig. Since the landing of the expeditionary force Sir Douglas Haig has commanded the first army and has been repeatedly mentioned in dispatches by his chief, whose place he now takes.

Sir John French becomes commander in chief of the armies in the United Kingdom and for his sixteen months' services at the front has been created viscount of the united kingdom.

Sir Douglas Haig is nine years younger than his former chief, and like him won his spurs as a cavalry officer. His first commission was in the seventh hussars, and, as has been the case with most British officers of higher rank, he saw service in the Sudan, India, and Africa.

WITNESS OF MONITOR- MERRIMAC FIGHT DIES

Theodore Geller, Ft. Wayne
at Lake Gage.

Theodore Geller, a resident of Fort Wayne for forty-nine years and an eye witness of the great Monitor-Merrimac naval battle, passed away at the home of his daughter, Miss Louise Geller, at Lake Gage, at 4:40 o'clock Thursday morning, at the age of 77 years. Mr. Geller attended the Marion G. A. R. encampment last year and since that time he had been in failing health. Death was due to dropsy.

The deceased was a civil war veteran, having served during the entire time of the strife as a member of company G, Seventh New York volunteers. MANY GOWNS FROM PARIS.
Imports for December Heaviest in History of Customs Records.

New York, Dec. 16.—Importation of Paris gowns to this country during December has exceeded that for any other corresponding period within the memory of customs officials here. Imports for the trade have increased but most of the gowns have been for private individuals. One of the reasons given is that thousands of Americans in previous years went to Paris and brought over dresses as personal baggage are now buying them on orders with the result that the imports appear in the customs records.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may get a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 66 E. Marcellus avenue, Manhattan, N. Y. Better cut out this article and send it to any others who are ruptured. They may have a life at least.

AUSTRIAN REPLY TO U. S. NOTE DOES NOT SATISFY

into the dispute, which has promise of carrying some weight. That point, however, seems to have been disregarded in Austria's answer, so far as officials can judge from the unofficial text received here.

The American Belief.

American officials believed that taking as a basis the official admission of the Austrian admiral that the Ancona was shelled, torpedoed and sunk while passengers still were aboard, there would be little room for discussion of Secretary Lansing's contention that the commander violated the principles of international law and humanity and that it was "wanton slaughter of defenseless non-combatants."

Officials pointed out today that a thoroughly unsatisfactory and unresponsive reply from Austria would bring diplomatic relations between the two countries to a crisis because of the closing words of Secretary Lansing's note which declared that "good relations between the two countries rest upon a common regard for law and humanity" and that Austria, appreciating the gravity of the case, "will accede to its (the United States) demands promptly."

Note Was Emphatic.

Specifically the note denounced the sinking of the Ancona as an "illegal and indefensible act," demanding the punishment of the commander who "perpetrated the deed" and the payment of an indemnity to those Americans who suffered. The note stands as the most vigorous of all the American correspondence of the war and was not equalled even by the note at the close of the submarine controversy with Germany. Austria's diplomatic relations with the United States since the recall of Ambassador Dumba for his connection with plots to cripple American munitions plants have been maintained by the embassy here with Baron Zweidnek as charge d'affaires.

One official of the state department who spoke with full knowledge of its policy declared positively that the United States would not enter into any exchange of opinion as Austria's reply suggests, and would absolutely refuse to enter into any discussion of the facts.

President Wilson read the outline of the reply as contained in the London dispatches as soon as he reached the executive office but there was no indication of how he regarded it. It was known, however, that both the president and Secretary Lansing regarded the cable extracts while they might be indicative of the whole tone of the reply, as too fragmentary to warrant comment.

In official circles the general impression prevailed that the tenor of the cable extract did not seem to forecast a favorable reply, still in the absence of the official text final opinion was reserved. Until the full text is received and laid before the president the situation may be described as still in suspense. Those officials closest to the president still are of the opinion that a thoroughly unsatisfactory reply from Austria will endanger the continuance of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

WANTS TO DISCUSS IT.

Forecast of Vienna Reply Indicates Its Rejection.

London, Dec. 16.—(6:22 a. m.)—The reply of the Austro-Hungarian government to the note from the United States relative to the sinking of the steamer Ancona by an Austrian submarine was handed to Frederick C. Penfield, United States ambassador at Vienna, on Tuesday, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam to Reuters' Telegram company. The correspondent quotes from the reply as follows:

From the sharpness with which the government of the United States believed it ought to censure the commander of the submarine and from the firmness with which the demands addressed to the Austro-Hungarian government appear to have been brought forward, it could be expected that the American government would clearly give the actual circumstances upon which it relies.

Reasons Not Sufficient. As can be easily recognized the representation of the circumstances contained in the note allows numerous doubts and gives not at all sufficient reasons for blaming the commander of the submarine and the Austro-Hungarian government even if the representation proves correct in all points and judgment in the case is based on the most rigorous legal interpretation.

The American government also omitted to indicate the persons to whose statements it refers, and to whom it apparently believes it must attribute a higher degree of trustworthiness than to a commander of the imperial navy.

Wants "Exchange of Opinion." As to the number, names and the details concerning the fate of the American citizens who in the critical moment were aboard the above mentioned steamer, the note does not give any explanation. But in view of the fact that the Washington cabinet now has given a positive declaration that at the above mentioned incident subjects of the United States came to grief, the Austro-Hungarian government in principle is prepared to enter into an exchange of opinion with the American government. But in the first instance it must raise the question of why this government refrained from a judicially motivated demands stated in the note with regard to the special circumstances of the incriminating incident, which are especially pointed out by the American government, and in the place of such motivation mentioned an exchange of correspondence which it had with another government about another affair.

Asks for More Details. The Austro-Hungarian government is the less able to follow the Washington cabinet in this unusual attitude as it in no way possesses a knowledge of all the correspondence having reference to it. The Austro-Hungarian government also is not of the opinion that this knowledge could be sufficient for the present case which, according to its own information, is materially different from the case or cases to which the American government apparently is referring. Therefore the Austro-Hungarian government must leave it to the Washington cabinet to draw up the individual legal maxims which the commander of the submarine is alleged to have violated when sinking the Ancona.

Finds No Support for Course. The American government also thought it advisable to point out the attitude which the Berlin cabinet in the beforementioned exchange of correspondence had taken. In the highly esteemed note the Austro-Hungarian government finds no support for this course. If the American government should have intended thereby to express an opinion as if a precedent exists for the present case, the Austro-Hungarian government in the heat of battle deals contrary to instructions but nothing of the kind has occurred in this case. "It appears clearly from his report that his ship was in danger, indeed in double danger, first, from the fact that an enemy boat was approaching on a line that threatened to cut off his retreat and the enemy ship and the Ancona could have established his radius of action and could have set a torpedo boat flotilla on him, and second, there was danger of the Ancona escaping, which, according to his instructions was to be prevented in all circumstances. Hence, the conduct of the commander, much as the loss of innocent lives must be regretted and deplored, cannot be disapproved. "On the contrary, if he had departed without destroying the Ancona it would have been failure to do his duty, since the Ancona could have notified other ships of his whereabouts. The loss of American lives is regrettable, as well as that Americans used a vessel belonging to a nation at war with Austria-Hungary."

When in at the opening tomorrow, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., of Foster's New Music Rooms, take occasion, if you desire, to look over their display of Christmas goods.

ly as does each party in case of an election, which puts the nomination out of the reach of a man of ordinary means regardless of his capacity and fitness for the place. To pursue my candidacy further with the hope of success would require a larger expenditure of money than I can afford and the abandoning of my business, which I am not willing to do. While I would appreciate the nomination, and election as United States senator, I am interested in the success of the republican party more than in my own aspirations and I feel that the republicans of the state ought to get behind and nominate a man who can be elected. Having this in view, I wish to say that I have known Captain Harry S. New from his boyhood, when he first became a reporter on the Indianapolis Journal. I served on the republican state central committee when his father, Colonel John C. New, was chairman. He belongs to one of those clean, high-minded, representative families, absolutely reliable in every respect. He has always been an indefatigable worker in anything he undertook, as reporter, as manager of the Indianapolis Journal, and as a business man. He was one of the first to enlist in the Spanish war and became captain and occupied a position that required a high degree of courage and labor as he does to his own business. He is a man of exceptional ability and in every way trustworthy and would make a most excellent senator. If nominated and elected, he would be a credit to the state and the nation.

TIDE OF EMIGRATION LOWEST IN 20 YEARS

Interesting Figures in Report of Department of Labor.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The tide of emigration to the United States ebbed to its lowest point in more than twenty years during the past fiscal year, according to figures made public today in the annual report of Secretary Wilson, of the department of labor. The total number of immigrant aliens, the report shows, fell from 1,218,490 in the previous year to 326,700 in the period ending June 30 last. All admitted aliens, immigrant and non-immigrant, were only 434,244, as compared with 1,403,801 the year before. Departure of aliens, emigrant and non-emigrant likewise shows a notable decrease. For the fiscal year of 1914, departures were 633,805; for 1915, 384,174. The fiscal year of 1915 covers the period of sailing home of reservists from the beginning of the European war till June 30, last. During that time the emigrant alien, presumably including the number sailing to join the colors in Europe, were 204,074, compared with 303,338 the previous twelve months. The non-emigrant aliens, departing totaled those over fourteen who could neither read nor write numbered 36,037; those able to read but not write were 392,180,100 for 1915 and 330,467 for 1914, showing a net decrease for all alien departures of 249,631. Excess of arrivals over departures aliens alone being considered, was only 30,070 in 1915. In 1914, the excess was 769,276. Of the 326,700 immigrant aliens admitted to the United States in the 1915 fiscal year, 52,982 were under fourteen years of age; 244,472 were from 14 to 44 years old, and 29,246 were 45 or over, making the total number of illiterates over fourteen, 35,449, or thirteen per cent. Deported aliens numbered 26,075. This included 24,111 excluded at ports and sent back to their country of origin and 2,564 arrested and expelled from the country. Of those excluded, 2,722 were denied admission because they were contract laborers. Immigrants admitted to the country shovelled to customs officials money in their possession aggregating $10,568,000, an average of $60 each. Each of 62,711 immigrants had more than $50; while 133,744 had less than $50 each. One hundred and ninety thousand claimed to have paid their own passage across the Atlantic; 128,146 said their passage had been paid by relatives, and 7,697 that it had been paid by persons other than relatives. With reference to exclusions, the report asserts: "Conditions during the past year were so abnormal that accurate comparisons with previous years are difficult. Exclusions in 1913 amounted to 1.38 per cent. of the number applying; in 1914 this was increased to 2.3 per cent., and in the past year the increase has been so great as to reach 5.3 per cent."

ROUGH TACTICS PUT NATIONAL BEHIND THE AMERICAN LEAGUE

Baseball Expert Shows Why the Parent Body Made An Inferior Showing In the Season and World's Series Just Past—"It's Because We Have Been Playing An Old Lady's Brand of Ball," Says John McGraw—It Takes the Bumps of Fortune and Misfortune to Make a Tiptop Baseball Circuit

The sorry showing of the National league in the post-season series this fall has opened a broad avenue of discussion of the actual comparative strengths of the two organizations.

Prior to this year it has usually been the opinion that the leagues were evenly balanced, yet this season's post-season series record of 12 games won and one tied out of 15 played for the American league, would seem to indicate that the junior organization is playing a superior kind of baseball.

Most National league men will laugh off this defeat and attribute it to the luck and "breaks" of a short series. That the Red Sox beat the Phils, the White Sox the Cubs and the Browns the Cards does not necessarily mean, these will say, that the American league is superior to the National. A well-known authority admits that he believes such is the case and he specifies reasons why he so thinks.

This authority, whose name is withheld for diplomatic reasons, spoke substantially as follows at the conclusion of the Red Sox victory over the Philadelphia Nationals.

OPINION OF AN EXPERT.
"It comes very near vindicating John McGraw's statement made early in the season that the National league was playing an old lady's brand of baseball."

"Broadly speaking there is too much attention given to the art of barbed repartee and umpire baiting and too little given to hit-and-running, sacrificing and team play in the National league."

"To the eye accustomed to distinguishing class in baseball this difference may not have been noticed but it was there. Even in the case of tail-enders, or near tail-enders like the St. Louis Browns, it was to be noted. In their organization the Browns, who never were considered as a championship contender, played a standard of baseball, which from a scientific angle, was superior to that played by the St. Louis Cardinals, yet at one time the Cards were combating with Brooklyn and Philadelphia for the National league gonfaloniere."

"National league teams generally were so much concerned with getting this and that pitcher's goat, playing verbally to the known weaknesses of certain players and persecuting the umpires that they never had time for anything other than the 'old army game.' In baseball the 'old army game' signifies baseball of the most elemental kind in which each man takes care of himself. It is, in a phrase, baseball with team play eliminated."

CREW OF PIRATES.

"The cause of this deleterious effect may be traced straight to the door of the Boston Braves. They won a National league pennant and a world's championship on a collective vocabulary that would have done credit to a crew of pirates."

"They also had three pitchers and a shortstop and a second baseman."

"Perceiving the success of the Braves' style of play other National league clubs attempted to emulate them in 1915 until the league was one roaring hot-house of language which supplanted the science and team work of other years."

"Veterans like Fred Clarke and Miller Huggins admitted that in more than a decade of major league experience the National league never had been so rough as it was in 1915."

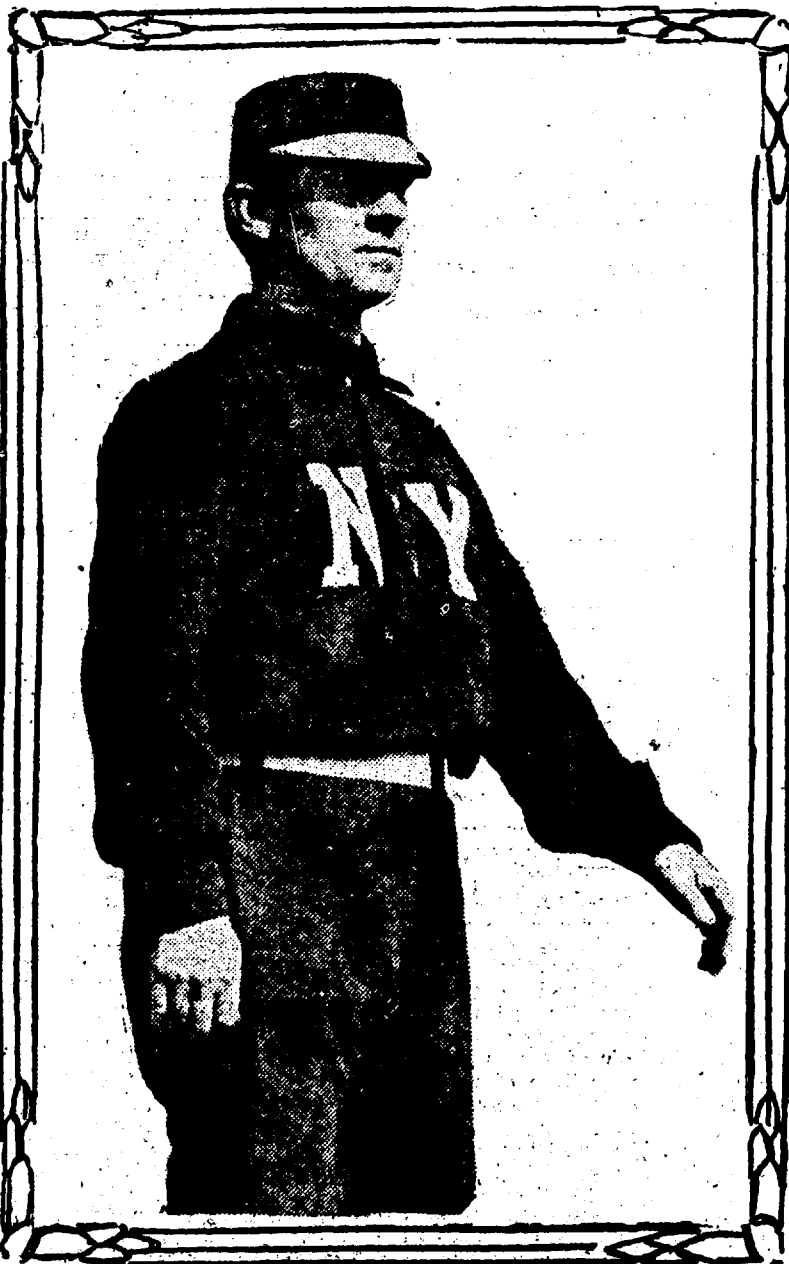

"The few teams that did try to play baseball in the National league cordially hated the Braves for the whirlwind they had set in motion. It was no secret among National leaguers that because the Philadelphia Nationals individually were, a decent set of chaps that they were favored by their own league to win the pennant. There wasn't a team in the National league that didn't play its head off to defeat the Braves. They also tried to beat the Phils. It was square enough. But back of the Braves' game was the memory on the part of most of the players of the arrogance of Stallings and Evers in 1914 and the insults that had been heaped upon the players of other teams.

"Meantime the American league without the rancorous team and player feuds that existed in the National league, concentrated upon advanced baseball and from a purely class standpoint the play in the American league was thrice as well done as in the Nationals.

STOCK TAKING THIRD ON BANCROFT'S SACRIFICE

"Probably the American league played the hit-and-run play five times to the National league's once on the season recently concluded. The batter and the runner worked together instead of separately and in the post-season series this seems to have had the effect that might have been expected."

MORE SCIENTIFIC PLAYS.

"The American league, considered again from a class standpoint, which means advanced baseball, played rings around the National league. The Philadelphia Nationals, even with the superb pitching of Grover Cleveland Alexander would have had a difficult time finishing in the first division in the American league. One would hesitate before picking the Phils to beat out the Detroit Tigers, Chicago White Sox or Washington Senators. The Red Sox already have conclusively showed their superiority over the National leaguers."

"On the other hand a team with the ebullient attack of the New York Yankees probably would have been a sure one-two-three shot in the National league. There was greater speed afoot on the New York Yankees than was there on the Philadelphia Nationals though the latter club won a pennant while the Yanks finished fifth in their own organization."

"The concentrated attack of even such a lowly team as the Yanks would have been a novelty in the National league, with its wild harangues and umpire baiting. That it would have been attended by a meed of success is reasonable to suppose, judging from the results in this season's post-schedule series."

REACTION EXPECTED.

"Next season will see a reaction in the National league. The better type of players are sickened of the kind of baseball that is ushered in with the Zimmermans, Evers, et al. Their unwarranted umpire baiting has sickened the better type of players in their league. These want to play baseball and they are not interested in the forensic attack of a Herzog."

"These players are in the majority. They realize that their grand old league has suffered from too much rough stuff. From now on the National league will play more and talk less. It is now realized that the 1914-15 example of the Boston Braves has been a particularly bad one to follow."

"It is a baseball paradox, however, that the league which indubitably displayed the most class drew less at the 'gate' than the National league. The reason is found in the closeness of the race in the National league. At least seven clubs had a chance at the pennant until the final few weeks of the season. Then the race lay among three clubs."

"The rooster did not hear the line of invective hurled from one team to another. What he saw in the National league were teams that apparently were fighting every inch of the way—which they were—and he liked it. Could the average spectator be a direct auditor to some of the diamond diatribes of some few of the players his ardor might have been cooled. This rough-neckism fortunately is in its declining days."

A MATTER OF METHOD.

There is no particular reason why the American or National league ever should have the bulge one upon the other in class. Each of the leagues recruit their clubs from colleges and minor leagues and each has an equal opportunity to get raw material and develop it.

It is evident if the American league is superior in class to the National, this superiority is predicated upon development after the player has reached the majors.

In other words, the American league managers seem to be better teachers than the National league pilots. If not, 1915 would tend to prove that the American managers gave more time to teaching than the National leaguers."

For one thing, the American league managers have made speed more of a cult than their rivals and have been successful with it. Eliminating the rough stuff and getting back to baseball upon an advanced scale, it will take the National league not more than a season to re-establish itself as a class rival of the American. But this last season's post-schedule games proved that the American league at present maintains an advantage."

Unsettled weather gave a lift to corn. After opening a shade off to 1/4¢ up, the market made good gains all around. The close was strong, 2 1/2 to 3¢ above yesterday's finish.

Oats developed firmness with corn. Trade though was almost entirely local. Provisions lardened in value despite lower prices on hogs. Offerings were meagre, and failed to satisfy the scattering orders to buy.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Dec. 15.—More normal conditions prevailed on the resumption of trading today, yesterday's heavy dealings in Anglo-French war bonds being lacking. Initial advances included mercantile marine preferred and Louisville and Nashville, each gaining a point or more. U. S. Steel changed hands in 1,000 to 2,500 shares at a fraction under yesterday's close.

Special stocks were feverishly active in the first hour, with considerable profit taking in the petroleum issue. Baldwin Locomotive and Studebaker, those shares reacting down to three points while General Motors made an abrupt decline of 15. Steel also was irregular, falling from 84 1/2 to 85 1/2, while rails drifted to lower levels. Dealings were again limited to professional traders. Sales of Anglo-French bonds were in steadily diminishing volume, with quotations virtually unchanged. War stocks were the feature of the second hour on a large improvement, but fell off again toward noon. Bonds were lower.

In the selling movement of the last hour practically all early gains were lost. The closing was heavy.

May, we are going to have two thousand home-grown trees for our trade this year, all sizes. Come in and see them.

IN THE CHURCHES

COMES TO IMMANUEL

BAPTIST JANUARY 1

Rev. J. B. Bair, of South

Whitley Takes Charge

First of Year.

Rev. J. B. Bair, pastor of the Baptist church at South Whitley has accepted the call extended to him by the members of the congregation of Immanuel Baptist church, of this city. He will assume charge of his new duties the first of the new year, or as soon thereafter as is possible.

The new pastor has been a minister of the gospel in the Baptist church for thirty-five years and during that time has held charges in various parts of Indiana. He has been at South Whitley for three years, where through his efforts, the church of that place prospered greatly. Previous to that he was in charge of churches at Poneto, Montpelier and cities in the southern part of the state. He has been a member of the Logansport Baptist association nearly all the time during his ministry.

Rev. Bair was born in Virginia but early in life moved to Indiana. His family settled in Miami county, seven miles from Peru. He received his early education at this place and when yet a young man entered the ministry.

The Immanuel Baptist church is located on Oliver street, south of Pontiac, and was formerly the Oliver street mission. Under the leadership of Rev. John Walton the congregation grew to such an extent that it was self-supporting. The name was then changed shortly after the Lyon evangelistic meetings last spring. A month ago Rev. Walton resigned his position as pastor of the congregation to enter the evangelistic field and since that time the church has been without a pastor.

JUDGMENT FOR MRS. DREXEL.

British Court Rules in Favor of American Woman.

London, Dec. 16.—A judgment in favor of Margarita Armstrong Drexel, wife of the American banker, Anthony J. Drexel, was rendered today in her suit to recover money under a separation deed. The point involved was Mr. Drexel's motion to set aside the service of a notice of a writ by the wife to recover money due under the deed on the ground that his domicile was France and that therefore he was outside the jurisdiction of the English courts.

AUSTRIAN REPLY TO U. S. NOTE DOES NOT SATISFY; BREAK WITH VIENNA NEAR

Proposal to "Exchange Opinions" Does Not Meet With Favor in Washington, But Official Comment and Action Awaits Arrival of Official Text—Will Decline to Enter Into Discussion of Facts in Case of Torpedoed Liner.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Austria's reply to Secretary Lansing's note on the Ancona is regarded, on the basis of the unofficial reports received today from London and Amsterdam, as wholly unsatisfactory, unacceptable and disappointing to the United States.

Diplomatic relations between the two countries may safely be described as standing at the breaking point.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing are reserving comment until they have the official translation and text at hand, but it is stated authoritatively that the United States will enter into no exchange of opinions as the Vienna foreign office is represented as suggesting and absolutely will decline to discuss the facts of the torpedoing and the shelling of the Ancona by an Austrian submarine.

No Official Word.

No official word had reached the state department today that the Austrian reply had been delivered to American Ambassador Penfield, but the news dispatches containing excerpts were taken in official quarters as sufficient evidence that the rejoinder is on its way to Washington. From such part of the unofficial text as is contained in the news dispatches officials considered the reply vague in many respects, but they were not prepared to decide whether that was caused by the translation.

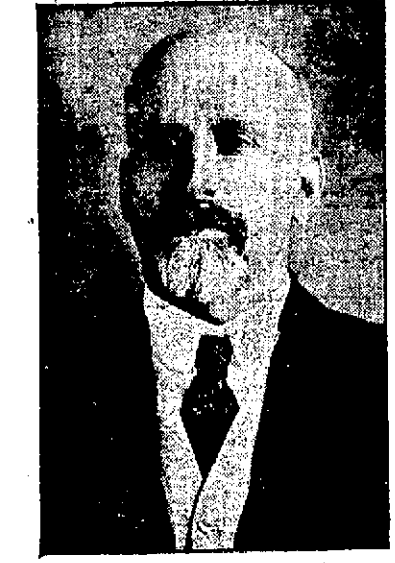

Will Be Refused.

The suggestion for an exchange of opinions, the virtual request for a bill of particulars of the American complaint against the action of the submarine commander and the proposal for a discussion of the facts were clearly set forth, however, in the unofficial text and officials of the state department, who have knowledge of its policy in the crisis, unhesitatingly declared that all would be refused.

Outline is Disappointing.

The outline of the reply was disappointing because some American officials had been led to believe by predictions from Germanic quarters that it would be favorable, or at least would propose something which the United States could accept. As Secretary Lansing based the representations in his note upon the official statement of the Austrian admiralty itself, American officials are at a loss to understand

New Pastor Comes to Ft. Wayne Church

RAIL BANDITS ROB MAIL CAR

Hold Up Train in Arkansas But Do Not Molest Passengers.

WRECK EXPRESS CAR IN CRACKING SAFE

Force Mail Clerks to Open Door by Threat to Kill Engineer.

Mena, Ark., Dec. 16.—South-bound passenger train on the Kansas City Southern railroad was held up between Eagleton and Acorn, small stations near here early today by three robbers. They blew open the safe in the express car. The loot according to railroad officials consisted of four registered packages of small value. The passengers were not molested.

The scene of the hold-up is in the rugged mountain country of Arkansas. As the train approached a sharp turn in the road Engineer C. E. Covert saw a man standing on the track swinging a lantern.

As Covert brought his train to a stop the robbers covered him with revolvers and ordered him to uncouple the express and mail cars. Covert was then forced to run the detached part of his train two miles to a secluded part of the country.

The express car was wrecked by a heavy charge of explosive which the robbers applied to the safe. The bandits did not stop to pick up anything, but turned quickly to the mail car. At the first sign of trouble the mail clerks had locked the doors.

"Open up or we will kill your engineer," shouted one of the robbers as he pounded on the door but there was no reply. Then one of the bandits placed a revolver to Covert's head.

"Tell 'em to open up or you're a goner," the robber said. The clerks opened the door and the bandits sprang into the mail car and selected four packages from the registered pouch. Four rifles, carried for the protection of the clerks were picked up by the robbers as they fled.

JOHNSON IS HOPEFUL OF BASEBALL PEACE

Says Plan Differs Much from Those Discussed in Public.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—President Johnson, of the American league, who left today with the committee of the American league for the New York meeting which may bring peace to the warring baseball clubs, had a hopeful view of the situation as he boarded the train.

"The peace plan under consideration is practical," he said, "and it differs considerably from plans which have been discussed in public. I cannot discuss the specific terms."

Among reports which floated around headquarters before the departure of the peace messengers was an assertion that two of the American league teams would change hands as part of the peace plan. It was almost authoritatively announced that Charles Weegman, president of the Chicago Federals, would become the owner of the Chicago Nationals and that he would have as partner a man new to baseball and that the club would move to North Side ball park, the home of the Federal league.

DR. DINNEN FIRST TO GET NEW AUTO LICENSE

Dr. James M. Dinnen is again believed to be the first Fort Wayne car owner to receive the new annual automobile license, the numbered plates for 1916 having arrived Thursday. Dr. Dinnen's number is 10. In other years Dr. Dinnen has had No. 7 and No. 8.

The license plate is much handsomer than those of the past year. It has black lettering on a background of creamy white.

Widow of Former County Auditor Long Resident of Allen County.

Mrs. Sarah T. Niezer, widow of the late J. B. Niezer, former auditor of Allen county and for many years a resident of Monroeville and Fort Wayne, died at 4:30 o'clock Thursday morning at her home, 824 West Wayne street. Mrs. Niezer was 70 years of age.

She was very widely known and universally held in the highest respect and esteem for her lovable Christian character and her womanly graces. Mrs. Niezer's death was not unexpected as she had been critically ill for the past few days, taking to her bed a week ago last Tuesday, December 7. However, she had been suffering from stomach trouble for many years, being subject to severe attacks from time to time.

Mrs. Niezer was born March 22, 1845, in Philadelphia and was the daughter of Thomas and Mary McGlooney Eyan-son. At the age of twenty years she moved to Roanoke, where she resided for a short time, going from there to Monroeville. It was here where she met Mr. Niezer and on April 28, 1868, was married to him at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception of this city.

The deceased was a devout member of the Cathedral ever since 1908 when she moved to this city. She was also a member of the St. Vincent de Paul and Rosary societies of this same congregation and of the Altar society of St. Rose.

Her relatives include a sister, Mrs. Julia Heller, and the following children: John T., Maurice C., Charles M., George B., and Miss Margaret C. Niezer and Mrs. Frank A. Kneiff, all of this city. Six grandchildren also survive her.

Funeral services Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence and at 9 o'clock at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception; interment at the Catholic cemetery.

BIG AUTO CONCERN MERGER COMING SOON

Peru, Ind., Dec. 16.—Negotiations are said to be nearly completed for the merger of several automobile parts concerns and automobile companies in this state in a $20,000,000 company. The Peru Automobile Parts company, of this city, has sent letters to its local stockholders offering to buy up the local stock at $200 a share, which is double its par value or to take them in to the new company.

It is said in Peru manufacturing circles the Cole Motor Car company, the Inter-State Motor Car company and the Auburn Motor Car company are some of the concerns in the reorganization.

NO NEW ATTACHES BEFORE WAR ENDS

Washington, Dec. 16.—In the light of reliable information received here today it is regarded as doubtful whether the successors of Captains Boy-Ed and von Papen, withdrawn German naval and military attaches, will be appointed by Emperor William until the end of the war.

Count von Bernstorff, the American ambassador, is understood to believe that should successors be appointed they would immediately become the subject of criticism to their detriment and to the impairment, perhaps, of the general situation. At any event successors would not be named until the withdrawn attaches reached Germany.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Reports have reached Rome that extensive preparations have been made for a Turco-German campaign against the Suez canal and Egypt. Only 50 miles of the railway from Damascus to Sinai peninsula are to be rebuilt and all measures have been made to insure water. It is said that 300,000 Turkish troops already have been concentrated for the operations.

Turkish gains against the British at Gut-el-Amara on the Tigris are reported by the Constantinople government. It is claimed that Turkish artillery fire sank a British monitor on the river.

According to London advices from Saloniki the Anglo-French forces there now total 200,000 men.

It is reported in Paris that the stock of gold held by the bank of France has reached the record figure of $1,000,000,000.

According to a dispatch from Berlin the Bulgarian official report of Dec. 15 states that the Bulgarian troops "temporarily" stopped at the Greek border their pursuit of the allied forces.

The Austrians apparently are not slackening in their pursuit of those parts of the Serbian army that retired to Montenegro and of the Montenegrin forces co-operating with them. Berlin reports that Austro-Hungarian troops have penetrated as far as the vicinity of Bjelopole, on the Lim river, about 20 miles west of the Serbian border and some forty miles northwest of Ipek.

Reports from Athens state that a Serbian division escorting 18,000 Austrian prisoners has arrived at Tirana and Elbasan in Albania.

Germans are to be appointed to two places in the Turkish administration according to a news agency dispatch from Athens, the places named being under secretarships of state in the finance and police departments.

Sofia, Dec. 16.—A neutral zone extending two kilometers on each side of the frontier has been agreed upon between Greece and Bulgaria, according to an official announcement made here today. The official announcement says: "Bulgarian armies, by the capture of Monastir and Resna, having approached the Greek frontiers, the Bulgarian government wishing to avoid any possibility of accidents between advanced posts and the Greek frontier guards, proposed to the Greek government that a neutral zone be formed by the retreat of the troops on each side two kilometers from the frontier."

"Greece replied, accepting, and the war minister ordered the Greek authorities to co-operate with Bulgarian soldiers for the formation of the neutral zone."

THINK GERMANS WILL HALT.

Paris, Dec. 16.—The Havas correspondent at Athens quotes the Journal of Embros as saying that the British military authorities regard it as likely that military operations will be suspended for some time at the Greek frontier, the Germans not having sufficient forces to pursue the entente allied troops. The German and Bulgarian forces which were at Monastir, the newspaper adds, have left in the direction of Givigli.

The Rev. Herbert Scott Smith, pastor of the Episcopal church, Mr. Galt attends, will officiate. President Wilson is a Presbyterian. VIOLATORS OF GAME LAWS ARE ARRESTED

James Daffon and Cam Harrison Forgo to Get Their Licenses.

On complaint of Jacob Havel, of Rome City, deputy game warden, filed in the court of Justice of the Peace Henry J. Grabner, James Daffon and Cam Harrison were arrested Thursday by Constable Hughes charged with hunting without licenses. The two men were caught hunting by the deputy game warden Wednesday west of Lake Everett and when he approached them Daffon ran at full speed and succeeded in making his escape. He was apprehended Thursday, however, and with Harrison, who surrendered voluntarily, will be given a hearing in Justice Grabner's court.

Notes of Justice Courts.

Perry Valentine, colored, was given a judgment for $1.50 in the court of Justice M. J. Taney, Wednesday afternoon, for hauling two loads of rubbish for James P. Smith, residing on Clinton street. Valentine claimed to have hauled five loads and was to have received seventy-five cents a load.

The case against Kim Smith, trainmaster for the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, has been continued for the "seventh time" in the court of Justice Grabner, this time to December 21 at 2 p. m. Smith is charged with provoking.

Edward C. Howe has filed a provoke charge in Justice Grabner's court against John Doe, true name unknown. Doe is or was at the time of stated provoke charge, in the employ of the traction company and was operating a street car, says the affidavit.

WILLING WORKERS WANT CHRISTMAS TREE

The Willing Workers' Aid society, a non-sectarian and non-salaried charitable organization maintaining headquarters at 2006 Fairfield avenue, will give a Christmas treat to needy poor children on Christmas afternoon. The society will play host to a multitude of small tots and in order that its plans may be carried out a tree is needed to decorate the home. The Willing Workers therefore appeal to one of their numerous friends for the donation of a tree not to exceed nine feet in height. Contributions of candy, fruit, etc., also will be appreciated.

The Willing Workers have heretofore made an appeal for funds to be used in the purchase of a permanent home and an automobile. They request that no money be given solicitors. Later a place will be designated where contributions for this purpose may be made and an officer of the society authorized to receive them.

Mrs. F. J. Kanaga, 328 East Williams street, is president, and Mrs. A. Burkas, 812 Erie street, secretary of the society. Money given to these officers will be accepted for.

OLDS RETIRES FROM CONTEST

Ft. Wayne Man Quits Race for Republican Senatorial Nomination.

URGES FRIENDS TO SUPPORT NEW

Under New Primary Law, He Says, Too Much Time is Required.

Urging his friends to support Colonel Harry S. New, of Indianapolis, Judge Walter Olds on Thursday announced his withdrawal from the race for the republican senatorial nomination.

For some time Judge Olds has had under serious consideration the action announced Thursday inasmuch as under the new primary law much time and money would be required and he did not feel that he would be justified in abandoning his legal practice, as he would have had to do.

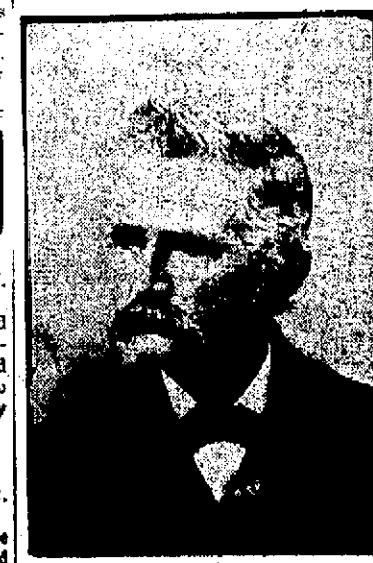

His Formal Announcement.

Judge Olds' announcement of his retirement from the race directed to the republicans of Indiana is as follows:

"Some months ago I determined to become a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator. At the time, I thought I had a fairly wide acquaintance over Indiana, and since that time I have given my candidacy such publicity by correspondence and otherwise as I deemed consistent and proper as a candidate for the office, and have been assured of a large support from all parts of the state. There have been numerous republican meetings held over the state, which candidates were expected to attend, and requests for my presence at various points in the state which I found it impossible to accept without absolutely abandoning my business and neglecting the interests of my clients. I had expected to give my time for two or three months previous to the primary elections to visiting the different portions of the state and meeting the republicans, but it seems that because of the democratic primary law for the nomination of United States senator and other officers there is a demand upon each candidate to advertise, finance and perfect an organization as complete

WARREN'S LAWYERS HAVE WITHDRAWN

Attorney for Poor Will Defend Check Artist in Trial, Dec. 29.

In the circuit court, Thursday, Emrick & Emrick gave notice of the withdrawal of their appearance for Charles L. Warren, the check artist, poppy Midas and lady killer, and Herbert L. Somers, of Somers & Kennerk, Allen county attorneys for the poor, was appointed to defend him and thereupon entered his appearance for the prisoner. By agreement of Prosecutor H. H. Hilgemann and Attorney Somers the trial was postponed until December 29, when it will be heard by a jury. The trial had been set for Friday, the 17th inst. It is not believed that there will be a change of venue from the county, though there have been rumors that Warren did not want to trust his fate to an Allen county court and jury. Beniah Youse-Warren, with whom Warren went through a marriage ceremony at Michigan City, October 15, is said to be awaiting the disposal of the case against Warren to bring action either for divorce or annulment of marriage, as the circumstances may dictate. Warren is said to have a wife in Leawort, Kas., where he was known as H. J. Gifford.

Short Work of Forger.
George Redmond was arraigned in the circuit court, Thursday, on a charge of forgery, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two to four years in the Indiana state prison and fined $10 and costs. Redmond had nothing to say except that his crime was due to drink, to which he admits he is periodically addicted. Redmond was arrested Tuesday night at the Washburn station by Patrolman Frank Cheveron just as Redmond was about to board a train for St. Louis after having passed on the ticket agent a forged check for $25 and receiving change in cash. The check was issued on the Hamilton National Bank, was signed with the name of "F. R. E. Kelly," and payable to George Redmond. Two other forged checks precisely similar have turned up since Redmond's arrest. He has been a convict in the Minnesota state prison for forgery. He gives his occupation as a chef and his age as 37 years.

Receiver for Food Company.
The last of several suits recently filed against the Cream of Wheat company, a food manufacturing concern of this city, with $500,000 capital and a plant at New Haven, six miles east, was filed into Wednesday afternoon by Altha G. Flinders, and in it is petitioned for a receiver, Henry Brunning, Jr., chief deputy in Sheriff A. C. Gladioux's office, was appointed receiver and has qualified and taken charge of the company's affairs. Flinders' complaint says he is the owner of ten shares of stock in the corporation and he wants an accounting so that the corporation's assets may be determined. He sets forth that the company was at first capitalized for $10,000 and then increased to $50,000. Of the stock $25,000 was sold, $20,000 of which was paid in and there remains $5,000 outstanding. He alleges that on top of a mortgage of $1,500 held against the company there are debts of $4,000. The mortgage covers real estate and machinery valued at $3,000. There remain in Allen county but two of the original directors, the others having moved away or resigned. The company never has begun operations. Its new brick factory building in New Haven was badly damaged a few months ago by a severe windstorm. Its stock has been sold mainly to farmers of Adams township. Suits against the company for over $100,000 are already pending and others are threatened. William C. Ryan is attorney for Flinders. Judge Yaple, in the superior court Thursday, authorized Receiver Brunning to incur indebtedness not to exceed $100 for the purpose of procuring insurance and buying coal.

Notes of the Courts.
Ernest W. Cook has begun suit in the superior court against Spiro Christ, Atanas Christ and Thomas Christ for specific performance of contract and the recovery of $2,050. The suit is based on a contract for the purchase of real estate.

attention of the Athens and Saloniki correspondents of the British press. There are 200,000 entente troops at Saloniki, according to the Daily Mail, whose Saloniki correspondent says that the retreat of the entente allies was so brilliantly carried out that the large forces of Bulgarians were unable to overtake and defeat them. In fact, the Bulgarians were so deceived by the rapidity of the maneuvers and the precision of the movements of the entente troops that they lost much time in bombarding certain positions near Strumitza, which the French forces had abandoned the preceding day. According to the correspondents of the Times and the Morning Post the entente forces will halt on the line from Karasuli, on the Vardar river, to Kilitir, Greece, which they will try to hold until the Saloniki positions are fortified. This line already is fortified and there is a strong force made up mostly of cavalry to the north and northeast of Kilitir, on the Doiran railway. The correspondent of the Morning Post adds the interesting statement, on the authority of the Bulgarian minister at Athens, as quoted in a published interview, that Giurgeli and Doiran, southern Serbia, both of which are in the hands of the Teutonic allies, will be surrendered to Greece. He says nothing about Monastir, however.

In London the retirement of Field Marshal Sir John French from command of the British forces in France temporarily overshadows other war news. The new commander-in-chief, Sir Douglas Haig, who is almost the youngest general in the British army, enters upon his duties with a high reputation. He has seen more hard fighting than any other general in the British army.

PANICKY AT SALONIKI.

Berlin, Dec. 16.—"Panicky conditions prevail in Saloniki," says an announcement issued today by the Overseas News agency. "The population fearing violence from the troops of the entente after the departure of the Greek forces. The prospects of a siege of the town are also regarded with alarm and the attitude of Serbians refugees in the city is considered suspicious. The German and Austrian colony is preparing to leave."

TAKES REFUGE IN ITALY.

Paris, Dec. 16.—It is reported from Rome that King Peter, of Serbia, driven from his country by the Teutonic invasion, will take refuge in Italy. A Rome dispatch to the Matin says the king has accepted Italy's offer of the palace at Caserta, near Naples, which is now being prepared for his use.

BEWARE OF SUBSTITUTES

DISCOVERED!—T. R.'S NAME FOR WILSON

"Byzantine logothete," as Col. Roosevelt used it in reference to President Wilson, is a term of profound contempt, explained Prof. Basil Gildersleeve, retired professor of Greek at Johns Hopkins university and the foremost classical student in America. "It is derived," he says, "from a Greek word, logothetes, meaning a scrivener, who draws up papers. It is the name of a subordinate who does the work of a secretary and holds purely a minor position."

"I think Roosevelt raked up this scathing term from some history he had probably read recently. It is by no means a commonly known word."

The remains of Mrs. Esther Van Horn, who died at her home in Fort Wayne, were interred in the O. O. F. cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

STRONG AND WELL AS EVER.

Fred Smith, 325 Main St., Green Bay, Wis., says: "I suffered a long time with a very weak back. Foley Kidney Pills completely relieved me of all soreness and pain and I now am strong and well as ever." Winter aggravates symptoms of kidney trouble; cold weather makes aching joints, sore muscles and irregular bladder action more unbearable. Foley Kidney Pills help the kidneys eliminate pain-causing poisons.—Dreier Drug Co.

ANTI-LIQUOR FORCES ACTIVE.

Civic League at Goshen Offers $50 Reward for Each Conviction.

Goshen, Ind., Dec. 16.—The Civic League of Goshen, composed of representatives from the various Bible classes of the ten churches in the city, has posted a standing reward of $50 for each conviction for a violation of the liquor laws here.

League members declare that some Goshen druggists and others are flagrantly violating the statutes.

Cyril L. E. Wilson, a druggist, recently was found guilty of selling whisky in quart lots without requiring the buyer to sign the required application. Darr Robinson, clerk at the Wilson store, also is a defendant in two cases of alleged illegal sales. Everett Ball, who pleaded guilty to "bootlegging," is serving a sentence in the county jail.

Goshen has been without licensed saloons since July 31 as a result of "dry" winning a local option election.

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind and You Save $2. Fully Guaranteed

This home-made cough syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Its promptness, ease and certainty in conquering distressing coughs, chest and throat colic, is really remarkable. You can actually feel it take hold. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough—relieves even whooping cough attacks. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you—at a cost of only 54 cents—a full pint of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.50. Takes but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils.

You will be pleasantly surprised how quickly it loosens dry, hoarse or tight coughs, and heals the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, be sure and ask your druggist for "2½ ounces Pinex," and don't accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Agreement With San Blas Indians Begins to Yield Fruit.

Panama, Dec. 15.—A start in the colonization of the San Blas, or "forbidden" coast of Panama has been made in conformity with recent agreements made between the San Blas Indians and the government of the republic. President Porras had granted a concession to James M. Hyatt, an American, of Colon, to establish a large farming colony on the shores of Mandinga Bay, about 50 miles east of Colon.

The contract grants Mr. Hyatt 50 hectares of land on which the new town is to be built. Immediately adjacent to the town site there are 5,000 hectares, or 12,500 acres, of good agricultural lands that will be sold to the colonists at very reasonable rates. This is to be sold in ten and twenty hectare tracts at prices fixed by the government. The town lots are to be sold under the same conditions.

The land is located on the western edge of the "forbidden coast" and lies along the shores of Mandinga Bay where the San Blas Indians are the most friendly to foreigners. The farm lands are in the valley of Navandi river and are said to be very rich and fertile.

This will be the first serious effort to open this coast to settlement by foreigners. It has been closed since the early Spanish conquest, the San Blas Indians having consistently resented the intrusion of all foreigners.

Fishermen on the Isthmus have completed the organization of the Canal Zone Tarpon club. It will have a clubhouse of its own not far removed from the Spillway at Gatun, which is the site of the club members' sport.

Shortly after the spillway was completed it was found that many large tarpon come up the Chagres river from the sea to feed on the fresh water fish that come over the spillway from Lake Gatun. Since then this has provided excellent sport for the canal fishermen. One fish weighing more than 75 pounds has been taken with rod and line.

ENGAGE IN SHOTGUN DUEL.

Madison Man and His Son-in-Law in Combat After Quarrel.

Madison, Ind., Dec. 16.—C. C. Henry, 55, is believed to be fatally wounded and his son-in-law, Gamaliel Lockridge, 40, will lose an arm as a result of a shotgun duel the two men fought near here yesterday. Henry and Lockridge had quarreled about the management of Henry's farm, on which Lockridge lived, it is said.

TANLAC Carguing Ship in a South American Port

As Men Labor in the Far Northland for Pure Products, So Do They Toil in the Mountains of South America

The accompanying illustration shows the transporting of ingredients that go into the compounding of Tanlac, the remarkable new medicine that reaches the seat of stomach, liver and kidney ailments and even catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes, which, if unchecked, often affect the vital organs themselves.

As men labor in the far northland, so do they toil on the heights of the Andes mountains of South America to obtain the roots, herbs, barks and flowers that are compounded in the Tanlac laboratories by Herr Joseph Trembach, the noted chemist, into the Premier Preparation of absolute purity.

Tanlac is made up wholly of vegetable ingredients, and therefore is free from any mineral taint. Down to the port of Buenos Aires in the far south, and to Panama at the Isthmus, natives bring the Tanlac ingredients for shipment to the United States.

Caribs, the black-skinned aborigines of the Caribbean sea, whose guttural dialect has no alphabet, gather their canoes loaded with herbs gathered in the hills of Spanish Honduras alongside the big freighters, and other black men with mule caravans, come down the long mountain trails with barks and flowers found high among the clouds.

Other men are laboring in other countries and under different conditions to bring to America the products of the Alps, Apennines, Pyrenees, Russian Asia, Jamaica, Persia, India, and other far away lands, the ingredients that go to make up the Master Medicine that is being taken by more than one million Americans, many of whom live in Fort Wayne.

DRAYMAN FINDS NEW ENERGY IN TANLAC

Clifford Clark, a well known drayman and freight hauler of this city, who lives on rural route No. 7, is one of the many Fort Wayne people who have indorsed Tanlac, the Master Medicine. Mr. Clark said:

"I have suffered with catarrh of the head and with stomach trouble for a long time. I had dull pains in the back of my head; my throat was sore, and I coughed severely. My head felt stuffy and I wheezed almost continually. I suffered from bloating, after eating, which, I was told, was caused from intestinal trouble.

"I have just finished my first bottle of Tanlac and feel like a different man. After the first few doses I began improving and now my head has cleared, the dull headaches have disappeared, and the bloating sensation has been relieved. The cough, also, is much better and I do not wheeze so much now.

"I have more life and energy than I have had for a long time, and I believe I got more actual good out of a bottle of Tanlac than I have from any medicine I have taken in ten years."

DECLARES HE FEELS BETTER EVERY WAY

J. E. Davis, well known employee of the Wildwood Lumber Co., who lives at 208 West Wayne street, this city, recently said regarding Tanlac, the Master Medicine:

"After suffering from catarrh of the head and nose and from stomach and bowel trouble for many years, Tanlac has given me relief at last. For a long time my nose was so dry that it pained me to breathe and I had to breathe through my mouth almost entirely. There was a constant full feeling in my head and I frequently had headaches. I also suffered from nervousness and sleeplessness and had fever nearly every evening. My appetite was poor and after eating I often had pains in my stomach.

"Since taking Tanlac I feel better in every respect. The dryness in my nose has disappeared and my head is clear. I can breathe through my nostrils without pain, the headaches are a thing of the past and the stomach trouble has been relieved. I have a good appetite now, and, after I eat, I am not troubled with pains in my stomach. In fact, Tanlac has straightened me out entirely in a few days. And I intend to continue its use."

TANLAC BEATS TRIPLE FOES

Mrs. A. G. Ham, Wife of Salesman, Finds a Relief After Two Years.

Mrs. A. G. Ham, wife of a well known salesman for the Toledo Scale Co., 522 Calhoun street, and who lives at 906 Barr street, recently said concerning Tanlac, the Master Medicine:

"I suffered from a triple affliction—kidney and bowel trouble, and rheumatism—for two years. I was told that I had chronic poisoning of the kidneys. I had intense pain across the back and hips. At times the pain was so intense it almost drove me insane. I was badly constipated. The rheumatism, which was of the inflammatory order, gave me much trouble.

"Before I began taking Tanlac I hadn't had a good night's sleep in more than a year. My appetite was poor. I lost weight and strength with alarming rapidity. My condition became generally debilitated.

"I read in the papers where people of my acquaintance had been benefited by Tanlac and decided to try it. I have taken just two bottles of Tanlac and feel better than I have for two years. The rheumatic pains have disappeared. Those terrible pains in my hips and back, due to kidney trouble gradually became less and less and now are entirely gone.

"I eat better and sleep better than I have for two years. Tanlac has given me complete relief from a trouble that made life hardly worth the living and I'm so thankful that this wonderful medicine fell into my hands. I feel like a different woman."—Advertisement.

BAILEY TELLS TANLAC MERITS

Master Medicine is Successful Because It Brings Results.

BEST PEOPLE NOW USE PREPARATION

Predicts Demand Will Be Even Larger in Near Future.

"If I have been successful with Tanlac," says C. H. Bailey, "it is because the preparation contains real merit."

"Tanlac is the result of many years of arduous study by one of the foremost chemists in America, who watched its development from the beginning of the experimental stage to its present high state of efficiency. "In cases of catarrhal affections of the mucous membrane, stomach, liver and kidney complaints, I believe there is nothing so far discovered that will equal the action of Tanlac."

"Every day some one suggests something that may tend to better our conditions, whether it may appertain to our health, our business or our sociological state. It has, therefore, been my pleasure this time to offer to the world Tanlac."

"When I came to Fort Wayne I stated that the success of Tanlac would be as great in this city as it has been elsewhere. I offered Tanlac on its merits, knowing full well that it would prove satisfactory if properly tested."

"The success the preparation has achieved in Fort Wayne and vicinity is ample evidence that my confidence in Tanlac is well placed."

"A large percentage of your best people are now using the preparation, and they are daily testifying to its excellent worth as a medicine of exceptional value in instances of catarrh stomach, liver and kidney derangements, nervous debility and in cases where a superior tonic is required."

"It is true that the demand for Tanlac has been large, but no larger than I expected. Fort Wayne is only awakening to an appreciation of the full value of such a preparation. Tanlac's success in your city will be ever greater."

ENGINEER OF FIRE DEPARTMENT AIDED

E. B. Lepper, well known engineer of the Fort Wayne fire department, who is stationed at No. 4 engine house, and who lives at 1212 Maumee avenue, recently said regarding Tanlac:

"I am 57 years old and have been troubled for fifteen years with acid on my stomach. It seemed impossible, at times, for me to keep food on my stomach, and my sleep also was affected. Many nights I was unable to sleep. At times I thought I had found a relief, but soon the trouble would reappear."

"Three days after I started taking Tanlac the acid formations disappeared from my stomach. I began improving the very first day and was surprised at the quick results. Tanlac not only has relieved me of the stomach trouble, but I sleep much better now."

"I cheerfully recommend Tanlac to anyone suffering from stomach trouble as I was, because I have tried the medicine and know its worth."

SAYS WIFE EXPECTS TO CONTINUE USE

P. E. Hulvey, a prominent farmer who lives on rural route No. 2, Sheldon, Ind., twelve miles from Fort Wayne, recently said regarding Tanlac, the Master Medicine:

"My wife has been sick for five years with rheumatism and her system has been in a run down condition. She had severe pains in her limbs and body and she lacked energy. She was very nervous and slept poorly. Night after night she laid awake expecting to be attacked by the severe rheumatic pains."

"We heard of Tanlac through the papers and thought a medicine that was helping so many other persons should help Mrs. Hulvey. She has taken less than one bottle now but already she feels like a woman made over again. The rheumatic pains are nearly all gone, the nervousness is greatly relieved, and she sleeps peacefully through the night now. Her appetite has also been improved and she is stronger and brighter in every way. She expects to continue the use of Tanlac and I'm here for another bottle."

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Isaiah 29:13-24.

13 Wherefore the Lord said, Forasmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honour me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men:

14 Therefore, behold, I will proceed to do a marvellous work among this people, even a marvellous work and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

15 Wee unto them that seek deep to hide their counsel from the Lord, and their works are in the dark, and they say, Who seeth us? and who knoweth us?

16 Surely your turning of things upside down shall be esteemed as the potter's clay: for shall the work say of him that made it, He made me not? or shall the thing framed say of him that framed it, He had no understanding?

17 Is it not yet a very little while, and Lebanon shall be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field shall be esteemed as a forest?

18 And in that day shall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity, and out of darkness.

19 The meek also shall increase their joy in the Lord, and the poor among men shall rejoice in the Holy One of Israel.

20 For the terrible one is brought to nought, and the scorner is consumed, and all that watch for iniquity are cut off:

21 That make a man an offender for a word, and lay a snare for him that reproveth in the gate, and turn aside the just for a thing of nought.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord, who redeemed Abraham, concerning the house of Jacob, Jacob shall not now be ashamed, neither shall his face now wax pale.

23 But when he seeth his children, the work of mine hands, in the midst of him, they shall sanctify my name, and sanctify the Holy One of Jacob, and shall fear the God of Israel.

24 They also that erred in spirit shall come to understanding, and they that murmured shall learn doctrine.

Hoosiers in Congress.

The new edition of the congressional directory which has just burst upon the country in a binding of flaming red discloses the fact that Indiana congressmen have been becomingly modest in setting forth their careers biographically. Most of them stoically refrain from self-laudation, and some of them are amazingly brief, the paragon in this direction being Congressman Moss, who shows that it is still possible to convey all necessary information regarding the career of the great is precisely three and one-half lines of type.

The longest of the Indiana autobiographies is that of Representative Lieb, of the First district, which comprises 18½ lines. Mr. Lieb is the only member of the Indiana delegation who is not a native American. He was born in Flehinger, Germany. Representative Cline is the only other member of the delegation who was not born in Indiana. His birthplace is in Ohio, but his autobiography does not state where or when he was born.

Representative Merrill Moore's autobiography occupies ten lines. He states that he is unmarried and a Presbyterian. Representative William R. Wood, in his autobiography of a little more than ten lines, recalls with evident pride, that he was elected to the Indiana senate in 1896, and was re-elected four times, serving in that body eighteen years. He also states that he was twice president pro-tempore of the senate, and four times leader of the republican side.

Congressman Cline's biographical sketch is another model of condensation. It reads: "Cyrus Cline, democrat, of Angola. He was educated in the Angola high school and Hillsdale college, Mich. He was married October 6, 1880, to Jennie Gibson, daughter of Bush and Susan Gibson, of Thetford, Vt.; they have one daughter. He was elected to the Sixty-first, Sixty-second and Sixty-third congresses, and re-elected to the Sixty-fourth congress."

A striking feature of the new directory is the prevalence of Indiana men in congress from other states, Hoosierdom having probably supplied more statesmen to her sister states than has any other commonwealth. For instance, of the five members of the house from the state of Washington, three are native Hoosiers, and the same ratio exists in the South Dakota delegation. From the Third district of the latter state is Representative Harry L. Gandy, former publisher of a newspaper in Lagrange, and active in political affairs in the Twelfth Indiana district.

Announcement is made that a committee of Terre Haute saloon men has waited on the board of public safety in that city with a plea to set aside the saloon closing law on Christmas and New Years days this year, bemoaning the fact that their business would suffer heavily by being suspended Saturday and Sunday for two weeks in succession. It is said, too, that the board went to the length of promising to take the matter under advisement. Passing the amazing effrontery of the liquor men in making such a request, it would be interesting to have pointed out precisely where the Terre Haute board of safety will find authority for setting aside a state law, even if it is disposed to do it.

Down at Muncie the Lincoln School Fathers' club has been organized, its membership including the fathers of pupils in attendance at that particular school. There will be general rejoicing over this indication, belated though it be, that father has at last come into his own. Still, somehow, there is the suspicion that the activities of the Mothers' club may have inspired the fathers to organize on the basis of preparedness to maintain their rights against possible aggression by the feminine organization. There is no telling to what extent this contagion of preparedness will finally spread.

The department of agriculture has just issued figures setting forth the estimated value of farm crops and animal products for the past year at $9,783,000,000, an increase of some eighty-three billions of dollars over the previous year's showing, and doubtless some of the foes of the administration will be prepared to contend that this is another instance of the nefarious production of munitions of war in this country, and that it is merely some more of what Mr. Toner graphically characterized in his Fort Wayne speech as "shotgun prosperity."

The present outlook is that Dr. Haiselden is to be ousted from the Chicago Medical society as unethical, not by reason of what he did or did not do in the case of the defective Bollinger baby, but for talking about it in the newspapers afterward. When one recalls how furiously Dr. Haiselden was lambasted from certain quarters for a time, he should be able to get by the medical society's charges on a simple plea of self defense.

This Is The Store That Does ThingsWASTEFULNESS OF CONGRESSIONAL "PORK"

(Indianapolis Star).

An excellent example of what is meant by the term "pork," and how wasteful that may be, is given by the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Herald in an interview with Byron T. Newton, assistant secretary of the treasury. Mr. Newton, discussing the unbusinesslike way in which congress sprinkles postoffice buildings around, picked at random an example from his list. The town selected by chance was in Kentucky, but might have been from any other state, so far as the facts involved are concerned.

It is a village of 744 population. The postal receipts in 1913 were $3,155 and probably are a little more now. The government pays $300 a year rent for a building used as a postoffice. To carry out there the policy of a federal building it would incur the expense of $5,000 for a site and $50,000 for a building. Then the government would spend $3,000 a year for maintenance—to say nothing of depreciation and the worth of the money invested—and would get practically nothing it is not receiving now for $300.

The nation has spent $178,000,000 for federal buildings in the last twenty years. Some of the money has been wisely spent, but much of it has been squandered extravagantly. The government is paying $14,000 a year rent for quarters for the federal court in New York, for example, while millions are tied up in buildings almost unused elsewhere. There are authorized now buildings to cost $20,000,000 in towns where the rentals total $553,828, and where maintenance will be three times the present rentals, it is estimated, when the $20,000,000 has been spent.

MORE DERAILMENTS

(Pittsburgh Dispatch)

The interstate commerce commission gladly notes a decrease in the number of accidents on the railroads of the United States during the year, but finds this more than offset by the increase in the number of derailments. Compared with a dozen years ago there was one-third less collisions, but double the number of derailments. The commission must be that the greater care in the operation of trains has not extended to seeing to the condition of the tracks, or farther back, the composition of the rails and other materials. This leads the commission to suggest the imperative necessity for a definite knowledge of the strains and stress to which such equipment may be subjected, a subject taken up a few years ago, regarding rails, but which seems, so far as public knowledge goes, to have been uncompleted.

The charge is made that operation over unsafe tracks is far too common, that in many cases tracks that were not safe for operation at moderate speed were allowed to be used without restriction. So, too, while there has been greater attention to safety in operation, violations of rules are declared to be much too numerous. The commission thinks a standardization of rules for operation through federal legislation might help.

A curious feature of the report is the fact that attempts to tamper with tracks are increasing in number. Better policing and stricter enforcement of the law against trespass are suggested as remedies. Exemplary sentences upon miscreants convicted of this dastardly crime seem to be most needed. It is difficult to think of leniency in dealing with an act so wholly vicious as imperiling the lives of those who travel on our railroads.

PORTUGAL'S DETHRONED KING AND QUEEN LIVING IN ENGLAND.

"King" Don Manuel, whose adoration of Gaby Deslys cost him his Portuguese crown, is seldom seen about London since the war began. "Queen" Augusta Victoria, too, is living a mysterious life, hidden away in her garden on the Thames. Being a Hohenzollern, her position in England is embarrassing to say the least. She is known as "Queen Peter Pan," the queen who cannot grow up. She is very delicate and given to almost constant weeping.

tailor-made. She seldom wears white, for it draws attention to a complexion that is slightly sallow.

Among her trousseau costumes that have not been seen is an exquisite negligee made by a famous New York gown builder. It is of chiffon in orchid tints; the underslip is of deep orchid color embroidered in silver (Mrs. Galt is very fond of silver embroidery; I have seen her in at least three gowns embroidered in silver thread). A long loose coat of lighter orchid edged with silver fringe falls over the deeper tinted slip which is cut low and sleeveless. The one individual touch, and you may be sure that on all Mrs. Galt's gowns you will get at least one, is a belt made of crushed chiffon velvet of robin's egg blue.

"Dr. Wilson," at His Request
"What will the 'in-laws' call the president?" asked a curious woman the other day. "I know they will not want to call him 'President Wilson,' for that will sound too formal, and I can't possibly think of even Mrs. Galt calling him 'Woody' to his face."

I was glad to tell her just what the family would call the president, for one of the "in-laws," who, by the way, is a very pretty woman, said at a dinner given at the white house the other night:

"Mr. President, what shall we call you when you are in the bosom of our family?"

The president smiled and said: "Well, they called me Dr. Wilson at Princeton, and it is a title which rather pleases me."

Mrs. Roosevelt always called T. R. "The Colonel." Mrs. McKinley spoke of her husband to her friends as "The Major," and Mrs. Taft, while her husband was in the white house, always said "Judge Taft" in speaking of her husband, and in the future you can hear Mrs. Galt say "Dr. Wilson."

NEW LIQUOR RULE TAKEN FAVORABLY

Little Uproar in London Over Placing of Ban on Drink.

London, Dec. 8.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—It was not expected that the stringent law affecting the sale of alcoholic drinks would cause any excitement or disorder in the better sections of London, but in view of the previous protest meetings at the Smithfield market and along the docks, the quietness with which the first day of the enforcement passed in Billingsgate and other rough quarters of the east end proved rather a surprise. Labor leaders had certainly taken a defiant attitude toward the board of control, but nothing occurred out of the normal.

Taking the whole of London, the reception of the rules has been favorable. When the public houses began the sale of alcoholic drinks at the noon hour the first day under the new regime, there was not observed any increase in drinking until the period closed at 2:30. Nor was there any attempt to crowd in an unusual number of drinks during the two hours the bars were open in the evening. The sale of temperance drinks during the prohibited hours was slight. In a few quarters, where men are employed on all-night work, certain houses have been allowed to open for a limited time in the early morning.

Among the curious results of regulation, the person to falls to lay in his private stock of whisky or other spirits before 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, will have to spend a dry week-end, as he must wait until Monday noon. Even in the private rooms of a hotel, one who treats a member of his own family to a drink is liable to a heavy fine. The hours during which alcohol may be consumed in clubs is the same as in the case of public bars. Restaurants are not allowed to extend credit for meals at which intoxicating drinks are sold, as the credit system is done away with entirely. The extreme penalty for a breach of these regulations is six months at hard labor and a $500 fine.

One of the most effective measures to promote temperance is the abolishment of credit at the bars. This struck severely the business of bars giving credit to workmen. In the old days, men used to gather in the bar and drink on credit, with the result they had little or nothing left out of their wages when paid.

It is not the intention of the control board to bring about prohibition, but to promote temperance. This work is supplemented by the Home Counties Public House Trust, which lately took over the control of a well known saloon in a central district and plans to extend its influence. The place was remodeled so as to get away from the old idea of the drinking palace and to introduce the cafe system with tables, reading matter and friendly games. Alcoholic drinks are sold, but the management receives a bonus on all temperance drinks.

Saloon men, in fact, are just now beginning to realize that the profits on temperance drinks exceed those on liquors. There is twice as much profit in a cup of tea that there is in a glass of ale. But heretofore the owners associated the sale of soft drinks with teetotalism and opposed their introduction.

MRS. GALT SHOWS WONDERFUL POISE

Not at All Excited Over Marriage to President Next Saturday.

By Idah McGlone Gibson
Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—All Washington is again agog with gossip over the president's wedding next Saturday, and yet no one knows very much about it; in fact Mrs. Galt is quite as much a stranger to Washington people as is the wife of the new congressman.

The other night at the theater, the opera glasses were trained on her most of the evening, and her seeming unconsciousness showed that she had poise and a sense of humor.

She chatted with the president as if she were alone in her own drawing room, and yet any woman in her position must have known that she was the observed of all observers.

A newspaper woman who thinks she is on more than just the usual reportorial terms with Joe Tumulty, the president's secretary, went to him with her usual confidence in getting what she wanted, the other day, and said:

"I am after a picture of Mrs. Galt in her wedding dress."

Tumulty looked at her, and then his Irish mouth widened in a smile.

"I understand there ain't going to be no wedding dress pictures," he vouchsafed, "at least until after the wedding."

"I'll tell you, I certainly have to take off my hat to that lady; she is running her wedding to suit herself, and in her own way. The mere fact that she is marrying the president of the United States does not make it any less her own personal affair."

"I have not spoken to Mrs. Galt since the day her engagement was announced; but I just how much she thinks she is a press agent."

"Something Old, Borrowed and Blue"
At her wedding Mrs. Galt will wear a thin gold bracelet set with turquoise. It is a rather gorgeous old affair that was the "something old and something borrowed and blue" worn by Mrs. Sayre and Mrs. McAdoo at their weddings.

The white house bride will carry out the old superstition that insists "to be happy ever after" a bride must wear "something old and something new, something borrowed and something blue."

I don't believe, however, that Mrs. Galt has many superstitions. She certainly has broken that one which says a bride should never wear any of her trousseau gowns until after the wedding. She has been wearing her new frocks as fast as they came from the dressmaker—and make no mistake, gentle woman reader, the coming first lady of the land is going to set the fashion for America's well dressed women. For this first time in the memory of woman, the wife of the president of the United States will be a woman who knows how to wear her clothes.

Her favorite colors are black, gray, mauve or orchid, although she has been seen in navy blue and nigger brown

Three Brides of the White House

In the center is Mrs. Norman Galt, who will be President Wilson's bride on Saturday. At the right is Mrs. William G. McAdoo, daughter of the president, in her wedding gown, and at the left Mrs. Francis Sayre, also a daughter of the president, as she appeared on her wedding day.

CITY ICE PLANT IS MAKING GOOD

Weatherford, Ok., Makes and Sells Product at 15 Cents.

Oklahoma City, Dec. 16.—Fame has come to the little town of Weatherford, Okla., on account of its municipal ice plant and the success that has attended its operation. Inquiries from all over the United States come to Hugh J. Cooper, commissioner of public utilities of Weatherford, through whose efforts the ice plant was built.

Residents of Weatherford now have all the ice they want in summer, and at a remarkably low price. He said it had not been planned, originally, in Weatherford, but was built partly on account of circumstances that grew out of a lawsuit. Ten thousand dollars had been appropriated to build a city hall, but there was a difference of opinion as to where it should be located and a lawsuit resulted. While the case was pending Cooper got the $10,000 in such shape that it could be used to build an ice plant, and it was put to that purpose.

Cooper often had planned to use waste steam from the waterworks plant, and when the ice plant project was considered he put these plans into execution. The steam from the waterworks plant was run through pipes to the ice plant, cooled before it reached it, and became distilled water.

TO BE SURRENDERED ON FEDERAL CHARGE

Ora Nachbar, Armory Thief,
Uncle Samuel.

Ora Nachbar, the young Indiana guardman who is under arrest for robbery committed at the armory of Company E, in this city, will be turned over to the federal authorities and he will have to answer in the United States court for his crime. His case was called in the city court Thursday morning, on a charge of petit larceny and continued until Tuesday, by which time it is expected that federal procedures will have been instituted.

Nachbar stole a couple of bushels of blank and ball rifle cartridges from the armory, removed the charges from them, and sold the brass shells for junk.

Army Deserter Turned Over.
Frederick Cox, arrested on the streets the other night and booked at police headquarters for drunkenness, was released from the city court Thursday morning and turned over to Deputy United States Marshal William H. Thurgerty, of this city, to be surrendered to the United States military authorities as a deserter.

Brass Thief Sent to Jail.
Frank Briggs, who claims Boulder, Col., as his home and who had just floated into town, was fined $10 and costs and given thirty days in jail on his plea of guilty to a charge of petit larceny. He stole a quantity of railroad brass from the Nickel Plate roundhouse and sold it to a junker on Superior street. He implicated Frank Shafer in the sale of the loot, though exonerating him from any part in the theft. Briggs and Shafer were arrested by Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan. Shafer, who says he has been employed in a local garage since his arrival in the city seven weeks ago, protested his innocence and said

Briggs lied. Judge Kerr continued him until Saturday for further investigation.

Other City Court Cases.

Joseph Coffee, who appears frequently, and Fred McNaughton were fined $5 and costs each for drunkenness and both went to jail for fifteen days. Ralph Milligan, another drunk, was turned loose.

On a charge of petit larceny Louis Huber was granted another continuance and was released on his own recognizance for appearance Friday.

John Zeigler, a vag, was permitted to go out to find work.

Art Bartels was arraigned on a charge of running a vehicle without the owner's permission, jitney owner named Frederick filing the affidavit. The offense alleged was committed Thanksgiving day. Frederick's car was being operated by Alvin Distel, who wanted to go to a foot ball game and got Bartels to drive for him during the afternoon. Bartels is said to have gone on a joyride to New Haven and damaged the machine. Frederick had Distel arrested Monday on a charge of embezzlement, but dismissed the case. Bartels was continued until Friday and released on his own recognizance.

ANOTHER CHECK TURNS UP.

Another forged check written and uttered by George Redmond, the ex-convict, who was arrested Tuesday night for passing a bad check at the Wabash ticket office, turned up at police headquarters Wednesday afternoon. It was brought in by George J. Philipp, proprietor of the church goods store, 1211 Calhoun street, at whose place it was tendered Tuesday afternoon. It was written for $22. While a boy employed in the place was absent to make inquiry about the check, Redmond disappeared.

DETECTIVE AT POSTOFFICE.

Chief of Police Charles Lenz has detailed one of the city detectives for duty in the postoffice during the holiday rush, when the opportunity for pickpockets, sneak thieves and purse snatchers is at its best. At this season heretofore robberies have been frequent in the lobby of the postoffice, women and foreigners forwarding money and mailing Christmas packages being the customary prey of thieves.

PRISONER RESISTS OFFICER IN COURT

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 16.—Twining his arms and legs about the railing before the bench of the St. Joseph circuit court, Nathan Greenfield, a fugitive from San Antonio, Tex., resisted the attempt of a deputy sheriff from the Lone star state to remove him from the jurisdiction of this county yesterday. Shouts of "Cut out this melodrama," and "Stay right where you are," by counsel for Greenfield encouraged the defendant while the deputy sheriff tugged and pried in his efforts to get Greenfield loose. After the deputy gave up the struggle local officers came to his assistance and Greenfield was removed from the court room. He is now being returned to Texas. The disturbance caused when Judge W. A. Funk turned the prisoner over to George M. Miller, the deputy sheriff from San Antonio. Judge Funk had just satisfied himself that the defendant was the man sought by the Texas authorities for selling mortgaged goods.

NEW MOVE IN FIGHT ON TRACTION COMPANY

Card Signs Are Being Distributed in Downtown District.

While they have not as yet been generally distributed, card signs made their appearance Thursday with the following: "Fort Wayne With Night and Main, We Use Municipal Light." The cards were printed by the Federation of Labor and are to be used as another club in the fight that has been waged against the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company since the inauguration of the car men's strike, September 27.

Representatives of the Federation were busy Thursday distributing the cards among the business houses in the city where municipal lights are used. In a number of instances merchants desiring to remain neutral in the controversy and not wishing to jeopardize their business or to take any part whatsoever in the controversy, would not permit the signs to be put up.

The organization of a company and selling of stock for the proposed auto bus line to be operated in opposition to the street cars is progressing very satisfactorily, according to officials of the Federation of Labor back of the movement. A meeting of the executive board and financial committee of the Federation held a meeting Wednesday evening for the purpose of further discussing the proposition. A booster meeting will probably be held Friday evening at the Federation headquarters at which time officers will probably be elected and arrangements made for the purchase of the buses and starting of the line at the earliest possible date. Two more of the strikers returned to work Wednesday. They were C. B. Come and John Murfield. Those who returned to work Monday were Elmer Payne, Anton Berner and Elmer L. Flowers.

UNDERGOES A NEW VOLCANIC OUTBREAK

Further Destruction Near Scene of Disaster Two Years Ago.

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 10.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Delayed reports have brought news of a fresh volcanic outbreak on the island of Ambim, in the New Hebrides group, a spot which experienced a most destructive volcanic eruption in December, 1913.

Rev. A. T. Waters, a missionary stationed on the island of Oba, about 60 miles from Ambim, writes that on the first few days of October last, smoke and volcanic ash clouded the sky so thickly that the sun gave only a weird light like the moon, and it eventually became so dark that the people on Oba had to light lamps. Everything became gritty with ashes indoors, and out-of-doors they were so thick that the sea could not be seen from the mission house, which ordinarily afforded a fine view of the water.

There was for a time some panic among the natives of Oba who thought one of the mountains on their own island was in eruption, but the source of the trouble was later traced to Ambim, and it appeared as though the entire island was burning. The missionary's letter did not say that any one ventured to visit Ambim during the eruption, and the extent of the damage or loss of life, if any, is unknown.

The previous eruption at Ambim, in December, 1913, was reported to have cost the lives of 500 natives, and to have completely altered the face and contour of the island. According to the natives of Oba the recent trouble appeared to have been still worse than the previous eruption.

Little is known as to the interior of Ambim, which has been visited but rarely by white men. No census has ever been taken, but among the coast settlements there are a number of mission stations, mainly Roman Catholic and Presbyterian, whose members had a narrow escape in the previous eruption.

The New Hebrides islands have been controlled since 1900 by a joint commission of British and French officials under the supervision of two resident commissioners, one appointed by each nation.

RECOMMENDED FOR CROUP.

Jacob Barra Remains Barricaded in His Home Near Brazil.

Brazil, Ind., Dec. 16.—No efforts were made by Sheriff William Garrigus, of Clay county, to take Jacob Barra, alleged to be insane, into custody yesterday. Mrs. Joseph Kagan, a neighbor, declared that unless some action was taken she would file suit against the sheriff on his bond or take the matter up with Governor Ralston.

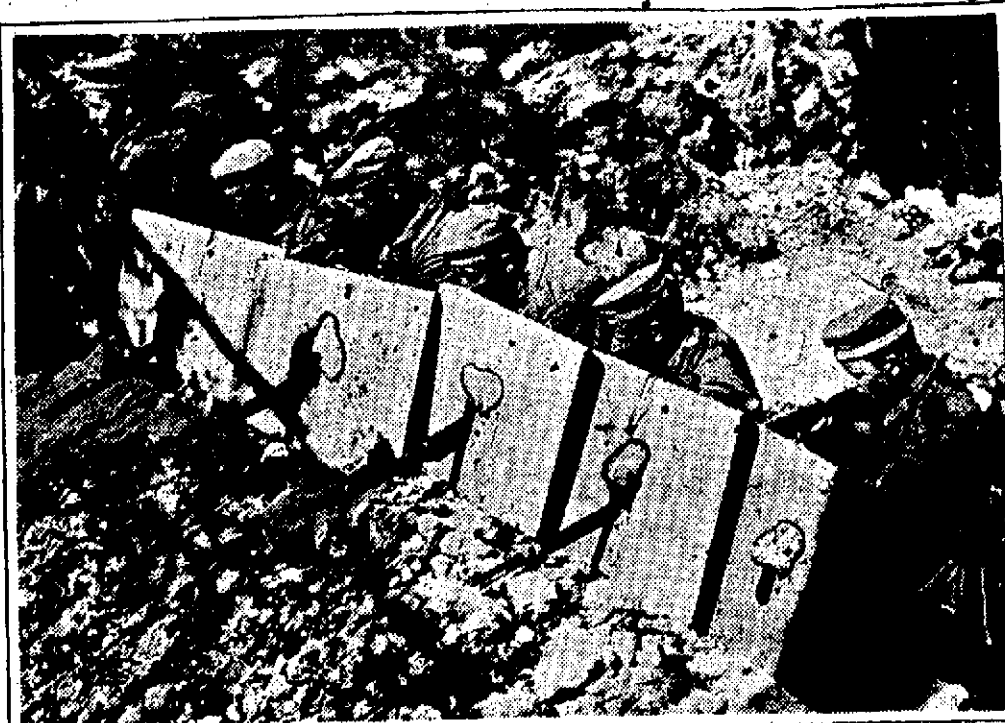

Records at the county clerk's office show that Barra was never released from the Southeastern hospital for the insane, but is still a ward of that institution. The last record shows that after he escaped in October, the superintendent advised the sheriff to permit him to remain until he showed signs of insanity.

Barra did not venture out of his barricaded house, but stood at the front window. He frequently rubbed the water off the glass so he could see outside. His brother went to see him Sunday but Barra warned him that if he attempted to take the gun away from him he would shoot to kill.

This photograph was made in the freight yards of the Pennsylvania rail road in New York. HERE'S A HIGHLY COLORED PICTUREDear Old Lefty Gilbert is
"The Lion of the Hour."

(Doc White in Terre Haute Tribune.)
"Lefty" Gilbert, Highlander chief, is now engaged in the "soft" occupation of jarring Muskegon, Mich., business men loose from their bank rolls. In other words, Gilbert has been hired by the Central league to complete the organization of a baseball company in Muskegon and to stick on the job until the matter has been entirely thrashed out.

The Highlander leader in a wire to the writer today, stated his belief that he would succeed in his latest venture and that he was certain that Muskegon would be a member of the Central league next season. "Find business men greatly interested in securing club and expect to organize stock company by Jan. 1," stated Gilbert in his message.

The Muskegon chamber of commerce is behind the move to secure a Central franchise and Gilbert yesterday was introduced at a meeting of the body and promptly became the "lion of the hour." He wasted no time, however, in getting busy and before any of the business men could get away had secured many promises to take stock in the baseball company. The sale of 500 season tickets at $15 per will also be in the capable hands of Rufus.

With the organization of the company and the granting of a Central franchise to Muskegon, a manager will be necessary and it is not beyond the bounds of reason to believe that Gilbert will be asked to accept the job.

"Lefty," however, is strong for Terre Haute, and if the local stock sale is successful will likely be found at the helm of the Highlander outfit in 1916.

STOVE LEAGUE STUFF.

In a game between the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns, Buck Weaver, of the Sox, started to steal second and reached the bag with the ball. As he slid, he raised a cloud of dust and Pratt, covering the bag, reached down and tagged him. "It's out!" yelled the umpire.

Bobby Wallace, playing short for the Browns, was about twenty feet behind second base back up the play. As Bobby walked to the bench he dropped a ball in the pitcher's box. The ball had gone through to Wallace, but Pratt had made the bluff at tagging the runner and got away with it.

All kinds of schemes have been devised by coaches to get instructions to their players during games, and here's one that cops the prize.

In a game between the high school teams of Reading and Norristown, Pa., this season, the Norristown players, especially the captain, seemed unusually thirsty and were continually calling the water boy.

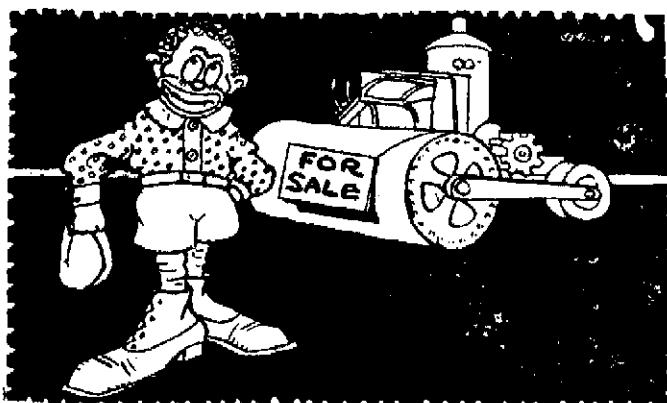

"Doc" Bunting, interested in the Reading team, noticed the water boy seemed to do a lot of talking to the captain each time he went onto the field. He moved around so he could get a good look at the boy.

"Oh, ho," says he, "it's you, is it?"
"Sure it was—"Boots" Shoffner, Norristown coach, disguised as a water boy.

SAY 2,000,000 PLAY GOLF.

Figures furnished by golf ball manufacturers lead to estimate that 2,000,000 persons are playing golf in the United States and Canada. Manufacturers say about 350,000 dozen balls were sold in the two countries this year. Allowing two balls for each player and adding a certain percentage of old ones, the estimators reach the total figures. The ball output this year was the largest in history.

KID LAVIGNE IS DOWN AND OUTOne Time Star is Penniless and Helpless in New York.

A benefit will be held in New York tomorrow for George "Kid" Lavigne. The man who was called the greatest lightweight ring ever produced is down and out. The man who was cheered by thousands in the United States and Europe only a score of years ago, is penniless. The man who made a fortune in the ring and celebrated his victories with wine parties needs money with which to buy the necessities of life.

Lavigne is 46. He was born at Bay City, Mich. His first job was loading salt on boats at Saginaw, Mich. It was at Saginaw, too, in 1899 at the age of 20, that he started one of the most spectacular ring careers in the history of the sport.

The "Kid" did not start with four or six-round bouts. In his first match he fought, seventy-seven rounds with George Siddons. It was a draw. In his second bout—a return match—he fought fifty-five rounds with Siddons; again a draw.

In his first two fights he went 132 rounds, as much as some present day boxers go in fifteen bouts.

For ten years the "Kid" was unbeaten. He fought from coast to coast in the United States and went to England, where he defended the lightweight championship by knocking out Dick Burge, taller and heavier.

Lavigne's first taste of defeat came in 1908, when he lost to "Mysterious Billy" Smith, of Australia, in fourteen rounds at San Francisco. Then he lost to Frank Erne, was knocked out by George McFadden, Jimmy Britt and Young Erne. His fighting career covered eighteen years. He quit when he was stopped by Young Erne in 1907.

Lavigne was a "good fellow" when he had it—that's why a benefit is being given for him.

RATTLING THE PAN

(Pittsford in Toledo Blade).

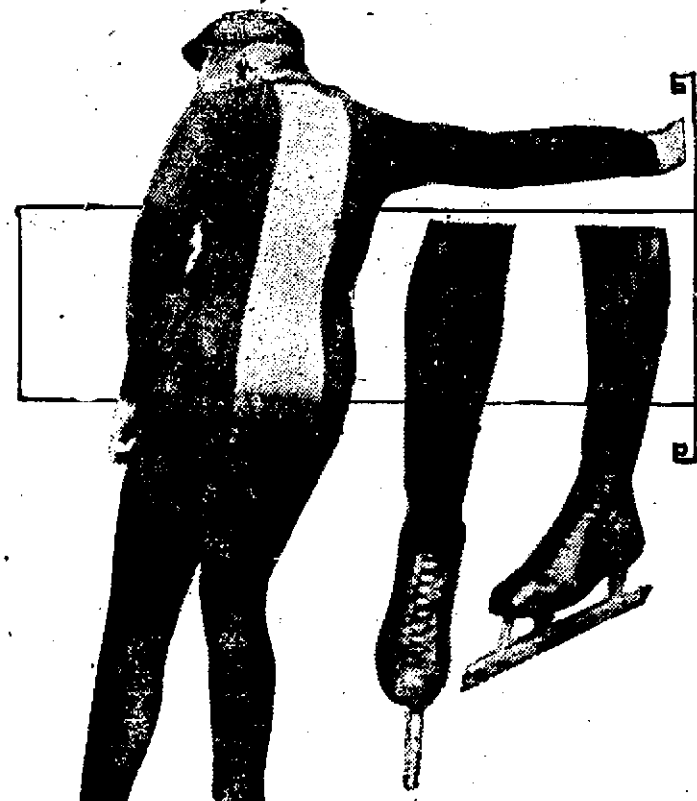

Some day, and in the not so very distant future, athletic clubs, universities and unattached athletes by the hundred, will rattle on their hind legs and tell the Amateur Athletic union, the controlling body of amateur athletes in this country, to go to. Time was when the narrow confines of the A. A. U. permitted competing athletes looked upon as amateurs, may have been a good thing, but there also was a time when gatekeepers were popular, and Napoleon was the first consul.

However, times have changed. Everything seems to be moving ahead save the A. A. U., which remains in the rut it has occupied for ages. Doubtless many amateur athletes sin, but many are more sinned against. Whether the revolt against the tyrannical rule of the amateur body will be in the nature of a rival organization or just a general breaking away from the old wagon, is a question to be answered in the future.

ANOTHER "AD" FOR LOUIE.

Our own Louie Hellbroner, wise man of baseball, and keeper of the royal parchment, again breaks into the spotlight when Sidney Smith cartoons him with half a dozen other baseball strong men at the top of the Chicago Tribune sport page Thursday morning. But for the benefit of friend Louie it must be said that Sidney is no flatterer.

Left, position of the skates to stop, and (right) to turn corners, posed especially for The Sentinel by Ben Oelckly, U. S. amateur champion, for the seventh and last article of his series on how to skate. (By Ben Oelckly, United States Amateur Skating Champion).

I believe it is harder for skaters to learn how to stop than how to start. Also it is hard to learn how to turn corners. Both require a good bit of practice so don't be discouraged if you are not able to stop or turn right away. To stop, turn the body sideways, so the skates will scrape sideways across the ice. Brace your ankles well when you do this. The body will naturally lean backward a bit. Another way is to dig

PEACE DOVE HOVERS OVER BALL MEETINGS"Will Protect Players Who

Settlement Near.

New York, Dec. 16.—The future status of big league baseball will be decided at a peace conference of representatives of the National, American and Federal leagues here tomorrow if the expectations of the magnates who have framed the tentative agreement after three years of war are fulfilled. Members of the National league here in their annual meeting are waiting today for the arrival of the conference committee appointed by the American league to ratify the proposed terms of peace.

James Gilmore, president of the Federal league, and Harry F. Sinclair, owner of the Newark Federals, are ready to take part in the final conference to determine the future of baseball organizations representing an outlay estimated at more than $16,000,000.

When asked the terms of the settlement Mr. Gilmore said:

"You could not expect me to say anything about that right now. There is only one thing upon which I know we will insist. Every ball player who came with us and thus brought themselves under the law of organized baseball will be protected."

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Members of the peace committee of the American league named at the league's meeting here last night are to leave for New York city today to attend a conference there tomorrow with committees of the National and Federal leagues at which it is expected peace in the baseball world will be declared. Indications are that all details will be settled by Saturday night.

The American league committee is composed of Charles A. Comiskey, of Chicago; B. S. Minor, of Washington; J. J. Lannin, of Boston, and B. B. Johnson, president of the league, who will act as chairman.

Although the peace proposal have been kept secret, it is said that Charles H. Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federals, will come into control of the Chicago National league club.

NAP LAJOIE TO MANAGE INDIANS?

Cleveland, O., Dec. 16.—Nap Lajoie again has become a figure in local baseball, when it became known that a syndicate of Cleveland capitalists was in the field as purchaser of the Indians and had already approached Lajoie with the proposal that Larry handle the managerial reins, if the syndicate is successful in buying the club.

Wilson M. Shear, promoter, is engineering the deal. Who composes the syndicate Shear refuses to divulge, but has no hesitancy in admitting that his clients are ready to take over the Cleveland club.

Shear has already ascertained the price demanded by the Somers interests and that figure is satisfactory to the syndicate. It is understood Shear has arranged to confer with Ban Johnson later in the week, when the president of the American league returns here to straighten out the local baseball situation.

HOLDS LOWER COURT ERRED

Indianapolis, Dec. 16.—The judgment of the Johnson circuit court in favor of the Snook company in a suit for damages for the death of Joseph Deer, an employee, was reversed by the appellate court. A heavy cupboard fell on Deer and crushed him. The appellate court held that a number of instructions given by the lower court were erroneous, and that the employers' liability law of 1911 eliminated the rule of assumption of risk and therefore placed the liability on the employer.

HENDRICKS FURNISHES FOOD FOR GOSSIP

Old Mrs. Rumor still hangs over the back fence chatting with the neighbors about Jack Hendricks. For several months Hendricks has been talked of for several major jobs, but nothing definite has developed. Here's the latest squib from the Indianapolis News:

"According to a dispatch from Cincinnati today, Joe Kelly, the Indians' crack center fielder, may wear a red uniform next season, a deal being under way to buy the player. Before leaving for New York Manager Hendricks said several offers had been made for Kelly but that none of them were large enough. The New York dispatches of yesterday stated that Hendricks was being considered as a candidate to manage the Pittsburgh Pirates, and if he should leave here probably there will be a big scramble for the job of managing the Indians on the part of several. Hendricks left with the understanding with McGill that the Indian owner would release him from his contract should he hook up with a major league team."

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Mutt and Jeff in College" Twice on Saturday.

John Gorman, who plays the role of Mutt in the now comedy, "Mutt and Jeff in College," which is underlined as the next attraction at the Majestic theater, Saturday matinee and night, often has been asked how he came to make up so accurately. Mr. Gorman has been praised by critics all over the country because of his fidelity in both features, expression and action to the original types of cartoons created by Bud Fisher.

"It came after close and arduous study," said Mr. Gorman. "When Manager Gus Hill originally assigned me for the part I figured that my success would be due in no small measure to the way I made up. I had the height to start with, and my nose is large but not sufficiently large enough to comply with the proboscis popularized by Mr. Fisher. I finally mastered it, but could not make it stick on. One evening, while playing in a western town I had a hard skirmish with little Jeff and during a tussle my false nose was dislodged and fell to the floor. I did not notice it until a youngster in the gallery shouted with all the power of his young and robust lungs: 'Hey, look! Mutt has lost his nose!' Immediately the house was in an uproar. I took in the situation, picked up the false member and stuck it carefully on the side of my cheek and went on with my part. This piece of business was such a tremendous hit that it was continued throughout the season."

AT THE TEMPLE.

AMATEUR NIGHT FRIDAY.

Temple Players to Hold Another Amusing Contest.

The splendid reception accorded the first two amateur contests has decided the Temple Players in favor of these amusing features and Friday night the third will be staged. In addition to several that figured in the first two some new talent is being developed, and Ashton Newton, whose special province it is to preside over these functions, promises some decided surprises.

Last night the Temple was the scene of a real-for-sure wedding when Fred P. Davis and Miss Flossie A. Phillips, both well known Fort Wayne young people, were united in marriage on the stage after the regular performance. Miss Ethel Hamerick and Frank Gallagher, of the Temple Players, performed the duties of attendants to the bride and groom, and the house was literally packed to capacity by eager hundreds who wanted to see the knot tied. Justice of the Peace A. C. Niernman performed the ceremony. Ashton Newton was the master of ceremonies and presented the couple with a score of presents sent them by local merchants, presents that ranged from a broom to a purse of gold, the latter the gift of the Temple Players management.

The Players this week are presenting the mello-dramatic story, "The Call of the Woods," a four-act drama with a punch in every scene.

AT KEITH PALACE.

PRETTY COSTUMED ACT.

Five Musical Gormans Head Bill Opening Today at Palace.

The Five Musical Gormans, two brothers and three sisters of the clan of Gorman, are topping the new bill opening for three days at the New Palace this afternoon in a superb musical act. The feature is attractive not only because of the versatile abilities of the several artists but also because of the fifty costumes worn by the performers. The Jewell comedy trio of merry-makers have a bundle of nonsense to unroll for the enjoyment of the week-end customers at the New Palace. Verna Mercereau and her company of classical dancers are offering a dramatic pantomime one will enjoy. Yate and Wheeler in "Who's Who and Which?" are a team that will bring the laughs tumbling out of the most reluctant chuckler. Merle's cockatoo have been trained to perform an amazing assortment of tricks and to grow themselves so as to form some strikingly beautiful stage pictures.

Friday evening will be Charlie Chaplin amateur night at the New Palace. Every youngster in Fort Wayne this evening can imitate the screen comedian should deposit his name at the box office of the New Palace and enter the list for one of the Christmas buying prizes to be presented the winners. Of course the amateur will not be confined to Charlie Chaplin, and already a number of young people have signified their intentions of entering into the competition.

AT THE EMPRESS.

A very emphatic hit has been registered at the Empress theater by "The Road Agent," the current week's attraction at this popular playhouse. The drama is about the golden, glowing west, and it deals with the efforts of a girl detective to prove a man innocent of the crime of murder. Miss Helen Gleason plays the part of the girl detective while McLean Gates takes the part of the man who thinks he is a murderer. The play is a thrilling one from start to finish.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

"The Unknown" Pleases Jefferson Audiences Immensely.

The last showing of the Paramount-Lasky production, "The Unknown" is today. The story deals with the persecution of a son by his father. After many thrilling escapades the boy is recognized by his father, who withholds his identity and the boy is freed from further persecution. There is a clever love story that holds more than passing interest. Dorothy Davenport is the sweetheart and Lou Tellegen the lover with Theodore Roberts as the father. The story is adapted from the novel "The Red Mirage," and follows the book closely. It is lavishly staged and will surely please. Companion picture Pathe News. The price of admission is 10 cents and 5 cents. Tomorrow a Triangle offering W. S. Hart in "The Discipline." An fine production and one of the realisms is a rain storm that far exceeds the one in the "Iron Strain." Mr. Hart has an enviable reputation as a character actor which he upholds in this production. Thelma Salter, the golden haired child that appears in this production is but seven years of age but she has grown up in pictures and is a real star.

AT THE LYRIC.

REMAINS TWO MORE DAYS.

"Damaged Goods" at Lyric Sets New Record for Fort Wayne.

Never before has the attendance at a photoplay warranted a continuous weeks run in Fort Wayne, but the reported requests from medical men as well as the general public have necessitated the continuation of "Damaged Goods" at the Lyric for Friday and Saturday, and the management has made arrangements with the picture owners whereby the films are to be held for these two additional days.

The indorsements of "Damaged Goods" by Drs. Calvin, Rhamy, Porter, Jr., Rawles, Lohman, Titus, Benninghoff and Blosser have caused the general public to appreciate the educational value of this film as well as its entertaining side.

"Damaged Goods" depicts the terrible consequences of vice and the physical ruin which follows abuse of the moral law, and is a stirring plea for pure life before marriage in order to make impossible the transmission of the hereditary taint to future generations. The physicians realizing that the only effective crusade against this modern problem lies in the lifting of the veil of secrecy and the education of the general public, are unanimous in urging the laity to attend this production.

AT THE GRAND.

The special offering at the Grand today will be Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "Under Royal Patronage."

Moving picture fans like a manly lover and delight to see him play his part nobly and bravely, more especially when the lady of his choice is beautiful and devoted to him. In Bushman's two-act feature "Under Royal Patronage," it is only necessary to state, in order to arouse unusual interest in these films, that Francis X. Bushman and Miss Beverly Bayne appear as the lovers.

HARVEY HALL WILL QUIT RAILROADING

Well Known Pennsy Man to Engage in Wholesale
Lumber Business.

Harvey Hall has tendered his resignation as assistant engineer of the Western division of the Pennsylvania to Supt. Otto Schroll and will hereafter devote his energies to work other than railroading.

Mr. Hall has made arrangements to engage with his brother in the manufacture and wholesale of lumber, with headquarters at Charleston, W. Va. Thomas Hall, the brother, has been conducting a business of that kind in Charleston some years and has established a good trade.

The retirement of Mr. Hall from Pennsylvania service marks the close of a railway career which was, significantly successful as far as it was carried out, and which had a most promising future if continued, for he is a young man and has been engaged in railway work only thirteen years.

Mr. Hall is a Buckeye by birth, making his first appearance in the world in Mansfield in April, 1882. After graduating from the schools of that city, he attended and graduated from Denison university. Soon after the close of the university term, he went to Pittsburgh to begin work in an humble way in the office of Chief Engineer Robert Trimble of the Pennsylvania, in October, 1902. In March, 1905, he was promoted to the engineering corps of the Eastern division, with headquarters at Pittsburgh. A year later, in 1906, he was transferred in a similar capacity to the Erie and Ashtabula division, with headquarters at New Castle. He came to Fort Wayne in November, 1908, and for four years was a member of the engineering corps of the Western division. In November, 1912, Mr. Hall received appointment to the office of assistant engineer, which he now relinquishes to engage in business at Charleston.

It was while on the Erie and Ashtabula division that Mr. Hall performed his most important and difficult engineering feat—directing the construction work on the $4,000,000 ore and coal docks established there by the Pennsylvania. As soon as that work was completed he was called to Fort Wayne to take service in the maintenance-of-way department and during his connection with the Western division some of the greatest improvements of recent years to the property were made. These included the elevation of the tracks through the city, the building of the Baker street passenger station and the remodeling of the old passenger station into handsome offices, the building of the Piqua subway, the beginning and completion of the greater portion of an extensive parking and service track system at the local roundhouse, which involved the cutting down of a big hill, and the erection of a handsome new passenger station at Plymouth.

Mr. Hall is prominent in social and fraternal circles in the city, being a member of the Scottish Rite and of Mizpah temple, Mystic Shrine. He was married May 1, 1913, to Miss Florence M. Foster, daughter of Col. D. N. Foster, who is also socially prominent in Fort Wayne. The family has already commenced packing up for the move to Charleston and expects to ship their household effects early next week. Thomas Hall is here for a short visit and will be accompanied to Charleston by Harvey Hall Friday night.

CALLAHAN IS PROMOTED.

Well Known Railroad Man Appointed a Chief Dispatcher.

The Nickel Plate management has found it advisable to spill the territory of its chief dispatcher at Fort Wayne and beginning today Chief Dispatcher George Robinson, whose jurisdiction extended from Chicago to Bellevue, will have charge of only the Chicago division, from this city to Chicago. James T. Callahan has assumed the duties of the office of chief dispatcher of the Fort Wayne division, from Fort Wayne to Bellevue. John Hughes, the night chief dispatcher, will continue in charge of both the Fort Wayne and the Chicago divisions. Mr. Callahan has been chief clerk in the office of Supt. W. F. Watterson of the Fort Wayne division, for five or six months, succeeding J. H. P. Meyers, who moved to California. That position has fallen to Robert J. Bowman, who in turn has been succeeded by Otto Fuhrman. Mr. Bowman was relief agent for five years on the road, but for the past year has held a clerical position in Mr. Watterson's office. Mr. Callahan is so well known among Fort Wayne people that anything The Sentinel might say about his career would be superfluous. With the exception of a few years' residence at Goshport, Mr. Callahan resided here many years and worked for the Nickel Plate, first as telegraph operator and then dispatcher.

DOING A BIG BUSINESS.

The Sherman-White Cold Storage company is enjoying the best business in its history, shipping five car loads of dressed poultry to the east each week, besides the other shipments. Manager J. Sterling, Jr., says the poultry to supply the Christmas trade has practically all gone east, but the movement in that direction will continue heavy until the middle of January. The Sherman-White company announces that it will give two silver cups, one valued at $75 and the other at $25, as prizes at the annual poultry show in Fort Wayne. "We are doing this," Mr. Sterling said, "to encourage the raising of better poultry."

S. F. AND H. M. BOWSER RETURN.

President S. F. Bowser and Second Vice President H. M. Bowser, of S. F. Bowser & Co., arrived home last night after spending five weeks on the Pacific coast, looking after business for the company and attending the Panama-Pacific exposition, where the company had a fine display of factory products. They visited the company's offices at Los Angeles, Denver, Salt Lake City, Omaha and elsewhere in the west and report business satisfactory at each.

ROBERT LEARMONTH IMPROVING.

Robert Learmonth, who has been in Hope hospital several weeks with a fractured hip, the result of a fall upon the curb at the corner of Calhoun and Wayne streets, will soon be at his desk in the Pennsylvania superintendent's office again. The splints and weights were removed from his leg yesterday and he will soon be up and around.

WENT TO WESTERN GAS WORKS.

George E. Brake, a draftsman, who recently resigned a position in the Pennsylvania shops to take a similar one with the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump works, changed his plans at the last moment and took employment in the drafting department of the Western Gas Construction company this morning. The Sentinel mentioned the resignation of Mr. Brake two weeks ago.

EXTRA CARS FOR STUDENTS.

Saturday morning Nos. 5 and 6 on the Nickel Plate will have an extra coach each for Concordia college students who will go to their homes for the holidays. No. 5 is a westbound train and No. 6 is an eastbound.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

S. G. Parr, a G. R. & I fireman, is off duty on account of sickness. Walter Tierney, a clerk at the Pennsylvania round house, is sick and off duty.

Harry O. Debernau has taken employment as a helper in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop.

R. A. Milligan and L. N. Henry have resigned as brakemen on the Nickel Plate to take up other work.

A. W. F. Meyers, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, is kept from his work by sickness in his family.

P. Tremple, hostler at the Pennsylvania round house, is off duty on account of the death of a relative.

Illness of some member of his family is keeping Nickel Plate Conductor W. O. Miller from his work on the road.

J. M. Zollars, H. Burlage and J. Junk are absent from the Pennsylvania planing mills today on account of sickness.

E. G. Kiep, Pennsylvania pipefitter, is off duty looking after private business. Miss Florence Teller, sister to B. F. Teller, of the Pennsylvania shops, has

Gee, Doesn't Santa Look Funny! No Wonder; This Year He's a Jap

Rosy-Cheeked Old Gent,
Sacred by Cannon's Roar
in Europe, Has Jumped Half Way 'Round the Earth.

Don't be surprised if Santa looks a little queer this year—for this 'Christmas Santa Claus will be a Jap.

You can blame it on the war, too, for when the cannons began popping in Europe, the fat, rosy checked, red coated old gent jumped half way round the world—and landed kerplunk in Japan. Yep, that's what all the toy dealers are saying. Hereafter, they declare, Santa and his thousands of toymakers will work in Japan instead of the toy factories in Germany. The Japs, you see, have won a great industrial victory over the land of the kaiser.

This year doll babies, mechanical and wooden toys and colored picture books will find their way into the stockings of young America with a little "Made in Japan" instead of "Made in Germany" labels on them.

The Japs began cutting in on the toy trade the moment the war started. Called "the greatest imitators in the world," they immediately began copying the latest German toys. Because they can do the work cheaper than anybody else on earth, they had no difficulty in plucking this fat bird's nest plum from the envious American toy manufacturers.

They overcame the world-wide shortage of coal far dye, by resorting to vegetable dye of their own manufacture and they even adopted the German system of "farming" out the toys among hundreds of families, in piece work style.

The cheapness of making toys by the system permits the Japanese to make and sell all varieties of toys in this country at a big profit in spite of a 10 per cent. duty.

But you wouldn't know the toys had been made in Japan instead of Germany unless you looked at the label. There's nothing "Japanese" about them.

Military toys predominate, perfect little models of machine guns and of big howitzers. Toy warships this year are all painted regular "battle ship gray"; even the airplanes and imitation war automobiles are painted the same color.

The Japs are awfully clever as wood carvers and they have had no trouble in turning out all sorts of wooden toys this year that are, if anything, even better than the German product of former years.

And the dolls! They don't wear funny looking kimonos, not a bit of it. They are all decked out, both boy and girl dolls, in snappy "American style" clothes. The Japs call it "High Collar" style.

The Japs are always affable with the result that wherever possible they have stuck an American flag on the toys that they are shipping to this country.

They have even carried this form of flattery still further and on the bottoms of boxes that contain a toy set of ships of the U. S. navy they have printed "Unsinkable." But then as an afterthought, perhaps, they poked a little fun at Uncle Sam by adding the line—"Made of Wood."

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Back-
trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which exerts and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you get rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inoffensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases. "I like the cold,"
Says little ROSE
And I don't care
How hard it snows.

"Of course, you don't,"
Says BUD "because
Old Santa Claus."

To the Boys and Girls—
Here is a suggestion: If you like ROSE and BUD (and we know you will like them), why don't you take the shears and cut out their pictures today and then, when tomorrow's paper comes, cut out their pictures again and keep on cutting them out each day until you have a nice collection of them?
But be sure to have mother buy some of the ROSE-BUD Soda Crackers at the grocery. They are the finest Crackers you ever ate. We call them "The Cracker for You That Splits in Two," because you can break them in two without sinking any crumbs. And when you do break them in two, you will find the name of ROSE on one half, and the name of BUD on the other half. Be sure to try it.

ROSE-BUD Sodas are baked exclusively by CRAIG BISCUIT CO., Fort Wayne, Indiana
And they are sold by progressive grocers throughout the middle west.

THE PERISCOPE BONNET

Beware, you flirts! The periscope bonnet'll get you if you don't watch out. Never heard of it? Well, it's very new, but has already made its appearance in New York and Chicago.

A tiny mirror is tucked at an attractive and innocent angle in the bonnet so it reflects the actions of pedestrians behind the wearer. Thus, if some male person trailing along behind the periscope begins straightening his coat and dusting off his shoes, these actions reflected in the mirror warns the pretty girl beneath that a masher is near and, thus warned, she may elude him by darting into a side street or seeking the protection of a policeman.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of zanyour Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburg Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Advertisement.

Create a $4,000 Estate With Your $65 Check

Let your Christmas Money Club check create an immediate estate for you and your loved ones. You can do this by depositing it with the Lincoln Life as the first premium on a life policy at age 25. If you are younger, you can create a larger estate; if older, a smaller estate.

MANY HAVE DONE THIS

Last year many followed this plan and opened a separate Christmas Savings Fund to pay this year's premium. It's an ideal plan, because he who would succeed must save.

"If you would succeed, save. I consider the saving habit to be almost the greatest element in making for a young man's success. It gives him determination and steady purpose and soon introduces system and foresight into his life. These together form the indispensable ground work of success."

MANY MOONSHINERS FOUND BY TOLEDOAN

Starts Out to Learn Why He Can't Collect from Kentuckians.

Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 16.—Try as he would, Charles K. Wilson, Toledo medicine manufacturer, could not make some Kentuckians pay.

Wilson went to Kentucky to see why. One result is that 50 residents of "The Dark and Bloody Ground" have been indicted by a federal grand jury for using the mails to defraud, by a scheme in which murder was hinted.

Had "Good" References. We'll hear from Mr. Wilson: "I conduct the Old Indian Medicine company at 1005 Washington street. I make a business, positively the best and—"

"Yes, yes, go on." "Well, I received an order from a man who represented that he was a salesman for a Cincinnati house. He wanted to sell my medicine as a sideline. His references looked good, so I didn't investigate. He gave a $500 bond with a state bank at Brownlow. He directed me to send the medicine to Paintsville, Ky. We're at Paintsville.

"Things ran along until he owed me $700. I went to Paintsville, which doesn't amount to much, though it's a county seat. I inquired around, but couldn't find anybody who'd ever heard of the particular state bank of Brownlow. I hired a mule and started across the mountains.

"On the way I met a man who threw his mule team and wagon across the road and stopped me.

"'Stranger,' says he, 'have a drink.' 'I don't want a drink,' says I. 'Oh, yes, yeh do,' says he. 'No, I don't,' says I.

"'You all don't look none to healthy,' says he; 'you all better git right back where you come from.' And We're Right Back.

"Back I went to Paintsville, where I hired the liveryman to go with me. We found that a deaf and dumb man, who drove a mule team, came after the goods. We learned that there was a bunch of mountaineers living in a lot of towns of one family. These had a community printing shop in which they turned out all kinds of references, bonds and the like. The scheme was for one to order enough goods for the lot and give a bogus reference. Letters would come back marked, 'No such person.'

"Carloads of beer, beef and salt had disappeared in this way. Each of the families had a postoffice.

Hint at Foul Crimes.

"The people wouldn't tell us much about their business, but they surely did describe a bunch of murders and mysterious disappearances of revenue officers and other investigators.

"I found that they'd been emptying partly some of my bottles and filling them with squirrel whisky. This was the way they covered their moonshine operations.

"How'd they get the postoffice? Each family would get the others to circulate petitions for appointments of representatives of the others. They were about as easy to find as the proverbial needle."

Go to Epstein's to buy him a traveling bag; 98c and up.

New York Central Agrees to Make Change on Harrison Street.

Officials of the New York Central line have advised the board of works that the tracks of the Lake Shore railroad at Harrison street will be raised to conform to the grade of the north approach to the new Harrison street bridge. The work will be inaugurated at an early day and the tracks raised and the crossing plank so that there will be no difficulties in the way of traffic on Harrison street by the time the new bridge is opened to public use. The raising of the grade of the tracks will eliminate a condition that otherwise would be bad.

LIVING UP TO THEIR BOULEVARD. Property Owners on South Anthony Are Making Improvements.

The property owners on Anthony boulevard, which is now being improved from Pontiac street to Rudisill boulevard, are trying to live up to the dignity and beauty of their stately drive and have got their houses moved back to the designated building line. Many of them are making notable improvements upon their premises, painting, building porches and otherwise taking pains to embellish the prospect. The Moellering Construction company is now at work with a steam shovel and making rapid progress on the work of grading Rudisill boulevard from Bowser avenue to Pontiac street and Anthony boulevard from Rudisill to Pontiac. At an early day Rudisill will be opened and passable from Broadway to Anthony, a distance of three miles.

WOULD ENLARGE McCULLOCH PARK

The board of park commissioners is again importuned by property owners in the region of McCulloch park to acquire the tract of land lying east of that park and extending to the Wabash railway tracks and add it to the park. The property is owned by the Pettit estate, and consists of twenty-three lots, on two of which stand residences. The cost of the property would be about $15,000, according to estimates by the park board. Its acquisition would provide room in the park for tennis courts, a playground and other appointments not now possible in McCulloch park, owing to the fact that it is small and heavily wooded with fine old trees. The financial aspect of the proposal presents embarrassments at this time because the park board is short of funds.

HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH IT.

After placards had made their appearance in several business houses, Thursday, bearing the legend, "Fort Wayne With Might and Main—We Use City Light," the city light and power officers were besieged with inquiries to know if the cards, distributed by the Federation of Labor, were being placed by that department. At the city light offices it was stated that that department had nothing whatever to do with the movement, had never been consulted about it and would take no steps in the matter one way or the other. It was also stated that if citizens of Fort Wayne wanted to promote the interests of the city light and power enterprise in that way it was their own affair and all business that came would be taken care of.

VALVE INDICATORS ORDERED.

The board of works has ordered two valve indicators to be attached to the valves that close the Tecumseh street and Morton street sewers in Lakeside against the waters of the Maumee river when that stream is on a rampage. Heretofore it has been difficult and sometimes impossible to determine when the valves were opened or closed.

WILL DETERMINE DATE BEFORE END OF WEEK

The date for northern Indiana's celebration of the one hundredth birthday anniversary of the state to be held in Fort Wayne will be determined before the end of the week. General Chairman Edward C. Miller is desirous for the date to be set at the earliest possible moment so that the members of the various committees which he will soon name will have something to work on and will be able to plan the celebration more intelligently. It is not at all improbable that the celebration will be held some time in May or the fore part of June.

Announcement of the members of his cabinet and fifteen or twenty other committees will be made by Chairman Miller in a few days. There will be fifty vice presidents and 250 members of an advisory committee. Citizens in every walk in life will be represented and will have a part in the centennial celebration.

Meyers-Braun.

A very pretty wedding took place Thursday evening at the home of Justice of the Peace H. J. Grabner and Mrs. Grabner on Washington boulevard east, when their daughter Ella became the bride of Mr. Joseph Meyers. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father at 7 o'clock in the presence of about sixty guests, and was immediately followed by a wedding supper. The bride was dressed in a gown of tan crepe de meteor trimmed with val lace. She carried white chrysanthemums. The house was decorated very prettily with roses and chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers received many beautiful gifts from their many friends, both being very well known in this city. The bride and groom left late the same evening for a short wedding trip. The bride wore a plain blue tailored suit, with hat, shoes and gloves to match. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers will return in a few days and go to housekeeping in their own home in Taylor street.

KICKS ON PARCEL POST.

Food Being Sent to Germany From America, Says Englishman.

London, Dec. 16.—"Considerable quantities of food are being sent to Germany by parcel post from America and we are in communication with our ambassador at Washington on the subject," Lord Robert Cecil, parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, informed the house of commons today in reply to certain questions.

The undersecretary added that other steps had been taken to deal with the matter effectively. Asked if special instructions in this connection had been given to the British navy Lord Robert Cecil said he was of the opinion that it would not be convenient to specify what instructions have been given to the navy.

REICHSTAG TO SIT LONGER.

London, Dec. 16.—There is every reason to believe that the German reichstag will have to sit much longer than was expected in order to deal with the pressing discontent among the masses, says the Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily News. "In order to appease these clamorings it will need to deal with no fewer than 130 resolutions all relating to the distribution of food, besides resolutions dealing with the social policy, which will require delicate handling, and demands of better pay for the soldiers and sailors and better provisions for the relief of war families."

SOLVING MURDER OF INDIAN HARD TASK

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 16.—"Big Mouth Charley," Pit River Indian and hated medicine man of his tribe, is dead. That much officials of Modoc county, in northern California, know. They have known it since last March.

What they still have to learn is just which particular Pit River Indian sent a bullet through "Big Mouth Charley's"

"Big Mouth Charley"

lack and ended his earthly pilgrimage. Learning this is some job—a problem worthy of the talents of Mr. Sherlock Holmes.

The officials have gleaned this much information. Charley was hated for years by his tribal brethren. His attempts at curing had failed dismally; his "big medicine" proved useless. Indians died easily in spite of his incantations and weird ceremonies. So it came about that his tribesmen sought his death. They longed for him to die, but feared to kill him. He had a reputation of bearing a charmed life. He had at one time spat out a bullet shot through his jaw by an enemy, ran the legend. A formidable man to deal with.

A council was held to decide a method of disposing of "Big Mouth Charley." In the circle around the magic fire sat 21 Indians. The younger members of the council scorned the idea that a bullet would not do Charley up nicely. But the older chiefs were doubtful. "No shoot him in head," they advised. "He spit bullet."

The parley lasted into morning hours. It was at last decided that a bullet should be sent into Charley's back.

A bag of beans—twenty red and one white—was placed by the magic fire. An old chief picked it up and started it around the circle. Each Indian drew out a bean and hastily concealed it.

One Indian at the council drew out the white bean—the symbol of death. It was his duty to do away with the hated medicine man.

He did his duty. One day last March Modoc county officials were notified that Charley's body had been found near the town of Alturas. A bullet wound showed in his back.

What the officials must learn is which Indian got the fatal bean. When they learn that, they say they'll have the murderer of Charley. And they believe, after months of investigation, that they have the man.

A "pale face" grand jury has been summoned. The Indians are silent. They did not even go to look at Charley's body.

SETTLEMENT BASIS IN SIGHT.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Basis for a settlement of the strike of the six hundred railroad employees of the Clearing switch yards of the Belt railroad, was declared to be in sight today through the efforts of G. W. W. Hanger, of the federal board of mediation and conciliation.

The men demanded that transportation to their work be furnished by the company.

REPUBLICANS DENY IT.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Republicans on the house ways and means committee, in a minority report today, deny that the emergency revenue law is necessary because of war conditions, and assert, instead, that the treasury deficit is due mainly to tariff reductions under the Underwood law.

SULLIVAN ENTERS. A PLEA OF GUILTY

Cincinnati, Dec. 16.—Gabriel Sullivan, who confessed last Saturday to having fired the shots that killed James Shail, a non-union painter, here last Thursday, pleaded guilty to second degree murder in court today and the judge announced that he would sentence Sullivan on Monday to life imprisonment. Sullivan on Monday to life imprisonment to the court that he had not been promised immunity but announced his willingness to go before the grand jury and tell all he knew about the case. The county prosecutor in a statement following Sullivan's plea, stated that he believed a number of other men would be indicted in connection with the killing. Sullivan was a union painter. Four other union painters are already under indictment charged with murder in connection with this case.

Westminster Gazette's Comment on Austrian Reply to United States.
London, Dec. 16.—The Westminster

Gazette says in regard to the Austrian reply to the American note: "Taking its cue from the German correspondence about the Lusitania, Vienna's purpose is clearly to temporize and invent the American government in a terrors exchange of documents until presently the American mind will have forgotten the incident. "The real question is whether the United States is or is not tired of this kind of thing."

AIRMEN NOW DROPPING GAS BOMBS ON CITIES

Venice, Dec. 2.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The use of asphyxiating gas in the bombs dropped on Venice has added a new terror to aerial raids. These asphyxiating bombs have been used in the trenches, but not until the air raid of Nov. 18, was the deadly gas used in bombs dropped on cities, so far as is known.

The raid occurred near the arsenal, which is the chief point of attack for these raids. None of the bombs, however, fell inside the arsenal grounds. But outside there is an extensive quarter occupied by the poorer people with narrow streets and low houses. It was in this section that the bombs fell, spreading the effect of their fumes among the population. Only one death occurred, but a great number of the poor people suffered from the paralyzing effect of the gas.

The effect of the gas is described as singularly lasting upon the organs affected and on the vitality of the people stricken. Some of the patients remain in a semi-conscious state for four and five days, the face taking on a greenish pallor. The recovery is slow after this, the gases appearing to carry a poison to their whole system.

The appearance of the gas bombs has changed the feeling here about these air raids. At first crowds gathered and watched the hostile airships. Now, however, the widespread effect of a gas bomb has terrified the poorer people and they flee to places of refuge whenever the rumor circulates that the aircraft are coming.

ADAIR TO BE GIVEN ROYAL RECEPTION

Gubernatorial Candidate to Open His Campaign in
This City, Dec. 29.

When Representative John A. M. Adair, of the Eighth district, comes to Fort Wayne, December 29, to open his campaign for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, he will be given a royal reception. Mr. Adair is well known in Fort Wayne and announcement of his candidacy was received here with much rejoicing among democrats.

Representative Adair left Washington, Wednesday, for Indianapolis to begin his campaign and will make one of his first speeches in this city. He is a good speaker, has a pleasing personality and knows how to get votes. He also understands the political game and is regarded by his friends as splendidly qualified for the position he seeks.

Every candidate for the republican gubernatorial nomination has already been here, but doubtless if a straw vote was to be taken among the republicans of the city James P. Goodrich, of Winchester, would be in the lead by a good margin. He has built up a wonderful organization here, which is leaving no stone unturned in promoting his candidacy. The other candidates, however, are not without their friends, and as the campaign progresses, may show up stronger than appears on the surface at the present time.

Randolph county will play no small part in the gubernatorial race in both the democratic and republican parties. Mrs. Adair, wife of Representative Adair, was a Randolph county girl, and Lew Ellingham, who has been slated as Adair's manager, was for years editor of a Randolph county newspaper. Mrs. Ellingham is also a Randolph county girl. James P. Goodrich, candidate for the republican gubernatorial nomination, was born and reared in Randolph county, and is still a resident of that county. In the event of Adair's and Goodrich's nomination, both candidates for governor will be from the Eighth congressional district.

SLACK IS AGREED ON TO SUCCEED DAILEY

Dailey, who announced his intention of resigning yesterday as United States district attorney. The dispatch states that Senators Kern and Shively have agreed on the appointment of Mr. Slack, but that they will not make official announcement of his selection until Mr. Dailey's resignation is received.

Mr. Slack said that he had not sought the place and he declared that "it is too early for congratulations." Mr. Dailey said he will forward his resignation whenever Senators Kern and Shively are ready to receive it.

Washington, Dec. 16.—He is not a candidate for re-election, but he will accept the nomination if it is accorded him. Vice President Marshall said yesterday. Marshall called at the White House. Asked regarding rumors that he would give up political activities at the close of his term, Marshall said: "I cannot get out of politics because I never have been in."

CONGRESSMEN NOW HEAR BOTH SIDES

Washington, Dec. 16.—Woman suffragists and anti-suffragists were heard today by congressional committee. A delegation from the congressional union for woman suffrage urged passage of the Susan B. Anthony federal suffrage amendment before the senate suffrage committee and later before the house judiciary committee as did the National Woman Suffrage Association in session here. The National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage also appeared before the house committee. Nominations of officers were the principal business on today's program of the suffrage convention. Interest centered in the selection of a successor to Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the retiring president.

SIR DOUGLAS HAIG SUCCEEDS FRENCH

London, Dec. 16.—(12:15 a. m.)—Field Marshal Sir John French, who at his own request has been relieved of the command of the British forces in France and Flanders, has been succeeded by General Sir Douglas Haig. Since the landing of the expeditionary force Sir Douglas Haig has commanded the first army and has been repeatedly mentioned in dispatches by his chief, whose place he now takes.

Sir John French becomes commander in chief of the armies in the United Kingdom and for his sixteen months' service at the front has been created viscount of the United Kingdom.

Sir Douglas Haig is nine years younger than his former chief, and like him won his spurs as a cavalry officer. His first commission was in the seventh hussars, and, as has been the case with most British officers of higher rank, he saw service in the Sudan, India, and Africa.

Indiana Lincoln League Goes There
February 12.

Indianapolis, Dec. 16.—Officers of the Indiana Lincoln league decided at a conference here to hold the next meeting of the league in Terre Haute on February 12. A delegation of Terre Haute republicans came to Indianapolis to urge that the meeting be held in their city and Terre Haute was selected by a unanimous vote. The Terre Haute committee offered to pay all expenses of the meeting and to contribute $100 to the republican state campaign fund. Committees were appointed to arrange details of the meeting.

WITNESS OF MONITOR- MERRIMAC FIGHT DIES

Theodore Geller, Ft. Wayne
at Lake Gage.

Theodore Geller, a resident of Fort Wayne for forty-nine years and an eye witness of the great Monitor-Merrimac naval battle, passed away at the home of his daughter, Miss Louise Geller, at Lake Gage, at 4:40 o'clock Thursday morning, at the age of 77 years. Mr. Geller attended the Marion G. A. R. encampment last year and since that time he had been in failing health. Death was due to dropsy.

The deceased was a civil war veteran, having served during the entire time of the strife as a member of company G, Seventh New York volunteers. This company was stationed at Fort Monroe, which was situated along the harbor, near where the great decisive naval battle of the war took place.

Born in Prussia, Germany, Nov. 16, 1838, he came to this country when yet a young man. He was a resident of New York city until the war broke out, and after peace was again restored he moved to this city with his family and had resided here until two years ago, when he moved to Lake Gage.

Mr. Geller was past commander of the Zion S. Bass post, G. A. R., and also a member of Christ's Lutheran church. He is survived by four sons and two daughters: Charles W. Geller, of Oregon; Thomas H. George J. and William F. Geller and Mrs. Minnie Tremple, all of this city, and Miss Louise Geller, of Lake Gage. Eighteen grandchildren and three great grandchildren also survive him.

The body will be shipped to this city and will arrive Thursday evening at 9 o'clock.

MANY GOWNS FROM PARIS.

Importations for December Heaviest in History of Customs Records.

New York, Dec. 16.—Importation of Paris gowns to this country during December has exceeded that for any other corresponding period within the memory of customs officials here. Imports for the trade have increased but most of the gowns have been for private individuals. One of the reasons given is that thousands of Americans in previous years went to Paris and brought over dresses as personal baggage are now buying them on orders with the result that the imports appear in the customs records.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 69 B. Marcellus avenue, Manhattan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Advertisement.

AUSTRIAN REPLY TO U. S. NOTE DOES NOT SATISFY

into the dispute, which has promise of carrying some weight. That point, however, seems to have been disregarded in Austria's answer, so far as officials can judge from the unofficial text received here.

The American Belief.

American officials believed that taking as a basis the official admission of the Austrian admiralty that the Ancona was shelled, torpedoed and sunk while passengers still were aboard, there would be little room for discussion of Secretary Lansing's contention that the commander violated the principles of international law and humanity and that it was "wanton slaughter" of defenseless non-combatants.

Officials pointed out today that a thoroughly unsatisfactory and unresponsive reply from Austria would bring diplomatic relations between the two countries to a crisis because of the closing words of Secretary Lansing's note which declared that "good relations between the two countries rest upon a common regard for law and humanity" and that Austria, appreciating the gravity of the case, "will accede to its (the United States) demands promptly."

Note Was Emphatic.

Specifically the note denounced the sinking of the Ancona as an "illegal and indefensible act," demanding the punishment of the commander, who "perpetrated the deed" and the payment of an indemnity to those Americans who suffered. The note stands as the most vigorous of all the American correspondence of the war and was not equalled even by the note at the close of the submarine controversy with Germany.

Austria's diplomatic relations with the United States since the recall of Ambassador Dumba for his connection with plots to cripple American munitions plants have been maintained by the embassy here with Baron Zweidnek as charge d'affaires.

One official of the state department who spoke with full knowledge of its policy declared positively that the United States would not enter into any exchange of opinion as Austria's reply suggests, and would absolutely refuse to enter into any discussion of the facts.

President Wilson read the outline of the reply as contained in the London dispatches as soon as he reached the executive office but there was no indication of how he regarded it. It was known, however, that both the president and Secretary Lansing regarded the cabled extracts while they might be indicative of the whole tone of the reply, as too fragmentary to warrant comment.

In official circles the general impression prevailed that the tenor of the cabled extract did not seem to forecast a favorable reply, still in the absence of the official text final opinion was reserved. Until the full text is received and laid before the president the situation may be described as still in suspense. Those officials closest to the president still are of the opinion that a thoroughly unsatisfactory reply from Austria will endanger the continuance of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

WANTS TO DISCUSS IT.

Forecast of Vienna Reply Indicates Its Rejection.

London, Dec. 16.—(8:22 a. m.)—The reply of the Austro-Hungarian government to the note from the United States relative to the sinking of the steamer Ancona by an Austrian submarine was handed to Frederick C. Penfield, United States ambassador at Vienna, on Tuesday, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam to Reuters Telegram company. The correspondent quotes from the reply as follows:

From the sharpness with which the government of the United States believed it ought to ensure the commander of the submarine and from the firmness with which the demands addressed to the Austro-Hungarian government appear to have been brought forward, it could be expected that the American government would clearly give the actual circumstances upon which it relies.

Reasons Not Sufficient.

As can be easily recognized the representation of the circumstances contained in the note allows numerous doubts and gives not at all sufficient reasons for blaming the commander of the submarine and the Austro-Hungarian government even if the representation proves correct in all points and judgment in the case is based on the most rigorous legal interpretation.

The American government also omitted to indicate the persons to whose statements it refers and to whom it apparently believes it must attribute a higher degree of trustworthiness than to a commander of the imperial navy.

Wants "Exchange of Opinion."

As to the number, names and the details concerning the fate of the Americans citizens who in the critical moment were aboard the above mentioned steamer, the note does not give any explanation. But in view of the fact that the Washington cabinet now has given a positive declaration that at the above mentioned incident subjects of the United States came to grief, the Austro-Hungarian government in principle is prepared to enter into an exchange of opinion with the American government. But in the first instance it must raise the question of why this government refrained from judicially motivating the demands stated in the note with regard to the special circumstances of the incriminating incident, which are especially pointed out by the American government, and in the place of such motivation mentioned an exchange of correspondence which it had with another government about another affair.

Asks for More Details.

The Austro-Hungarian government is the less able to follow the Washington cabinet in this unusual attitude as it in no way possesses a knowledge of all the correspondence having reference to it. The Austro-Hungarian government also is not of the opinion that this knowledge could be sufficient for the present case which, according to its own information, is materially different from the case or cases to which the American government apparently is referring. Therefore the Austro-Hungarian government must leave it to the Washington cabinet to draw up the individual legal maxims which the commander of the submarine is alleged to have violated when sinking the Ancona.

The American government also thought it advisable to point out the attitude which the Berlin cabinet in the beforementioned exchange of correspondence had taken. In the highly esteemed note the Austro-Hungarian government finds no support for this course. If the American government should have intended thereby to express an opinion as if a precedent exists for the present case, the Austro-Hungarian government, in order to prevent misunderstandings, must declare that it, of course, must preserve full liberty to urge its own legal interpretations during the discussion of the Ancona case.

The government expresses to Ambassador Penfield full sympathy for the victims of the Ancona sinking, says the correspondent.

ADMIRALTY UPHOLDS CAPTAIN.

Approves Act of Submarine in Sinking Steamer Ancona.

Vienna, Dec. 15.—(Via London).—The Austro-Hungarian admiralty is entirely opposed to any disavowal of the course of the submarine commander who was responsible for the sinking of the Italian steamer Ancona. On the contrary, it approves his conduct fully, and declared that he would have been considered as having failed to perform his duty if he had allowed the Ancona to escape.

The admiralty has stated its case and the attitude of the naval authorities as follows:
"It is a submarine commander's duty to make a report to a designated base as soon as possible and the commander who sank the Ancona did this as soon as he was within wireless distance of land. He made a supplementary report at Pola and accompanied it with his log. No examination of the crew was held because the commander's report was considered complete and there was no reason to suppose that the crew could add anything thereto."
"So far as the commander is concerned his course is clear. The admiralty has received his report and sees no reason to find any fault with his course of action."
"If any such reason existed, that is, if the admiralty had found that the commander had done anything contrary to his instructions it would spontaneously institute an investigation against him without waiting for any demand to come from some foreign government. It can happen that a commander in the heat of battle does contrary to instructions but nothing of the kind has occurred in this case.

"It appears clearly from his report that his ship was in danger, indeed in double danger, first, from the fact that an enemy boat was approaching on a line that threatened to cut off his retreat and the enemy ship and the Ancona could have established his radius of action and could have set a torpedo boat flotilla on him, and second, there was danger of the Ancona escaping, which, according to his instructions, was to be prevented in all circumstances. Hence, the conduct of the commander, much as the loss of innocent lives must be regretted and deplored, cannot be disapproved."
"On the contrary, if he had departed without destroying the Ancona it would have been failure to do his duty, since the Ancona could have notified other ships of his whereabouts. The loss of American lives is regrettable, as well as that Americans used a vessel belonging to a nation at war with Austria-Hungary."

ly as does each party in case of an election, which puts the nomination out of the reach of a man of ordinary means regardless of his capacity and fitness for the place. To pursue my candidacy further with the hope of success would require a larger expenditure of money than I can afford and the abandoning of my business, which I am not willing to do. While I would appreciate the nomination and election as United States senator, I am interested in the success of the republican party more than in my own aspirations and I feel that the republicans of the state ought to get behind and nominate a man who can be elected. Having this in view, I wish to say that I have known Captain Harry S. New from his boyhood, when he first became a reporter on the Indianapolis Journal. I served on the republican state central committee when his father, Colonel John C. New, was chairman. He belongs to one of those clean, high-minded, representative families, absolutely reliable in every respect. He has always been an indefatigable worker in anything he undertook, as reporter, as manager of the Indianapolis Journal, and as a business man. He was one of the first to enlist in the Spanish war and became captain and occupied a position that required and to which he gave as earnest labor as he does to his own business. He is a man of exceptional ability and in every way trustworthy and would make a most excellent senator if nominated and elected. Realizing the conditions, the public importance of party success and the fitness of Mr. New, I withdraw as a candidate for the republican nomination as United States senator and am going to support Captain Harry S. New. I believe it is to the interest of the republican party that we all get behind him and nominate and elect him. I thank my friends for the earnest and cordial support they have given me and the newspapers that have endorsed my candidacy."

COLONEL NEW COMING.

Scheduled to Reach Fort Wayne Thursday Evening.

Col. Harry S. New, republican aspirant for the republican nomination for United States senator, is expected to arrive in Fort Wayne at 8 o'clock this evening. Mr. New will meet a large number of local republicans.

CALL IT CHRISTMAS GIFT.

New Supporters Rejoicing Over Action of Judge Olds.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 16.—Judge Walter Olds, of Fort Wayne, withdrew today from the race for the republican nomination for United States senator. In a statement, which he issued, Judge Olds gave as his main reason for withdrawing the fact that he believed in Harry S. New, who announced himself as a candidate for the nomination after Hugh T. Miller was forced to withdraw because of ill health and wished to support New for the nomination. He also stated that he did not have the money or time to devote to the pre-nomination race. Captain New's supporters are treating the Olds announcement as a Christmas gift as it came on the day on which Captain New's campaign for the nomination was officially launched, the New supporters having arranged a mass meeting to be held here tonight.

TIDE OF EMIGRATION LOWEST IN 20 YEARS

Interesting Figures in Report of Department of Labor.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The tide of emigration to the United States ebbed to its lowest point in more than twenty years during the past fiscal year, according to figures made public today in the annual report of Secretary Wilson, of the department of labor.
The total number of immigrant aliens, the report shows, fell from 1,218,490 in the previous year to 326,700 in the period ending June 30 last. All admitted arrivals of aliens, immigrant and non-immigrant, were only 434,244, as compared with 1,403,801 the year before.
Departure of aliens, emigrant and non-emigrant likewise shows a notable decrease. For the fiscal year of 1914, departures were 633,895; for 1915, 384,174. The fiscal year of 1915 covers the period of sailing home of reservists from the beginning of the European war till June 30, last. During that time the emigrant aliens, presumably including the number sailing to join the colors in Europe, were 294,074, compared with 303,388 the previous twelve months. The non-emigrant aliens, departing totaled 130,100 for 1915, compared with 130,726 for 1914. These over fourteen who could neither read nor write numbered 35,057, those able to read but not write were 392,180,100 for 1915 and 330,467 for 1914, showing a net decrease for all alien departures of 349,631.
Excess of arrivals over departures alone being considered, was only 30,670 in 1915. In 1914, the excess was 789,276.
Of the 326,700 immigrant aliens admitted to the United States in the 1915 fiscal year, 52,982 were under fourteen years of age; 244,712 were from 14 to 44 years old, and 29,246 were 45 or over, making the total number of illiterates over fourteen, 35,449, or thirteen per cent.
Deported aliens numbered 26,675. This included 24,111 excluded at ports and sent back to their country of origin and 2,564 arrested and expelled from the country. Of those excluded, 2,722 were denied admission because they were contract laborers.
Immigrants admitted to the country showed to customs officials money in their possession aggregating $19,568,000, an average of $60 each. Each of 25,711 immigrants had more than $50; while 123,744 had less than $50 each. One hundred and ninety thousand claimed to have paid their own passage across the Atlantic; 128,146 said their passage had been paid by relatives, and 7,697 that it had been paid by persons other than relatives. With reference to exclusions, the report asserts:
"Conditions during the past year were so abnormal that accurate comparisons with previous years are difficult. Exclusions in 1915 amounted to 1.38 per cent. of the number applying; in 1914 this was increased to 2.3 per cent., and in the past year the increase has been so great as to reach 5.3 per cent."

ROUGH TACTICS PUT NATIONAL BEHIND THE AMERICAN LEAGUE

Baseball Expert Shows Why the Parent Body Made An Inferior Showing In the Season and World's Series Just Past—"It's Because We Have Been Playing An Old Lady's Brand of Ball," Says John McGraw—It Takes the Bumps of Fortune and Misfortune to Make a Tiptop Baseball Circuit

The sorry showing of the National league in the post-season series this fall has opened a broad avenue of discussion of the actual comparative strengths of the two organizations.

Prior to this year it has usually been the opinion that the leagues were evenly balanced, yet this season's post-season series record of 12 games won and one tied out of 15 played for the American league, would seem to indicate that the junior organization is playing a superior kind of baseball.

Most National league men will laugh off this defeat and attribute it to the luck and "breaks" of a short series. That the Red Sox beat the Phils, the White Sox the Cubs and the Browns the Cards does not necessarily mean, these will say, that the American league is superior to the National. A well-known authority admits that he believes such is the case and he specifies reasons why he so thinks.

This authority, whose name is withheld for diplomatic reasons, spoke substantially as follows at the conclusion of the Red Sox victory over the Philadelphia Nationals.

OPINION OF AN EXPERT.

"It comes very near vindicating J. McGraw's statement made early in the season that the National league was playing an old lady's brand of baseball.

"Broadly speaking there is too much attention given to the art of barbed repartee and umpire baiting and too little given to hit-and-run play, sacrificing and team play in the National league.

"To the eye accustomed to distinguishing class in baseball this difference may not have been noticed but it was there. Even in the case of tail-enders, or near tail-enders like the St. Louis Browns, it was to be noted. In their organization the Browns, who never were considered as a championship contender, played a standard of baseball, which from a scientific angle, was superior to that played by the St. Louis Cardinals, yet at one time the Cards were combating with Brooklyn and Philadelphia for the National league gontaloniere.

"National league teams generally were so much concerned with getting this and that pitcher's goat, playing verbally to the known weaknesses of certain players and persecuting the umpires that they never had time for anything other than the 'old army game.' In baseball the 'old army game' signifies baseball of the most elemental kind in which each man takes care of himself. It is, in a phrase, baseball with team play eliminated.

CREW OF PIRATES.

"The cause of this deleterious effect may be traced straight to the door of the Boston Braves. They won a National league pennant and a world's championship on a collective vocabulary that would have done credit to a crew of pirates.

"They also had three pitchers and a shortstop and a second baseman.

"Perceiving the success of the Braves' style of play other National league clubs attempted to emulate them in 1915 until the league was one roaring hot-house of language which supplanted the science and team work of other years.

"Veterans like Fred Clarke and Miller Huggins admitted that in more than a decade of major league experience the National league never had been so rough as it was in 1915.

"The few teams that did try to play baseball in the National league cordially hated the Braves for the whirlwind they had set in motion. It was no secret among National leaguers that because the Philadelphia Nationals individually were a decent set of chaps that they were favored by their own league to win the pennant. There wasn't a team in the National league that didn't play its head off to defeat the Braves. They also tried to beat the Phils. It was square enough. But back of the Braves' game was the memory on the part of most of the players of the arrogance of Stallings and Evers in 1914 and the insults that had been heaped upon the players of other teams. "Meantime the American league without the rancorous team and player feuds that existed in the National league, concentrated upon advanced baseball and from a purely class standpoint the play in the American league was thrice as well done as in the Nationals.

"Probably the American league played the hit-and-run play five times to the National league's once on the season recently concluded. The batter and the runner worked together instead of separately and, in the post-season series this seems to have had the effect that might have been expected.

MORE SCIENTIFIC PLAYS.

"The American league, considered again from a class standpoint, which means advanced baseball, played rings around the National league. The Philadelphia Nationals even with the superb pitching of Grover Cleveland Alexander would have had a difficult time finishing in the first division in the American league. One would hesitate before picking the Phils to beat out the Detroit Tigers, Chicago White Sox or Washington Senators. The Red Sox already have conclusively showed their superiority over the National leaguers.

"On the other hand a team with the ebullient attack of the New York Yankees probably would have been a sure one-two-three shot in the National league. There was greater speed afoot on the New York Yankees than was there on the Philadelphia Nationals though the latter club won a pennant while the Yanks finished fifth in their own organization.

"The concentrated attack of even such a lowly team as the Yanks would have been a novelty in the National league, with its wild harangues and umpire baiting. That it would have been attended by a meed of success is reasonable to suppose, judging from the results in this season's post-schedule series.

REACTION EXPECTED.

"Next season will see a reaction in the National league. The better type of players are sickened of the kind of baseball that is ushered in with the Zimmermans, Evers, et al. Their unwarranted umpire baiting has sickened the better type of players in their league. These want to play baseball and they are not interested in the forensic attack of a Herzog.

"These players are in the majority. They realize that their grand old league has suffered from too much rough stuff. From now on the National league will play more and talk less. It is now realized that the 1914-15 example of the Boston Braves has been a particularly bad one to follow."

It is a baseball paradox, however, that the league which indubitably displayed the most class drew less at the "gate" than the National league. The reason is found in the closeness of the race in the National league. At least seven clubs had a chance at the pennant until the final few weeks of the season. Then the race lay among three clubs."

The rooster did not hear the line of invective hurled from one team to another. What he saw in the National league were teams that apparently were fighting every inch of the way—which they were—and he liked it. Could the average spectator be a direct auditor to some of the diamond diatribes of some few of the players his ardor might have been cooled. This rough-neckism fortunately is in its declining days.

A MATTER OF METHOD.

There is no particular reason why the American or National league ever should have the bulge one upon the other in class. Each of the leagues recruit their clubs from colleges and minor leagues and each has an equal opportunity to get raw material and develop it.

It is evident if the American league is superior in class to the National, this superiority is predicated upon development after the player has reached the majors.

In other words, the American league managers seem to be better teachers than the National league pilots. If not, 1915 would tend to prove that the American managers gave more time to teaching than the National leaguers.

For one thing, the American league managers have made speed more of a cult than their rivals and have been successful with it.

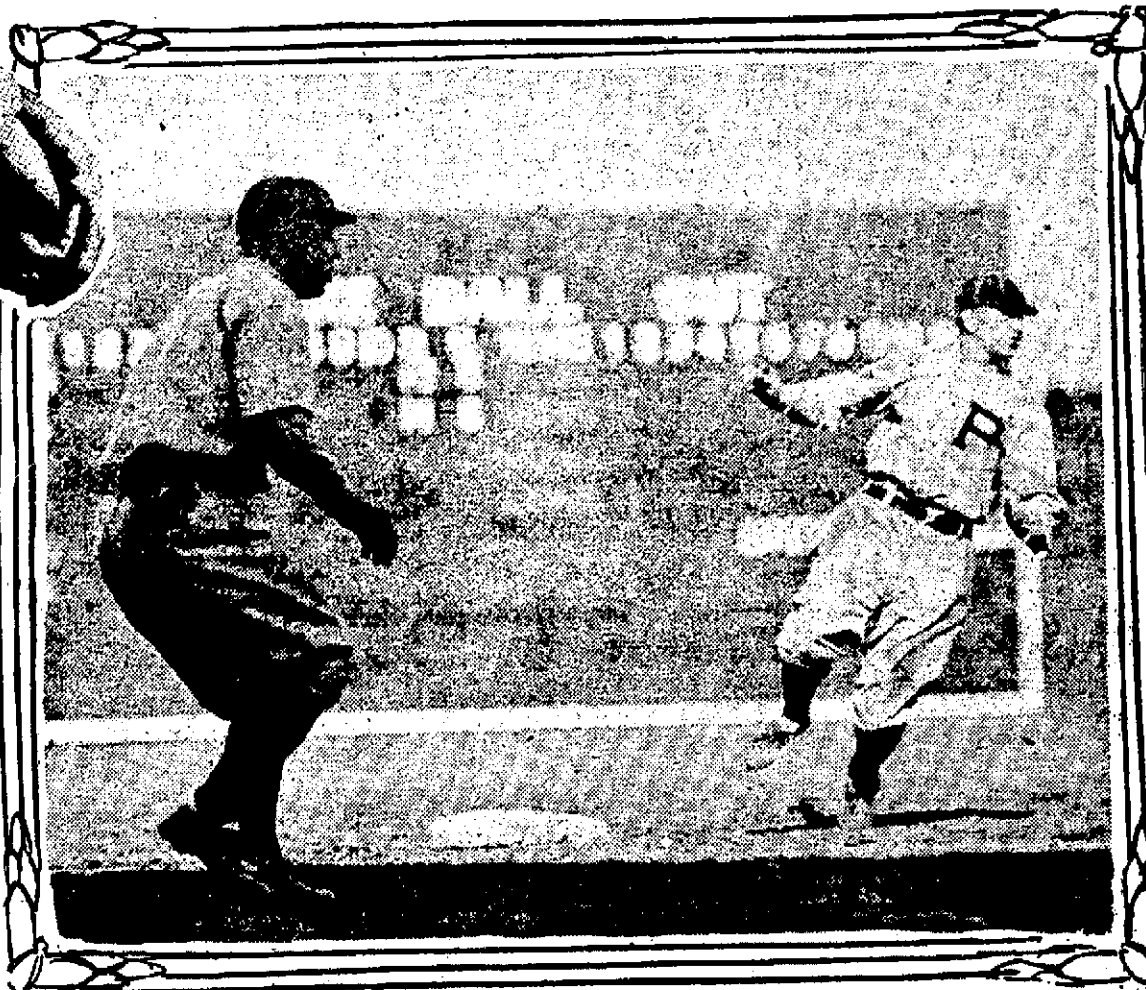

Eliminating the rough stuff and getting back to baseball upon an advanced scale, it will take the National league not more than a season to re-establish itself as a class rival of the American. But this last season's post-schedule games proved that the American league at present maintains an advantage.

IN THE CHURCHES

COMES TO IMMANUEL BAPTIST JANUARY 1

Rev. J. B. Bair, of South Whitley Takes Charge

First of Year.

Rev. J. B. Bair, pastor of the Baptist church at South Whitley has accepted the call extended to him by the members of the congregation of Immanuel Baptist church, of this city. He will assume charge of his new duties the first of the new year, or as soon thereafter as is possible.

The new pastor has been a minister of the gospel in the Baptist church for thirty-five years and during that time has held charges in various parts of Indiana. He has been at South Whitley for three years, where through his efforts, the church of that place prospered greatly. Previous to that he was in charge of churches at Poneto, Montpelier and cities in the southern part of the state. He has been a member of the Logansport Baptist association nearly all the time during his ministry.

Rev. Bair was born in Virginia but early in life moved to Indiana. His family settled in Miami county, seven miles from Peru. He received his early education at this place and when yet a young man entered the ministry.

The Immanuel Baptist church is located on Oliver street, south of Pontiac, and was formerly the Oliver street mission. Under the leadership of Rev. John Walton the congregation grew to such an extent that it was self-supporting. The name was then changed shortly after the Lyon evangelistic meetings last spring. A month ago Rev. Walton resigned his position as pastor of the congregation to enter the evangelistic field and since that time the church has been without a pastor.

JUDGMENT FOR MRS. DREXEL.

British Court Rules in Favor of American Woman.

London, Dec. 16.—A judgment in favor of Margarita Armstrong Drexel, wife of the American banker, Anthony J. Drexel, was rendered today in her suit to recover money under a separation deed. The point involved was Mr. Drexel's motion to set aside the service of a notice of a writ by the wife to recover money due under the deed on the ground that his domicile was France and that therefore he was outside the jurisdiction of the English courts.
